THE NATION'S BIRTHDAY

A Great Celebration Next Tuesday to Wind Up With a Free Ball.

The preparations for the celebration of the nation's birthday are nearing completion, and enough is in sight to guarantee one of the most brilliant and elaborate celebrations ever seen in Salem.

From early morning until late at night something of interest will be going on all the time. Mingled with national events of the Fourth of July will be novelties which can not fail to be entertaining.

The musical program in Marion Square is more than usually rich, including the Salem Choral Society, and the Novello Quartette, of Monmouth, as well as the sweetest singer in the Northwest, Mrs. Hinges.

The exercises in Marion Square include, besides the music, the invocation by Rev. W. C. Kantner, an oration by Hon. J. A. Jeffreys, a scholarly gentleman and a fine speaker, and probably some informal talk from others.

The street parade will include many new features and is calculated to please by its novelty and excellence rather than by excessive length.

In the parade one float will carry the Goddess of Liberty, represented by Miss Leona Paine. With her, instead of the states of the Union, will be Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines, represented by beautiful young ladies. This will be something new and a significant innovation.

Miss Alice Davenport, will represent the Angel of Peace, whom we would all be pleased to see.

The other floats will contain novel ideas which have been worked out by the committee, of which Mrs. Olive S. England is chairman, and will be a surprise to the spectators.

The firing of the salutes will take place in Willson Avenue, and will be under charge of Ben Taylor, who knows more about firing salutes than any other man in Salem. He will also manipulate the fireworks, which will be displayed in Willson Avenue, where every one can get a good view.

After much tribulation, the committee has at last succeeded in finding a baseball nine who dare to go up against the Chemawaw. It is the Manillas and is composed of picked players of this city. A hotly contested game will be seen, and the Indian boys may not have it all their own way, after all.

An innovation, for Salem, and one which will be highly appreciated by all who have light fantastic toes which they know how to trip, will be the grand free ball at night. This will be held in the top story of the city hall, a room 75x180 feet, where there will be plenty of room for all to have a good time. Backstreet's orchestra will furnish the music, and this is a guarantee of superior excellence. Isadore Greenbaum has this branch of the celebration in charge, and will act as chief floor manager, assisted by Ira Hamilton, Bert Lynch and others.

All programs will appear in full in Monday's JOURNAL, the details not being fully formulated as yet in some cases. The program of street sports will be found below; also the musical program to be given in Marion square:

SOLDIERS' HOME.

In Demanding Pension Money the State Exceeded its Authority.

Cannot Take From the Veteran the Money the Government Pay Him for His Maintenance.

Attorney-General Blackburn has rendered an opinion, at the request of Governor Geer, in which he holds that the rules of the Soldiers' Home requiring inmates to assign to the home pension money received by them are illegal because they are in conflict with United States statutes. Rule 12 requires inmates of the Home to turn their pension money over to the commandant of that institution immediately upon receiving it, and rule 13 provides that said money, over and above the sum of $1 a month so surrendered, should be paid by the commandant to the dependent relatives of the pensioner, or, if he had no dependent relatives, then said money to be credited to a fund for the support of a Home. Rule 14 provides that the allowance of $4 a month granted the pensioner under rule 13 is liable to forfeiture if the member receiving said allowance should be adjudged guilty of any misconduct or infraction of the rules of the Home. The attorney-general's decision is in part as follows:

"The amended rules of the Oregon Soldiers' Home, when construed in connection with the provisions of the application for admission to the Home, constitute an assignment or transfer by the applicant for admission to said Home, to the Home, of some right to or interest in the pension which has been granted to him by the federal government.

"Section 4745 of the revised statutes of the United States provides as follows: 'Any pledge, mortgage, sale, assignment or transfer of any right, claim or interest in any position which has been or may hereafter be granted, shall be void and of no effect.'

"Under the rules of the board, the assignment or transfer is not a voluntary one and even if voluntary, it would be void. The assignment or transfer is compulsory based upon the necessities of the pensioner, one which he is bound to make before he can be permitted to enjoy any of the privileges and benefits of admission to and residence in said Home.

"It is my opinion that any transfer or assignment of an interest in a pension, made as required by the amended rules, is in direct conflict with the law of the United States on this subject and is therefore void and of no effect; and that the amended rules are such as cannot be enforced."

MARION COUNTY MATTERS.

Business Being Transacted at the Court House.

An undertaking on appeal has been filed in the office of the county clerk, in the case of W. E. Mitchell, plaintiff, vs. The Oregon Woman's Flax Fibre Association, defendants. ### AN ARTISTIC RECITAL.

