EDITORIAL REVIEW.

Organized labor throughout the country will await with interest the decision of the Colorado supreme court in the case being heard at Denver to test the validity of the eight-hour law. The proceeding grew out of the smelters' strike, in which the Union men demanded the observance of the eight-hour day law, and also asked for a 10 per cent. advance in wages.

Arrangements were made for the first week of next September, when the Grand Army encampment is to be held in Philadelphia, are being pushed forward and the consensus of opinion among officials of the Grand Army is that it is to be the largest encampment since the Civil war. During the entire week the city will be gorged with flags and bunting during the day and brilliant with electric lights at night. The Court of Honor, on Broad street, will exceed anything of the kind ever seen in Philadelphia and will extend for nearly three blocks. The display of bunting and lights on the city hall will be a magnificent sight. Arrangements for accommodating the 500,000 or 600,000 strangers who are expected to be in the city are well under way. While a slight hitch has occurred in the plan to throw open the school houses as free quarters for the Veterans, there will be tents erected in the public parks, and a sufficient number of churches, armories and other buildings open to insure every visitor comfortable quarters.

The fifth annual summer conference which opened at Northfield, Mass., promises to be the most successful in the history of the popular movement as the attendance is larger than ever before on the opening day. The conference will continue two weeks during which time five bible courses will be given with the aim of instructing the young college students to take part in the work of conducting bible classes in their own college associations. An elaborate program of the evening addresses has also been arranged, the speakers including such well known divines and educators as Rev. William H. P. Faunce, Dean George Hodges of Cambridge, Robert E. Speer, Dwight L. Moody and Rev. A. F. Schaufler of New York.

21. It was a very handsome stroke of newspaper enterprise.

A copy of the Houston, Texas, Daily Post, boozing the Trans-Mississippi commercial congress which will be held in April, 1900, is received. The way the waterways run and the railroad lines are drawn it looks as if all the west had to go to Houston to escape transcontinental extortion and the sooner it's done the better.

Those we Leave Behind.
Men are careless about their lives for their own sakes, but a kind & tender man should think of others; he should think if he leaves behind those he leaves behind to grieve and sorrow, and struggle on without him. For this reason alone, if for no other, every man should regard his health as a precious treasure not to be thrown away or spent and scattered.

If any man's health is weakened or wasted, or running down, he should take the right means to build himself up strong and well, so that he may be more useful to others. He should investigate the virtues of that great remedy, the "Golden Medical Discovery" originated by Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Buffalo General Hospital Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. It is a remedy that makes a man thoroughly well by giving power and capacity to the digestive and assimilative organs. It makes healthy and energetic, strong, fit for his eats. It gives him strength and energy to put into his daily task. It builds up hard muscular flesh and nerve fiber, revitalizes the tissues of the throat and lungs, and cures all kinds of diseases. It cures bilious poisons and makes a man, strong, vigorous and hardy.

"My husband had been sick a long time," writes Mrs. W. Britton of Clinton, Iowa, Ia. (Box 475). "He had doctor'd with home physicians and even went to Chicago and consulted a specialist. He went to the hospital and was operated on and after three months came home to die (as he said). He was told to take your wonder medicine, the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and now, thanks to your wonderful medicine, he is well again and can eat anything he wants and is again a well man."

No remedy relieves constipation so quickly and effectively as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They never grip.
