The eleventh annual convention of railway commissioners began at Denver and will continue for several days. The convention is composed of the members of the interstate commerce commission the railway commissioners of the various states and other state officers whose duties connect them with railways. At the last annual convention committees were appointed to prepare reports on the subjects of classification of construction expenses, classification of construction and operating expenses of electric railways, railroads statistics, uniform classification; powers, duties and work of railrond commissions; legislation; delays attendant upon enforcing orders of railroad commissions appliances; grade crossings; plans for ascertaining the fair valuation of railroad properties, and permanent organization. The convention also appointed a committee to sclect other subjects for consideration. This committee was so widely scattered that it has been unable to hold a full meeting, but members of the organization have suggested to the chairman a wide range of timely topics, all of which by the present gathering.

In response to a call issued by the Rev. William Gray, president of the National Federation of colored men, several hundred Negro citizens representing a half dozen states assembled in Cleveland today for the purpose of completing a permanent organization which will have for its object the welfare and advancement of the colored race. The delegates include a number of ministers and school teachers, and represent for the most part the advanced thought and education of the colored people of the states represented. conference expects to discuss the following subjects: Politics and political parties, Negro citizenship, crimes and punishments, education, churches and secret organizations.

cohol Question in the School,

The recent experiments of Prof. At water are of great interest to physiologists and chemists since they throw much light upon one of the doubtful questions of physiological chemistry or pharmacology, that of the metabolism of alcohol in the body.

It is a mistake however, to think as some people apparently do, that the result of these experiments should change the teaching in the school in regard to the use of alcohol from a hygienic point of view. The schools teach that the use of alcoholic liquors as a beverage is not justifiable under the laws of bygiene. The results of Prof. Atwater's experi-menta do not contradict this teaching. These experiments merely show that the body can derive some energy from alcohol. This dees not in itself entitle alcohol to be placed among the food substances in the hygienic sense of the rel Ranch 200 tons of A I Clover as soldiers of the war with Spain or the term, which is the sense in which the ay at $4.00 parton in the field.

Both sides in this technical controversy will agree in regard to the main question, that children should be taught to look upon alcholic liquors as danger-ous substances, to be avoided from consid-erations of health and general welfare. And in the present light of our exper-ience and of scientific investigation, the chool books must continue to exclude alcohol from the list of substances de irable as foods, and teach the avoid-
