EBEN TAYLOR ALBERT

Passes Away Saturday Morning, May 27—Sketch of His Life.

Saturday morning, May 27, at 1:30 o'clock, "Grandpa" Albert passed away at the family home, corner of Mill and Winter streets.
The cause of death was paralysis, from which he had been suffering since last December, when he had a slight stroke, growing steadily worse ever since. For a couple of weeks past it had been seen that the end was not far off.
Eben Taylor Albert, Sr., was born at Winchester, Va., September 15, 1816, and was aged 82 years, 8 months and 12 days. He was the youngest son of George Albert, a native of Pennsylvania, descended from a German immigrant from near Nuremberg. While still a young man he went West, and visited different sections, settling at Wheeling.

Here he found the bride of his heart, Jane Gilchrist, daughter of a pioneer Virginian, John Gilchrist, with whom he has made the journey of life, and who survives him. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Weed on Nov. 28, 1837. In 1850 the family moved to Wellsville, Ohio, and in 1855, Mr. Albert accompanied by two sons, still further explored the great West, locating at Lansing Iowa. Here the family resided for 21 years, and spent six years at Keokuk. In 1881 they came to Salem, where they have resided ever since.
Mr. Albert was an active business man throughout his long life until about 18 years ago, and successfully conducted operations in widely varying lines. He was also an earnest Christian worker, and was, for 52 years an elder in the Presbyterian church, with which denomination he united at an early age, being ordained an elder at Wellsville, O., in 1847. In 1884 he represented the Willamette Presbytery at the general assembly, Saratoga, New York, and at the time of his death he was senior elder of the First Presbyterian church, of Salem.

Mr. Albert never aspired to any political office, though he had a number of local honors thrust upon him in the east. Priding himself on being a bed-rock Jeffersonian Democrat of the old school, he held aloof from the excitements of modern politics.
While Mr. Albert never accumulated much pecuniary wealth, he always enjoyed the highest respect and esteem of all who knew him. His cheerful disposition and kindly greetings will long be remembered by all who came in contact with him.
For many years past, some one of the daughters has made her home with the aged couple, Mrs. Holton having lived with them for several years past.
"Grandpa" Albert has been in very poor health for about a year, but has been improving of late.
Of the ten children, the eight who survive, six of whom reside in Salem are: John H. Albert, Salem; George W. Albert, Lansing, Iowa; Eben T. Albert, Jr., Columbus, Ohio; Thomas G. Albert, Salem; Mrs. Elizabeth Holton, Mrs. Sarah Robinson, Mrs. Emma Cookwell, and Mrs. Anna Parly, all of Salem.

Funeral services will be conducted at the late home at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, by Rev. H. A. Ketchum, of the First Presbyterian church. The remains will be given burial in the family lot in Rural cemetery.
A Scaled Man.
A Salem hotelkeeper this morning missed his purse containing about $100 from where he got it generally put it at night and for a time he was an excited man. On the point of sending for an officer and getting out a search warrant of his own premises, he found it slipped in a crack and the scaled man was a very happy man in a very short time.

$1000 CELEBRATION.

The Fourth of July at the Capital City.
To Be Observed in Grand Style by Our People.

The Fourth of July committee composed of F. A. Wiggins, H. G. Meyer, Isadore Greenbaum, E. A. Pierce, G. H. Lane, Geo. F. Rodgers and F. S. Dearborn met last evening with Chairman Meyer, and made good progress in the matter of having a grand celebration in Salem on that occasion.
The plan outlined is to raise about $1000 for sports, procession, music and a grand good time. The matter will be laid before a citizens meeting at the city hall next Monday night, when the plans outlined will no doubt be adopted and the business pushed right through as it should be.

