ENTERTAIN THE EDITORS.

Tuesday, July 11, the National Editors excursion will visit Salem about five hours. Let us all be at the depot in our best bib and tucker. The readers of THE JOURNAL in Salem and neighboring towns, in city and country, should drop work for a day and turn out, and let us make the reception a cordial one.

Help entertain the national editorial association. Cash, carriage and courtesy are wanted. As soon as the banquet is over at Marion square every buggy, hack, dogcart, hackboard, jumper, carry-all, milk-wagon, one-horse-shay, Victoria landau, phaeton, hay wagon or hearse or god-freight, should be ready to drive them in the country.

In addition to the lunch to be set up by a Salem caterer, our loyal housewives are asked to donate a cake for the occasion. Dressed in their best, with their daughters in feathers, laces and ribbons, our visitors are to be waited on by the fairest women in the west—for as Oregon soldiers are the bravest, Oregon women are the fairest, best-looking, proudest-walking creatures in existence—due the climate.

Now ladies who read THE JOURNAL, we want you to not forget to bring in those bouquets. Cut your choicest roses Tuesday, make them up into hand bouquets, tie them well and attach your name and address on a card or a slip of paper, and bring them to this office. We will see that our visitors get them at the train as they leave our city. Let our parting gifts be productive of fragrant memories.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.

Miss A. M. Hough, of Des Moines, Iowa, is introducing a book—"Female Philosophy, Fished Out and Fried by Felix Feeler."—Rev. L. E. Keith, A. M. Menlo, Iowa. This book is, or ought to be a means of salvation for a lot of Oregon male voters who cannot see why woman is going to be any handsomer, sweeter, or more lovable with suffrage than without. These regenerate persons can't see why they do not honor,

CANCER IS DEADLY!

Results Fatally in Nine Cases Out of Ten—A Cure Found at Last.

This fearful disease often first appears as a mere scratch, a pimple, or lump in the breast, too small to attract any notice, until, in many cases, the deadly disease is fully developed. Cancer can not be cured by a surgical operation, because the disease is a virulent poison in the blood, circulating throughout the system, and although the sore or ulcer—known as the Cancer—may be cut away, the poison remains in the blood, and promptly breaks out afresh, with renewed violence.

The wonderful success of S. S. S. in curing obstinate, deep-seated blood diseases which were considered incurable, induced a few despairing physicians to try it for Cancer, after exhausting the skill of this physicians without a cure. Much to their delight S. S. S. proved equal to the disease and promptly effected a cure. The glad news spread rapidly, and it was soon demonstrated beyond doubt that a cure had at last been found for deadly Cancer. Evidence has accumulated which is incontrovertible, of which the following is a specimen:

"Cancer is hereditary in our family, my father, a sister and an aunt having died from this dreadful disease. My feelings may be imagined when the horrible disease made its appearance on my side. It was a malignant Cancer, eating inwardly in such a way as to cause great alarm. The disease seemed beyond the skill of the doctors, for their treatment did no good whatever, the Cancer growing worse all the while. Numerous remedies were used for it, but the Cancer grew steadily worse, until it seemed that I was doomed to follow the others of the family, for I know how deadly Cancer is, especially when inherited. I was advised to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), which, from the first day, forced out the poison. I continued its use until I had taken eighteen bottles, when I was cured and well, and have had no symptoms of the dreadful affliction, though many years have elapsed. S. S. S. is the only cure for Cancer.—Mrs. S. M. Icol, Winston, N. C.

Our book on Cancer, containing other testimonials and valuable information, will be sent free to any address by the Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

THE BEST PAPER.

Discussion Started in The Journal Continued in New Hampshire.

Individual Responsibility of Management and Independence of Utterance the Ideal Conditions.

On receipt of a copy of THE CAPITAL JOURNAL, the Nashua, New Hampshire, Daily Press, founded December 28, 1826, has the following able editorial on what constitutes "The Best Newspaper."

"The CAPITAL JOURNAL, of Salem, Or., has started a discussion on the inquiry: 'What is the best newspaper?' It is indeed a hard problem to solve. Every enterprising man connected with the press of the country has a standard of his own, and yet all do not obtain the ear and confidence of the public. Individual judgment is at fault somewhere. Then, again, circulation is not always a sure test of merit, as a certificate that the newspaper thus fortunate is better than its contemporary. It often happens that the best newspaper is too heavy for the general reader, or that it does not contain features that are in line with the thought of the people where it is published. Besides this it sometimes occurs that a newspaper—even the best—has a hobby, is too set in opinion, too religious or too irreligious, and is as cold as a frog. In fact there are so many details in what constitutes a successful newspaper that even those who have been engaged for many years in journalism will hardly dare risk a positive opinion on the subject of inquiry.