Rich Program Rendered By Mrs. Etta Anders-Willman's School.

Reed's opera house was well-filled last evening by one of the finest audiences of people that has appeared in that building this season. The occasion was the second annual commencement of the Inter-state conservatory of music under the management of Mrs. Etta Anders-Willman. The stage setting consisted of four magnificent new pianos, including one opera grand. The program, although confined to piano music, proved most entertaining, and was carried out with a precision and finish which indicated a master hand in charge. The numbers consisted of solos, duets, quartets and sixteen-hand work, ranging from the simplest compositions played by beginners to the most intricate and beautiful of classical productions.

It would be folly for the reporter to attempt a criticism of the work done by the different young people who took part, for reason of incompetency. However, he feels justified in saying that as a whole the evening's program was a harmonious production, evincing great skill individually and collectively. Probably the highest compliment possible, was paid the performers by the audience in the enthusiastic applause showered upon each and all. The wonderfully pleasing qualities of the entire work were something unusual in a formal program of the kind. Where monotony might have been expected the keenest enjoyment was evinced on the part of the audience. There was manifested a wonderful freedom from the mechanical and studied effects so common among students and amateurs, and in their place was noticeable a remarkable ease and grace combined with a rare technique and assurance that was a comfort to the audience as well as the performers.

The great freedom with which the entire work of the evening was done, whether due to the system of the conservatory or the individual efforts of Mrs. Willman, could not but be noticeable to every one present. As this is one of the most essential qualities of a great artist in whatever field, it would not be surprising if that Salem audience last evening sat in the presence of some future celebrity of whom the world will some day be justly proud.

Prof. E. H. Scott, president of the Inter State system, was introduced by Mrs. Willman and briefly reviewed the work and objects of that institution. He also conferred the diploma of proficiency upon Miss Nettie Becker, who graduated with honors. Mr. Scott gave a little outline of the work being done by their conservatory, stating that they had 190 branch studios in the west similar to the one at Salem, all working under one plan and one management, thus insuring standing and recognition to all graduates in any part of the country.

Dr. Scott pronounced the Salem branch one of the three best in the chain of schools, those three being Ogden, Rakoczi and Salem. He spoke in the highest terms of Mrs. Willman's work, and claimed that for artistic conception of their work the program as rendered was one of the very best he had heard. The speaker voiced the feelings of the audience in those remarks as well as in the high compliment paid the graduate of the evening, who for one so young threw an unusual flavor into her renditions.

While the work of the pupils made no pretense to being out of the ordinary, the appreciation with which it was received, and reflects the highest credit upon teacher and students.

The program of the evening was given below:

PART I.
Quartette, Rakoczi, March ..... Liszt

FRIEDMAN'S NEW RACKET!

Cor. Commercial and State streets, Salem, Ore.

Address, Dr. Scott, president of Inter-state University System.

Double Quartet, 16 hands, Grande Polonaise ..... Meyerbeer, Miss Becker, Miss Hubbard, Mrs. John Krause, Miss Breyman, Miss Childers, Mrs. F. R. Anson, Mrs. Jos. Albert, Miss Shelton.

Mrs. Willman's program last night—by the person of the participants—showing the names of Salem's very best musical talent, demonstrated the dignity of the work and the conception the best musical minds have of the advantages of studying this systematic course. Thus the permanency of the Interstate Conservatory is assured at Salem and the work will be continued in a serious and conscientious manner. Those now working under the system will make the 3d commencement a grand success next year.

24-TO-4

Foresters vs. Woodmen of the World Met on the Fair Grounds Diamond.

Yesterday's game of base ball between the Foresters and Woodmen of the World resulted in the ignominious defeat of the latter, who thought they had the long-expected animals of the forest on the run. The Woodmen felt hilarious just before the first inning and imagined they were being drawn through the streets by the coyotes, crows and skunks of the forest on a hayrack, amidst the perfumes of new mown hay, but after the first inning they lost all hope of ever getting a sniff of even catnip tea.

The game resulted in a score for the Foresters of 24 to 4.

It was only through the charitable instincts of the truly fraternal feelings of a true Forester that they were allowed to make a score. All the Foresters needed was a catcher, pitcher and short stop, which would have been a sufficient team.

It is understood that the Woodmen will withdraw and not play the other two games.

The Foresters are longing for that hay rack ride and until they get it they will roam as of yore with the wild beasts of the forest, among the "big footed animals."

The Foresters still carry a chip on their shoulder in the city and are willing to extend the challenge to the rest of the county.

A challenge from the elks would be especially acceptable.

Dinner Fourth of July, will be served by the ladies of the Baptist church, in the office of the Insurance building.