It is expected to have several outside towns join in with Salem, and brass bands will be engaged from different points for the occasion. One of the features of the day will be a parade such as never before seen here, with from 500 to 1000 bicycle, and liberal prizes will be offered for the best decorated wheels. There will also be bicycle races, foot races, and all manner of amusements on the streets and Wilson avenue. A first-class speaker will be had and the finest display of fireworks ever fired off in Oregon.
The committee for the details of the enterprise will no doubt be completed Monday evening, after which there will be one grand pull for the greatest event of the year.

FIELD DAY FEATURES.

And Events of Interest at the Intercollegiate Meet at Salem June Third.
Manager Frank Willman announces following features of interest for the great amateur sporting event in this city:
Special train will be run from Eugene to Salem to accommodate all wishing to attend the field day sports to take place in Salem on June third.
A special car will be attached at Corvallis for the accommodation of all who wish to attend the field day sports and reduced rates will be had on all steamboats now running. Steamer Eugene may possibly carry a large excursion from that point.
The 100 and 220 yard races will be closely contested and numerous entries are promised which will make this race a very interesting one.
Willamette University is building great hopes to capture the one mile run and her contestants are now in the best of training.
New hurdles and regulation dimensions are being built and there can be no things which will be left undone to make all the feats come off in first class shape.
The track is being put in the finest possible condition and there will be nothing to prevent all the events being up to the highest standard possible for the participants.

The Excursion of the Season.
Pomona will leave for Albany in the morning at 7 o'clock. Round trip 75 cents.
Steamboat or Railroad.
If you wish to fully enjoy the excursion don't neglect to lay in a good stock of LaCoronas to smoke.
No Press Club.
The call on the newspaper men of the city issued by Secretary Thielson of the Chamber of Commerce met with a favorable response from some of the newspaper men of the city, but was ignored and opposed by only one exigency in the name of local journalism. This spirit is a curse to the state of Oregon. The independent press of the city show a proper spirit in the matter and will work harmoniously for the city and the state. Ignorance and conservatism is not its principal stock doing business.

DIED.
HURST.—Friday evening at 5 o'clock, of heart trouble, J. D. Hurst, aged 63 years.

Deceased apparently enjoyed good health and was in the best of spirits all day. He was discovered on the floor of the mill office. Deceased was a resident of Oregon for 37 years and an influential and successful business man and miller. Mr. Hurst had gained a state reputation, having operated mills at Corvallis, Aurora, and Champoug. He served as government miller at the Warm Springs Indian reservation. He was married in 1862 at The Dalles. He leaves a wife and four sons.

The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock tomorrow under auspices of A. O. U. W.

Funeral at 10 o'clock a. m. today. Burial in Catholic cemetery.

Too Much Ado

About Nothing!

Too many people want to make money on their wits. A great many people don't know a good thing when they have it. Many of them find out when it is too late, but too much of any thing is no good, too many strikes now-a-days, too many accidents, too many cyclones, too much cold weather, too much rain, too much capital driven out by the foolish strikers, too much liberty allowed to the agitator by the organized labor, there could be nothing better for the country at large than organized labor, the federation of labor, if managed by level-headed men, would be honest and upright before the laws of their country and their fellow men. They could control as much if not more than capital, for they would get the sympathy of every honest, thinking man, and when every capital would be in the wrong the labor would be sure to win, but if the sympathy and assistance is extended in the wrong direction, the federations of labor receive a death blow. When ever any person or persons or organization attempt to use force to deprive a man or labor in order to support themselves and their families, they put themselves in the wrong.

But were those men who labor, that belong to the federal union, to quietly withdraw from their places and not interfere with the owners of the property or the new laborers who take their places, they would gain a greater victory than they do by destroying the mills, stopping the traffic, interfering with the business of innocent people. Why would they gain the victory?
Why that's a easy enough. The hotel keeper who lost a good cook and took a new one in his place, would soon find out that many of his best patrons were leaving him. He would ascertain that the new cook does not make as good pudding as the old one used to, and he burns the soup, his pie is not flavored to suit them, his meat is scorchered and his fish is too raw. What would be the result? The landlord would also be compelled to make up with his former cook, by paying him better wages, than that many of his best patrons were leaving him. He would ascertain that the new cook does not make as good pudding as the old one used to, and he burns the soup, his pie is not flavored to suit them, his meat is scorchered and his fish is too raw. What would be the result? The landlord would also be compelled to make up with his former cook, by paying him better wages, than that many of his best patrons were leaving him.