The writer's experience and observation has been that the best newspaper is limited ownership. A publication that has a large number of stockholders and a board of directors, a majority of whom know nothing about the business, stands a pretty slim chance of being the best or most successful in its field of endeavor. There is too much pulling in different directions, too many to please. In fine, so many bosses that the newspaper loses its independence and is helmed about on all matters touching the public weal. Besides this it often happens that the editor, by reason of his hard task, is too much of a recluse. He does not mingle among his fellow men to the extent that it would be well for him and therefore does not know what they are thinking and talking about. These and other things handicap a newspaper.

The best newspaper—the newspaper that succeeds—is, as the writer understands it, free from annoyance of ownership and independent in its utterance. It is the newspaper that keeps nearest home in its discussion of the matters of interest and importance to the people where it is circulated. It is the newspaper that has no one to reward or punish, that prints all the news decently and without prejudice whether the person affected by it be friend or foe, an advertising patron or a citizen, who for reasons best known to himself, does not advertise. It is the newspaper that while it gives all the news, does not publish matter suited to read aloud in the family circle, that shows a sincere purpose to encourage good living and good morals; that seeks to aid all worthy charities and pays deference to the churches, without which society of the American standard must fall and men and women become debased. These and incidental matters that come up every day in a newspaper office, and which must be passed upon in the twinkling of an eye, are a few of many things that in the judgment of the writer make the best newspaper.

CURRENT EVENTS.

At Detroit, Mich., the Tent Endeavor and the Light Guard Armory were crowded almost to suffocation at the opening business session of the annual international convention of the Society of Christian Endeavor. The gathering at the armory participated in the first of the series of "quiet hour" services which always forms a leading feature of the convention. The services were in charge of Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D. of New York and were of the usual interesting character. Following the report of secretary Baer, Francis E. Clark, president and founder of the society, was greeted with deafening cheers as he stepped to the front of the platform and delivered his annual address.

The morning session was brought to a close with the delivery of the annual convention sermon by Rev. F. W. Gunsaulus, D. D. of Chicago.

Representative lawyers and jurists from all parts of the state were present at the opening of the fifth convention of the Pennsylvania Bar Association. The convention listened to an address on "Fidelity to Court and Client in Criminal Cases," delivered by James T. Mitchell of Philadelphia.

The annual show of the Highest Agricultural society was opened by the Prince of Wales at Edinburgh. The Prince was met by the mayor, the corporation and a delegation of citizens and presented with an address of welcome to which he delivered suitable response.

Persons who take an interest in the doings of royalty are reminded of the fact that the Princess Victoria, the only unmarried daughter of the Prince and Princess of Wales, is thirty-one years old today. She is a year and for months older than her sister, Princess Charles of Denmark, who has now been married nearly three years. Gossp has engaged the Princess Victoria several times during the last year, but according to those best informed Her Royal Highness has no immediate intention of changing her lot of single blessedness.

Between two and three thousand teachers are attending the session of the joint congress of the Illinois Society for Child Study and the national Herbart Society, which opened today at the University of Chicago and the Cook County Normal School. The National Herbart Society is the only organization in the United States which follows the purely scientific study of education.

The Indiana State Bar Association is in session with a large number of prominent members of the bench and bar in attendance. William Wirt Howe of Louisiana, ex-president of the American Bar Association delivered the annual address and will also be one of the principal orators at the banquet with which the gathering will be brought to a close this evening.

During the last twenty-four hours there has been a great rush of arriving delegates to the National Educational Association convention at Los Angeles. Those who do not take part in the meetings of the National Council of Education, which will begin Saturday are going directly to interior points for the benefit of the trip.

The Bryan dollar dinner which is to be given at Columbus, Ohio, tonight, to mark the conclusion of the annual convention of the State League of Democratic Clubs promises to be a notable affair. Covers will be laid for several hundred guests. The principal speakers are to be William J. Bryan, Judge James P. Tavin of Covington, Ky., Senator Daniel, and George Fred Williams of Massachusetts, all of whom are expected to be in the city.

The Thomas F. Bayard Memorial Association today received from prominent sculptors proposals for making the bronze statue of the dead statesman which is to be erected in this city. The statue is to be of heroic size and will represent Mr. Bayard in his favorite attitude of addressing the senate.

A LIFE SAVED.

Dr. J. F. Cook, the Botanical Specialist, Succeeds Where Others Fail.

To whom it may concern: This is to certify that Bertha P. Conner, of Mt. Angel precinct, Marion county, Oregon, has suffered from a cancerous growth in the left ear for about three years. The growth was cut out twice and burned out once by Albany Physicians, but the growth came back as before, and, indeed, grew so badly that she had to be taken from school. After three weeks' treatment by Dr. J. F. Cook, of Salem, Oregon, the Botanical Specialist, the growth entirely disappeared, and at this date, four months since treatment was begun, the growth has not reappeared, and the ear has entirely healed leaving only the scars inflected by the Albany doctors.

I hereby certify that the above statement is absolutely true, and that Bertha P. Conner, the person mentioned in the affidavit, has resided in my family since early childhood, bearing the relationship to me of niece.
