LIVES Destroyed By a Cyclone. Hundreds of the People Were Killed and Wounded.

New Richmond and Boardman the Ill-Fated Places.

New Richmond, June 13.—One hundred seventy-five killed and four hundred wounded is the estimate of the casualties due to last night's storm. This is based on information received by General Manager Scott, of the Omaha Railroad.

A relief train from St. Paul reached New Richmond early today. Besides supplies of every kind the train brought 20 nurses and 12 doctors. The storm struck the Omaha road at Boardman, and followed its track to New Richmond. It passed through New Richmond from south to north and leveled the center of the city and people were pinned in and scores burned alive.

The central part of the street from the depot, starting with Henry Beal & Co's store through to the Hotel Collier, every building was destroyed. Only incomplete information as to the killed and wounded is yet obtainable.

The rain of the night, however, was wrecked. Fire engines had arrived from a neighboring town and were doing their best to check the flames. There was no medical assistance at that time. One of the local doctors was killed and the other had both legs broken.

The roads had brought in large numbers of visitors for the circus and Gavin says that there must have been from 2,500 to 3,000 people in town. He brought an order for three hundred coffins but this was simply an estimate of possible deaths, by the local relief committee.

At 8 o'clock a train left Minneapolis for New Richmond bearing telegraph operators, linemen, physicians, nurses and correspondents.

relief, and the train, with doctors, will leave here at 12:15 a. m. Mr. Carroll further says that five followed the cyclone, and what was left is being consumed by fire. Many people are doubtless killed, and the damage will run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

A special to the Tribune from Burkhart, Wis., says: A messenger has reached here from New Richmond and has telegraphed for doctors and help, saying that the storm struck that town, and large numbers were killed and wounded. The railroad officials have endeavored to get out a special train, but on account of the several washouts are unable to do so, and the doctors and many others are now driving across the country as fast as horses can safely carry them.

A special from North Wisconsin Junction, Wis., says: A courier from Boardman, just in, reports that the whole town has been wiped off the face of the earth, and while no definite news can be obtained at this time of the casualties, it is presumed that many were injured, and possibly some killed. It is known that Dave Hefferon is severely injured and his wife killed.

A courier just in says that New Richmond has also been wiped off the map, and that about 200 or 300 people are injured.

One of the most terrific cyclones ever witnessed by the citizens of Hudson, passed through the country about 5:30 p. m. It formed in waterspout four miles south of Hudson on Lake St. Croix. It was witnessed by hundreds of people, and seemed to follow the lake, and to be making directly for the city; but about two miles south it veered to the east and left the lake, and crossed the country. It was about 20 rods wide and destroyed everything in its track.

The first building struck was over on the farm of F. C. Mattison. One end of the storm struck his buildings, twisting his windmill some rods. The family, seeing it coming fled for a large stone quarry, about 20 rods from the house, where they remained safely until it passed. The house is a small brick one and held to the foundation, but the shingles were torn from the roof. The cyclone veered to the north, leaving the buildings unharmed but tearing large oak trees, three feet diameter, out by the roots and twisting them into very conceivable shapes.

About one-half mile northeast from there it struck the buildings of H. I. Mattison. Just before the storm reached the place the family and hands fled to the cellar. The cellar door had just closed when the crash came. This place was directly in the line of the storm and not a building, tree, wagon or piece of machinery is left whole. The house was completely swept from its foundation, and nothing remained but the floor, which covered the people in the cellar. Not one of them was harmed. Every piece of furniture was carried for rods and literally torn into shreds. Outside the house there were two large barns, machine sheds and out-buildings, and all were destroyed. Forty cattle and 100 sheep cannot be found at this hour.

W. J. Gilpin, who was passing at the time, drove in there for shelter, but was unable to reach the cellar. He says that it was not over two seconds after the cyclone struck him before it was all over, and he found himself under a part of a lumber wagon, with timbers, horses and machinery everywhere about him. He was unhurt, but badly shaken up. The storm passed on to the Northeast, destroying everything in its wake, and was followed by rain in torrents and terrible lightning. Telegraph and telephone wires are all blown down, and adjoining towns cannot be heard from.

BIG BATTLE

Thirty Americans are Killed. Insurgents Making a Desperate Resistance.

And Are Driven Back But 500 Feet in a Days Fight.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The following was received from Gen. Otis today: "Manila—Lawton's troops had a severe engagement today with the enemy in a strong entrenchment at the crossing on the Seaport river, near Bacor, Cavite province. He has driven the enemy with heavy loss. Our casualties were thirty.

The insurgents in this southern section had not been molested until they threatened an attack in a strong force on Manila and are now scattered in retreat. It is doubtful if they will make a further stand.

MANILA, June 13.—Fighting at Los Pina continued hotly all day and Gen. Lawton called out the whole force 13,000 men and at 5 o'clock was only able to push the insurgents back 500 yards to the Seaport river where they are strongly entrenched.

The insurgents resisted desperately and aggressively. They attempted to turn to the left and flank the American troops. The American loss is estimated at sixty. The battle continues.

At daylight the rebels at Cavite Viejo dropped two shells from two big smooth bore guns into the navy yard. The only damage done was the splintering of the top of huge shells on the mole. The gunboats, Calo, Manila and Mosquito proceeded to dismount the rebel guns. After silencing the big guns at Cavite Viejo, the gunboats ran close along shore and bombarding the rebels' position. The rebels replied with rifle fire and small pieces of artillery.

So vigorous was the enemy's fire gunboat Helena joined the small gunboats and the Princeton, Monterey and Monteblock from their anchorages dropped occasional big shells among the rebels. This apparently only served to incite the rebels and they kept up an incessant fire of musketry and artillery near the mouth of the Seaport river.

The fire of seven warships were concentrated on this point shortly after noon when the upper bay presented the appearance being the scene of a great naval battle. The insurgents were forced to abandon their guns after holding out for four hours, only to be confronted by General Lawton's force on land, in their rear where there was heavy fighting.

OREGON MEN

Stop at San Francisco Before Coming to Their Oregon Homes.

General Luna and Lieutenant Pasco Ramon Assassinated.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—A dispatch from Gen. Otis, relative to the departure of the Second Oregon, states that the regiment will be taken to San Francisco first, for the reason that one ship could not carry all, and it was desirable to send with two ships the sick and wounded soldiers, a detachment of the signal corps and other homeward bound.

AS soon as the Oregon regiment arrives in San Francisco the soldiers, who do not belong to it, can be unloaded and the ships will then proceed up the coast to the Columbia river and Portland. This will be determined by the time of the arrival of the volunteers.

MANILA, June 13.—Information which is believed to be reliable has reached here of the assassination General Luna and Lieutenant Pasco Ramon, on June 8, by Aginaldo's guard, at the headquarters of Aginaldo. Luna and Ramon, it appears, went to the Filipino headquarters to confer with Aginaldo, they got into an altercation with the captain of the guard and one of them drew a revolver. The guard then killed Gen. Luna and Ramon with bayonets.
