THE AFTERMATH

Notes and Conclusions on the Editors' Reception at Salem.

Salem people were pretty well tired out Tuesday evening after their two days' efforts. There was a great deal of hard work done and the community is under obligation to the labor of the committees, especially to Mayor and Mrs. Bishop, to the officers of the Chamber of Commerce, the general committee, to Mrs. Burnett and the ladies who arranged the banquet, and to the Finance Committee—especially to Henry Sonne- mann, who covered himself with glory and dust. Manager Anson also did his level best as he always does with all local matters.

C. W. Bliss, News, Hillsboro, Ill.: I am a Democrat, free trader and an expansionist. I don't think a man could study the situation on this coast without being an expansionist. I consider the Willamette Valley the finest body of farming land I ever saw (outside of Illinois, of course). My conception of Oregon has been entirely changed and I confess to pleasant surprise. Your land, your water, your scenery and your people are unsurpassed.

Mr. Bliss has written to his paper and THE JOURNAL has been permitted to copy from his manuscript the following sample eulogium:

"This whole trip has been a succession of surprises. To many of the visitors Oregon has been a revelation. Her resources are perhaps more varied than those of any other state in the Union. With magnificent forests which the mills cannot manufacture into lumber as fast as they grow; with her mineral resources which are just beginning to be developed; with her fertile and inexhaustible valleys; with her wonderful fishing interests and her vast area of rich grazing lands, she certainly stands without a peer in the great sisterhood of states. This is not said simply in return for a few railroad courtesies and as an attempt to compensate a people whose hospitality knows no limit, but it is the voice of a conviction forced upon me after having traversed this great state from east to west and from north to south, and studied with painstaking care her resources and her capabilities."

C. H. Backus, Genoa, Tenn., Genoa, Ill.: W. W. Watts, Journal, Nashville, Ill.: A. W. Giesner, Gazette, Galena, Ill., were all in the party with Mr. Bliss and signified their desire to swear to all good things he had to say for Oregon. These gentlemen were very enthusiastic in their praises of the valley and its people.

GOLD STANDARD.

Senate Finance Committee to Take Power From a Secretary of Treasury.

The senate sub-committee on finance charged with drafting a currency bill held two sessions. Senator Allison said: "We must be careful to avoid mistakes, lest we do something that will have to be undone. The currency reform question is of more than ordinary importance, and it is necessary to get the consensus of party opinion before we can proceed intelligently."

The committee is of one mind on the proposition first advanced by Mark Hanna—to commit the party to a single standard—and will undoubtedly perfect some party bill before adjourning. Another point on which the "Big Five" are agreed is this: A proposition must be incorporated making it impossible for a silver secretary of the treasury, should one succeed Gage, to issue silver or a silver certificate, in exchange for bonds or other outstanding government securities. Under the present currency law it is within the power of the treasury secretary to exchange silver dollars or silver certificates for all obligations which upon their face call for "coin of the government."

So long as a gold man is at the head of the treasury department there is no fear that silver will be paid out on "coin" obligations. But a silver secretary would certainly flood the country with the white metal, giving it in payment for everything which did not on its face call for gold.

All those who looked pleasant and smiling and patronized the restaurants, peanut and lemonade stands were the ones who purchased their wares at Friedman's New Racket. The few dejected looking people, who went without their dinner and refreshments on the Fourth, bought their goods elsewhere.

And now Friedman's New Racket is preparing for the Fall trade; and down goes prices still lower in order to make room, prices go down still lower, and those who are in need of clothing, hats, gents' and ladies' furnishing goods, staple and fancy Dry Goods, blankets, comforters, laces, ribbons and embroideries, handkerchiefs, towels and notions, trunks, valises, etc., will find that it will pay them, to make their purchases at

Cost of Arc Lighting
Actual Cost to the City of Detroit, Operating Its own Plant, as shown by Official Reports is $7.45 per month for 2000 candle-power lamps, for all-night service. Total Number of Lamps in Operation, 1564.

The Salem Light & Traction Company Offers the City of Salem this same Lamp on a contract for only 35 Lamps at the rate of $8.00 per month for all-night service.

THE JOURNAL has been furnished with a copy of the Second Annual Report of the Public Lighting Commission of the City of Detroit, Michigan. This report is beautifully illustrated in colored half-tones and is very comprehensive and complete in every particular, and a careful perusal of the same shows that the City of Detroit owns and operates an electric light plant for the lighting of its streets, and that the Plant is an up to date and modern Plant in every particular, and is operated in a manner which precludes any criticism. The Plant has a total capacity of 2000 arc lamps of 2000 candle-power each, and the daily average number of lamps used is 1564. Under the heading of "Cost of Arc Lighting" that Report continues as follows:

"The year's operating expenses can be divided between the Arc and the Incandescent in proportion to the electrical output. That chargeable to Arc Lighting would be $100,393.15, which amount reduced to the cost of an arc lamp for one year shows the following relative figures:

DEPARTMENT	WAGES	STORES	TOTAL
Maintenance	$ 9 71	$ 2 87	$12 58
Executive	5 18	62	5 30
Station	12 16	11 61	23 77
Trimming	13 86	5 03	18 89
Shop	2 65	38	40 65
Injuries and damages	0 41	11	11 42
Totals	$43 57	$20 02	$64 19

While the foregoing figures represent the cash outlay for an arc lamp for one year, they DO NOT represent the total cost to the City.

The entire equipment is maintained in the best possible condition of repair, so that the cost chargeable to depreciation is reduced to a minimum. The only part that in time will have to be replaced in an entirety is the boiler, and experience has shown that their life should be 20 to 25 years. Four per cent of their cost is therefore added to the cost of a lamp or $1.85 to the cost of an arc and 12 cents to the cost of an incandescent lamp.

The amount of the investment of the City for the year was $814,827.76, having an interest value at 4 per cent of $28,593.75 per annum. Furthermore had the plant been a private enterprise it would have paid the City its proportion of taxes. That this might be calculated the Honorable Board of Assessors placed an assessed value on the City Plant at $247,000. Computing the taxes of 1896 on this valuation at $15.54 for the City and at $3.13 for the State and County for each $1,000 of assessed valuation and we have the annual cost to the City in taxes of $7,981.43. The city has thus lost through municipal ownership a total of $36,575.