There are justifiable strikes. For instance, in the spring of 1895, a steamer boat company running between Portland and Astoria during the dull months of they reduced the wages of the deck hands and firemen $5 per month and they agreed to restore the first of April to the old rates, but the owners were too greedy and refused to pay the men the rates agreed upon when the traffic was good, their boats were loaded down with passengers and freight.

The boat ran down to Astoria and returned making the round trip in twenty-four hours. There's where the hands were in constant drudgery with scarcely any rest.
The men struck for the old wages of $30 per month. If ever a man earned his dollar a day, it was on those trips and yet the company refused to grant the men the pittance. It is too bad their boats wasn't where the Sullivan and Bunker Hill mills stood, without the passengers, that is the first trip S. Friedman took to Astoria, and being an eye witness will give a description how a boat can run with new hands. The whole amount that the experienced laborers demanded more per month, the boat could have made in one day. We were delayed over two hours in Portland before starting, but rather than to tax the dock hands and firemen the amount previously agreed to, they picked up a crew of new recruits, thereby endangering the safety of the passengers, the freight and their boat, and it put the whole work on the mate, for none of the new recruits could make a landing. They didn't know how to put off a gang plank nor how to tie a line, and it took double the amount of men to load and unload the hand trucks, and many a narrow escape the merchandise had from being thrown overboard, both in taking ashore and putting on it if it had not been for the pilot and mate treading their work.
They were lucky in having the old mate and pilots and each of them trebled up in their labors and after a fashion they arrived in Astoria several hours late while they had the swiftest boats, and on account of it lots of their traffic went to the O. R. & N.
About twelve years ago Friedman was again an eye witness to a street car strike, on Broadway, New York. The strikers were all gentlemen and they won. It was rather amusing how they did. I got on at Broadway and Spring with a lady and there wasn't a vacant seat. The conductors and motormen filled all the seats and they paid full fare, so no passenger could be seated. At first I didn't notice what was up, but the lady remarked that the men in New York are not as gentlemanly as they are in Salem to give a lady a seat. That caused me to look around and I saw the men and their hats drawn over their foreheads. I told the lady they were all gentlemen, although they were trying to disguise themselves as best they could. It is not hard. They were getting good front and two or three in the rear of the car, and one or two expressmen on the track ahead of us driving zigzag fashion trying to impede our travel, but the policemen kept us a sharp clatter at the men to give the road but the expressmen had lots of excuses and kept their slow gait so we made little progress. We finally got off and walked to our destination.

The car lines made up with the moon and the next morning they ran all right again, but it is different in Wardner. Friedman is well acquainted with a good many of the miners. Their work is not hard. They were getting good pay, and it is a pity that they made themselves amenable to the laws of the country, and I hope that the good counsel of the Federation of Labor will intervene that an arrangement will be made between the men and their employers for Sullivan of the Sullivan and Bunker Hill mine was always a friend to laborers and so is Chas. Spreen of the Emma and Last Chance mine.

Just think of men getting a job where they were getting $3.50 a day, and only half pay, look what Friedman has to do at the New Racket, and glad to hold his job, from early morning until late at night, sell overalls for 45c a pair that cost $5 a doz., sell soap cotton for 2c a piece that cost 23c a doz., sell pins for 2c where the profit is less than 1/2c a paper, sell towels for 5c when they cost 4 1/2, sell a hat for a dollar that we pay $1.5 a doz, sell a suit of clothes for $4 that cost $3.75 and lots of other goods in proportion. But the only show for profit at Friedman's New Racket is that we buy on credit and buy for cash.

I got on at Broadway and Spring
