A business house of Aberdeen, Scotland, recently engaged an office boy a raw country youth. It was part of his duties to attend to the telephone in his master's absence. When first called upon to answer the bell, in reply to the usual query "are you there?" he nodded assent. Again the question came, and still again, and each time the boy gave an answering nod. When the question came for the fourth time, however, the boy, losing his temper, roared through the telephone: "Man, a' ye blin'! I've been noddin' me heid aff for 't' last half 'oor!"—Exchange.

"They have a remarkably clever parrot over at the Casterlins, Miss Laura. It can imitate the sound of a kiss to perfection. Is that among the accomplishments of our feathered friend in the corner?"
Miss Laura (indignantly): No, sir. He does not attempt an imitation of a sound he is not accustomed to hear, Mr. Hankinson.
The Parrot: Wait, George, dear, till I take this bird out of the room.—Exchange.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. OF OREGON CROPS.

Hops and Grain Promises Ve. Favorably All Over the State.

The last week has been one of the most propitious of the season for maturing crops, especially hops. Along with the good work of spraying and the weather the lice have gradually disappeared until they are quite scarce. A hop grower was heard to remark yesterday that every hour of this hot weather was adding thousands of dollars to the grower's bank account.

The following crop news is gleaned from all sources:

A correspondent writing from Woodburn says:

The hop crop looks well, and it is estimated that the yield will be one-fourth greater than in 1898, provided that warm and favorable weather continues. Spring crops will generally be short unless some rain falls soon.

C. K. Beckler, one of the largest hopgrowers at Mark's prairie, Clackamas county, says that the prospects are good for an excellent crop. Unless lice and mold should appear later in the season the outlook is very favorable. None of the growers, as yet, are contacting their hops, but agents for buyers are making liberal proposals.

At Amity, Yamhill county, farmers are actively preparing for harvest. All grain is reported in good shape. Hops are looking well. Growers are engaging pickers and 30 cents per box has been offered.

In Eastern Oregon at La Grande, grain is badly damaged by the continued hot weather, and prospects are that the crop will be at least one-half short. The sugar beets are, however, looking very fine, as they are large enough not to be affected by the hot weather. Will at Bendleton, there is now no doubt that the crop of 1899 has been badly injured throughout. The temperature has ranged from 103 to 107 for nearly a week past, the actual average, according to the government observer's report for last week, being 103.4 above zero.

While some of the fall-down grain had matured sufficiently so that it was beyond danger from the hot wave, the spring grain was late, and has been generally damaged. This constitutes 60 to 70 per cent. of the total crop of the country, and will not only be small in yield, but of low grade as well. Harvesting is in progress quite generally all over the country.

A prominent fruit grower in the Sunnyside fruit farm section, says that his seven year old Petit prune trees are going to die and the only life left in them is at all sustained by a small strip of bark on one side of the tree and it will only be a matter of time when they will be dead entirely. Petit prune trees that were planted a year later were not injured.
