CROPS AND WEATHER

Climate and Crop Service, Weather Bureau.

Favorable Outlook for an Immense Hop Crop Continues—Official Report.

The weather has been slightly cooler, with less sunshine than during the preceding week. No rain fell during the week. High fog prevailed from sunrise to about 10 a. m., when it was dissipated. The weather conditions have been normal. The temperature during the heat of day rose to 94 degrees and fell to about 50 degrees about sunrise.

Harvest of fall-sown grain is in operation in every portion of the state, and the reports indicate that it is generally a first-class crop; where threshing has been done the yield has been as good as is usually obtained. The crop would have been very large if it had not been for the damage done in February, which necessitated considerable re-seeding. The wheat berry is plump and large west of the cascades; east of them the berry is fairly good, but some shrivelling is reported from various sections. Oats are turning out fully as well as the wheat. Some reports are received concerning rust, but such are confined to limited localities and produced by local conditions. The fall-sown wheat is turning out as many bushels per acre as are usually obtained, and these vary from 25 to 50, dependent upon locality and system of farming, spring-sown grain is not up to the average. The continuous dry weather from the fore part of June to date has been injurious. West of the Cascades the spring grain is in better condition than it is east of them; in the former section it is heading, but the heads are small and not well filled; in the latter the straw is short, it did not stool well, the heads are small, not well filled and the berry is shrivelled; the outlook for the spring grain is not good. Rain at this season of the year is unusual and it is now too late for much good to be done. The reports state that spring wheat is now expected to yield from 12 to 20 bushels and spring oats from 18 to 35 bushels per acre. Grain harvest will continue until September 15.

The hay crop was secured in every section of the state without rain falling upon it; this is not often the case. The hay crop was heavier and of better quality than usual. The second and third crops of alfalfa and second crop of clover are yet to be cut.

The hop crop is in first-class condition. The hops are now in full bloom. The change in the weather to more clouds is favorable to the rapid increase of the hop louse. Many growers are spraying, and such yards are in good condition. Many growers estimate their crop at from 1000 to 2000 pounds per acre.

The cherry season is about over. Peaches are ripening rapidly. Water melons will soon be ripe in the southern counties. The plum and prune crops are making progress, and what fruit there is promises to be of good quality. In some sections the leaves on the prune trees are curling. Reports indicate that the apple crop will be the best of all fruit crops. In some orchards where the apples are not plentiful, there has not been as much spraying done as there should have been, and the result is, in sections are becoming more numerous than is usual.

Corn and vegetables are in need of rain, though a fair growth is yet reported. Pasture is drying up. Cattle and stock are in good condition.

THE WEATHER. For Western Oregon the mean temperature for the week 67 degrees, is 3 degrees lower than for the preceding week and 5 degrees lower than for the corresponding week last year. The maximum temperatures ranged from 70 to 92 degrees and the minimum from 50 to 60 degrees.

For Eastern Oregon the mean temperature for the week, 71 degrees, is 2 degrees lower than for the preceding week and 7 lower than for the corresponding week last year. The maximum temperatures ranged from 75 to 94, and the minimum from 46 to 66 degrees. Thunderstorms occurred over the southern plateau region, from which some rain fell, but not enough to do any material good.

BASEBALL. Salem Juniors Scooped at Gervais.—Game Here Tomorrow. The Salem Juniors met the Woodburn nine at Gervais, Sunday, and the latter sat upon the former, in the ratio of 37 to 8. The Salem kids simply bit off more than they could chew and had to take the consequences.

The third and final game of the Forsters-Redmen series will be played on Willson avenue Wednesday afternoon, and will be well worth witnessing. Each nine has one game to its credit by a majority of one tally, so it is evident that the teams are well matched, and it will be "devil of a whirlwind" when they come together again.
