GOOD-BYE, BOB.
The Funeral Services Held Over the Remains of the Late Robt. G. Ingersoll.
The funeral of the late Robert G. Ingersoll took place from Walston, Dobbs Ferry. No clergyman was present to conduct the services, there was no music and no pall bearers. The body lay on a cot in the room where he died. It was enshrouded in white, and just one red rose was placed on the breast. About the cot were banks of floral tributes sent by friends, and wreaths and bunches of blossoms. The services were held at 4 o'clock.

Mrs. Ingersoll sat beside her dead, and besides her were her daughters, Mrs. Walston H. Brown, and Miss Maud Ingersoll. They were very much agitated and wept almost continuously. There were some forty others present, and they remained by Dr. John Clark Ridpath who in a voice full of emotion, said:

"My friends, it is a very sad duty to read, in the presence of the dead, the last poem written by Colonel Robert Ingersoll, entitled 'Declaration of the Free.'" This poem Colonel Ingersoll has read and altered in some of its parts only a few hours before he was stricken down.

Mayor O. J. Smythe, a close personal friend of Colonel Ingersoll, then read another extract from Colonel Ingersoll's writings, entitled "My Religion."

Dr. John Elliott, of New York, read the funeral oration delivered by Colonel Ingersoll over his brother's dead body. This concluded the short and simple services. Nearly all present then took a parting look at the dead, and passed out. Mr. Charles B. Rouse, Ingersoll's old friend, who is totally blind, passed his hand over the face of his departed friend and said:

"Perhaps he is better now. No one can understand it."

Mrs. Ingersoll said to him:

"The colonel wanted you to put your hand upon his heart," and putting the action to the world, she directed his hand to the left breast of the deceased. Mr. Rouse asked what she was going to do with the remains.

"I can't give him up," she said, "I can't put him in the ground. I can't bear to think of it. We are going to bring him home."

The body will probably be taken to Fresh Pond, on Thursday, for cremation. Several old colored servants of the family came from Washington to do honor to their great benefactor.

New and Original Advertising.
It is interesting to watch the new ideas always to be found in the advertising of Hood's Sarsaparilla. The present line of advertisements is especially unique, each beginning with a familiar proverb and leading up to the good qualities of this famous medicine. The argument in every case is clinched by condensed testimonials from people the medicine has cured. It is gratifying to see the continued success of an article of genuine merit. While other preparations come to the surface and after a short time disappear, Hood's Sarsaparilla has steadily maintained its place in public confidence.

Bernard J. Skelly, the young Marion county actor, is leaving Oregon for California, and enters upon the stage as a profession.

Old Home Scenes.
Comrade J. L. Bennett has received a copy of a book of views from New Milford, Connecticut, where he lived in his boyhood days and has not seen for 45 years. The souvenir made him homesick and stirred up memories of his boyhood days which forcibly brings to his mind how time is fleeting. He is now nearly 75 years old.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

LOCAL BASE BALL.
The Red Men Meet the Foresters and are Vanquished.
Tuesday's ball game at Salem between the Fraternal clubs resulted in the defeat of one of the teams, after a hotly contested game which was smoothly played, barring the unfortunate difficulty in the fifth inning. The boys who took part in the game were all born and raised here in Oregon and all but two in and around Salem, therefore the keen interest taken. The new diamond was in good condition and had it not been for the intense heat of the afternoon a much better game would have been witnessed.

The score of the game stood as follows by innings:
Foresters 4 3 2 0 0 0 0 2-11
Red Men 3 3 0 0 3 0 0 1-10
The next game of the series will be played some time next week, probably.

The second game of the series of the fraternal nines, between the Woodmen of the World and the Foresters of America will take place soon, which will decide the hayrack title to be given by the Woodmen.

It is understood by the ball players that a new nine will be arranged by the A. O. U. W. to play the winning team for a banquet to the winning nine, to be given by the losers.

It is not expected that a special police force will be required to protect the umpire at any of the future games.
