Case's Opinion of Otis.

Curcago, Sept. 11.-Captain J. J. ase, formerly of the Second Oregon lunteers who is visitin here says: "It is the general opinion of officers that if General Otis were to confine himself to one department the war would progress more satisfactorylly.

General Otis makes a first-class civil vernor. In the field there were several nstances in which he | held troops back after they had accomplished their work and thus necessitated it being done over.

CANDES IN TOW.

He Entirely Agrees With Indian Hoppickers Towed Into the Sound English, German and Ausby a Tug. If the modes of the Indians have of them regarding transportation as followed, since the day they were induced to come to the head of Puget sound to earn a few of the white man's dollars by hoppicking. Some of them discovered last year that instead of starting two or three weeks a head of time to give the ample opportunity to reach their field of labor, they could hire a tag-boat that would take a string of 30 or 40 canoes, and tow them at an average speed of eight miles an hour for $1.50 to $3 per boat. This the Indians concluded was a better way than beginn to your readdle 100. way than having to row or paddle 100 to 150 miles, so that is what they did this year. Instead of a lot of old squaws vigorously plying a paddle, the scene was one of a string of young bucks scated at the stern of the boat, rigged up as if for dress parade, lazily balancin an oar to keep the craft in line with th as to the Phil ippines policy, "I've little long string of canoes being yanked along by the tag. The other occupants of the canoes, varying from 3 to 10 in number, enjoyed a nap or played cards to while

Thus in the short space of a year has the Indian mode of navigating long dis-tances changed immensurably more than in the past 150 years. Up to a year ago a few weeks before hop-picking time, the Sound, from Olympia to the entrance of the straits, was dotted with these small craft, being vigorously urged forward by the old as well as the young and for weeks before and after hop-picking the lives of the steamboat men were made miserable on dark nights and in foggy weather by the constant dread of running down some of these small craft. By night no Indian ever shows a light, and their presence in a fog can never be learned till a steamer is nearly on then when they begin to yell rigorously. All this, however, is changed by the new conditions, and it is expected that by sext year out of a fleet of canoes esti ated at between 700 and 800, leaving people, that I consider the Filipinos the various reservations, not more than more capable of self government than 100 will come up the sound as did their forefathers, by wind or paddle, but that they will take advantage of the new conditions and bargain for a tow.

This new condition has also its effect on the cities of Tacoma and Seattle, as by this means the large body of Indians i senal in Cavite and often I was surprised brought into the cities in a single day, so that a few hours after a tow arrives, the streets are crowded with Indians of by their intelligence. With fair and all ages and sizes, peddling their-wares squaws may be seen seated on the curbthier lords, who have been on the still hunt since the moment they struck town for a bottle of the white man's whisky.

Imus has disappeared and it is supposed Unquestionably towing Indians and canoes to the hopfields will-have quite he has joined the rebels on promise of receiving a generalship. He was colonel an effect on the labor market during the hoppicking season, as in previous years many Indian families remained at Kone, Sept. 211.—Captain of transport forgan City, which was wrecked Sepfields. One prominent grower says that next year he will charter a tug and bring Morgan City, which was wrecked September 1, by striking a reef eight miles his pickers and those for neighboriz yards, free of cost to the Indians. Suc from Ononuchi, says there are good an inducement, he says, the Indians can not withstand, so next year he will have no trouble as he did this season in obtaining pickers for his crop.

Tectly lights the interior of the whole Square, and the surrounding walks on all four sides of the streets and sheds more light than a lamp on each corner of the block would do. I would suggest that if the council would pass an ordinance compelling all citizens to trim their trees bordering on the streets at least 10 feet above the sidewalks we would be a well-lighted city and all the lights would be available. The lights being so high and the trees so low hides all the lights except under the lights. the lights-except under the lights.
