TWO IMPORTANT ORDINANCES.

City Council Provides for Bonds and Street Lights. The city council met on Tuesday evening in adjourned meeting, with Mayor Bishop, Recorder Judah and Aldermen Baren, Gesner, Griswold, McGrew, Riggs, and Walker present.

Alderman McGrew of the committee on fire and water reported that the city horses were out of oats. He recommended that thirty bushels be bought, to last until oats of the new crop could be secured in such condition that it would be advisable to buy a year's supply at once, and the same alderman was authorized to buy thirty bushels in open market.

The following bids were received in response to the city's advertisement for 15 tons of hay: Geo. Collins, cheat @ 7 50; F. L. Bellinger, cheat @ 7 50; Brewster & White, Timothy @ 7 50; Brewster & White, cheat @ 7 00; Westcott & Irwin, Timothy @ 12 50. The bid of Brewster & White was accepted for 7 1/2 tons of Timothy hay and 7 1/2 tons of cheat.

The resignation of Peter Graber as horseman was accepted, and he was elected driver of the hose wagon.

This was in accordance with the recommendation of Fire Chief Churchill who also recommended O. J. Hull for horseman, vice Wm. These were referred to the committee on streets and public highways.

An invitation was received from the League of American Municipalities to attend the annual convention of the League at Syracuse, New York, September 19, to 22.

CLOUDS HAVE ROLLED BY

And the Prospects are Brighter than Ever

Little Damage Done and Much Good from the Rains.

Farmers that were seen today either had threshed before the rain or are so well pleased with the weather that they wear a pleasant smile, and feel better than ever.

It now turns out that most of the hue and cry about the crop being ruined was due to street farmers. None of the real farmers are in town today, who have wet wheat, but are looking after their grain.

The rains are over, the clouds have rolled by, and that ray of discouragement is blotted out. All is serene and everybody is happy. The rains have done more good than harm, and there is rejoicing everywhere.

HOP CROP INFORMATION

Condition of the Crop in Willamette Valley.

The hop yards of Polk county are nearly all looking fine, and have been cultivated better this year than ever before. The yards have a lighter foliage than in former years, owing to the fact that fewer vines were trained than heretofore. This will give the hops a better developing and less liability to mildew, and also the spray work could be more thoroughly accomplished.

Some hop growers are alarmed as to the present rainy spell injuring the hop crop. The rainy weather will do no harm if we get the proper weather when it clears up, but on the other hand will have done much good. The hop crop in Lane and Linn counties, writes a correspondent, are in good condition, and the rains will only make them a little later but will put weight into the hops. There are now in Lane county about 900 acres. The yards located on the lowlands are all in prime condition and will yield between three and four thousand bales of hops. Lane county hop growers raise more of the early varieties. The vermin will not injure the crop much unless bad weather continues. But if good weather prevails from now on, which is quite probable, there will be a fair crop. Many pickers are now camped to pick the early hops near Harrisburg. Picking will begin tomorrow if the weather permits in the J. B. Cartwright, yard, of Fogdoo hops, which contains 18 acres. This very variety of hops seems to be the proper thing if the quality can be depended upon.

Some difficulty is being experienced getting pickers to register and some difficulty is also experienced in securing enough hands at the price to be paid this season, which is said to be 40 cents per box.

The fact that there is a large crop and also that there will be some people employed picking prunes hands will be scarce, make the pickers chary about agreeing to pick for 40 cents.

All the hop growers in and about Salem are jubilant over the prospects, and feel confident that the early rains will increase the yield a considerable percentage.

Flowers Kept Fresh.

Motorman H. C. Bressler brought to the JOURNAL office this morning two Gladiolus blossoms which were taken from a basket of flowers which were brought from E. Hoyer's garden to the State House to decorate the tables on the day the volunteers arrived, two weeks ago. The blossoms are as fresh and waxen as though just picked from the parent stem. They have been kept in this condition by a little care and attention on the part of Mrs. Bressler. Two stalks were taken and kept in fresh water, the blackened ends of the stalks were trimmed off every day, and as the lower blossoms became old they were clipped off and the buds above them blossomed out.

A Flying Trip.

The same day that he got back Mr. Ashford resumed his duties at the asylum, at the post which he has held since the asylum was first moved here from Portland in 1883.
