THE TRUTH AT LAST.

Concluded from First Page

let nothing go that can hurt the administration," the correspondents concluded that protest was justifiable.

General Otis conducted much of the censorship personally, the censor sending him any dispatch about which he had doubts. He or the censor struck out whatever displeased them and inserted or caused the insertion of whatever they chose to say, or otherwise the dispatch could not go. Says Mr. Collins:

"In this way the entire American press was made the personal organ of Otis; we were compelled to send nothing but the official view of all events and conditions, even when the official view controverted the opinion of the great mass of the officers in the field and of intelligent residents and was a falsification of events which passed before our eyes. In this way every fight became a glorious American victory, even though everyone in the army knew it to have been substantially a failure, and we were drilled into writing quite mechanically wholly ridiculous estimates of the numbers of Filipinos killed, knowing that if we wrote any other description than the sort being telegraphed to the war department our work would be wasted."

When the condition had become almost unbearable the correspondents held a meeting to consider what ought to be done. On comparing notes it was found that among them they had learned the views of all the other prominent men in Manila, whose opinions were worth consideration, and that there was a practical unanimity of opinions of the situation. The dispatch prepared was an epitome of the opinions. The views were not the personal views of the correspondents, but those of Generals Lawton, MacArthur, Funston, Wheaton and others, and the correspondents "could not be accused of prejudice against the administration because the strongest administration organ in the country was committed to the plan, and, moreover, the attempt to hold the newspapers by the throat was so unusual that unusual action seemed to be justified and demanded."

Little Pimples Turn to Cancer.

Cancer often results from an impurity in the blood, inherited from generations back. Few people are entirely free from some taint in the blood, and it is impossible to tell when it will break out in the form of dreaded cancer. What has appeared to be a mere pimple or scurrah has developed into the most malignant cancer.

"I had a severe cancer which was at first only a few blotches, that I thought would soon pass away. I was treated by several able physicians, but in spite of their efforts the cancer spread until my condition became alarming. After many months of treatment and growing steadily worse, I decided to try S.S.S. which was so strongly recommended. The first bottle produced an improvement. I continued the medicine, and in four months the last bit of the cancer was dropped. Two years have elapsed and not a sign of the disease has returned." H. J. WILSON, St. Louis, Mo.

It is dangerous to experiment with cancer. The disease is beyond the skill of physicians. S. S. S. is the only cure, because it is the only remedy which goes deep enough to reach cancer. S.S.S. For The Blood (Swift's Specific) is the only blood remedy guaranteed Purely Vegetable. All others contain potash and mercury, the most dangerous of minerals. give us any information as to the number of sick, on the ground that he had instructed them to withhold such facts from the papers; also that he had reported to Washington a percentage of 7 1/2 sick when the surgeons agreed that from 30 to 35 per cent of the command was sick; that not more than 10 per cent of some regiments were fit for duty and that the hospital force was entirely inadequate, as well as the hospital room, so that they were compelled to discharge hundreds of men who were really sick to make room for more urgent cases.

"His reply was that the hospitals were full of perfectly well men, who were shirking, and should be turned out. To send home figures of the number in hospitals would be entirely misleading.

"We reminded him that while he had been reporting to Washington that the volunteers will render willing service until relieved, the same volunteers were sending regimental petitions to the governors of their states to use every influence to secure their recall; that some regiments had petitioned him to relieve them from duty; that the members of various regiments had at certain stages of the war been in a frame of mind closely resembling mutiny; that the members of the Third artillery, who had enlisted for the war with Spain, had threatened to stack their guns on the Fourth of July unless discharged sooner.

"In the matter of prejudice against the navy, it was stated on the parts of the correspondents that all were compelled to change their accounts of the taking of Holo, to make it appear that the army had done the work with material assistance from the warships, and that only a few houses were burnt.

"General Otis explained that the navy was so anxious for glory that it disobeyed instructions by landing before the proper time, etc., although the correspondents would not have been permitted to send that explanation had they known it, and were forced to give an entirely false account of what occurred. The fact is questioned by no one that almost all of the business quarter and much of the other sections were burnt.

"I reminded him that two stories by Dunning describing the work of the navy in patrolling the coasts and taking prizes were 'killed' without reason, and the others agreed that the entire attitude of the censorship toward the navy had been one of prejudice and discrimination. There seemed to be a childish fear that the navy would get some advertising. The censor and Otis himself always made us refer to the gunboats operated by Captain Grant as 'army gunboats,' in their eagerness to give the navy from getting any credit not its due.

"Regarding the suppression of reports of field operations which were failures, we told the general that the whole purpose of most of the important movements, beginning with the advance from La Loma church in March, had been to round up and capture, or force the surrender of various divisions of the Filipino army, that all of them had failed to accomplish this, yet we had been obliged to represent that Otis was accomplishing just what he intended and winning a series of glorious successes and administering no end of final crushing blows.

"Otis is a very hard man to argue with or to pin down to any definite proposition and his explanation of the failure of Hall's expedition the first week in June was characteristic. He said: 'But how could we capture them when they were not there? They all got out that night before we started, and there were not 2,000 we found, but only 600.' We rehearsed in detail the objects in the censorship which I have outlined in the beginning of this letter. There was no question of the fact that he had not allowed us to send full reports of the conditions here unless those reports were reflections of his own view. We asked that when there were different views held by the people whose opinions were worthy of consideration, we should be allowed to explain the various views and phases of the question instead of echoing his opinions as though they were rock ribbed and unimpeachable facts.

"Davis said: 'When I returned to Manila I asked what I would be permitted to send and you told me all facts, news about military operations, not helpful to the enemy and my opinions as opinions.' All of the committee agreed that the fulfillment of that rule would be satisfactory, and I disclaimed any desire to send my personal opinion for the Associated Press. General Bates was present throughout the interview. At the close General Otis turned to him and asked: 'What would you do with these gentlemen, general?'

"Bates promptly replied: 'I would do what I said.' 'Court martial them?' Otis asked. 'No, let them send what you promise, the facts and opinions as opinions,' Bates said.

The advice of General Bates was not taken, and after further delay, during which General Otis made several attempts to persuade them out of their purpose, the correspondents sent the dispatch to Hong Kong, whence it was cabled to the American newspapers. Mr. Collins says that General Otis told them that "the war department had made public only the more optimistic of his reports," and on this statement the dispatch was amended to make plain that only those reports which the department had given out were referred to.

"Whenever constipation is one of the complicating causes of disease, the most perfect remedy is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, which are always effective, yet absolutely mild and harmless. There never was any remedy invented which can take their place. They never give.

Schilling's Best tea sold only in Packages

Mr. Collins says the position of the newspaper correspondents in Manila is, as it has been from the beginning, most difficult.

"Otis has closed to us every possible source of information. Only yesterday, when I attempted to send a report of the bombardment of Pacte, the truthfulness of which was unquestioned, he immediately sent for Lawton, and demanded to know how it had been made public, and told Lawton to jump on to the members of his staff.

"Instances of the suppression of news to prove that the sole intent of the authorities is to suppress accounts of the real situation here could be multiplied, if it was necessary, but the repeated assertions of the censor that he was instructed to permit nothing to go of a political nature, nothing that could reflect upon the army or create an impression at home leaves no doubt on that point. Such items as court-martials have been ruled out with the explanation 'I am here to protect the honor of the army.'

"Recently I filed what I thought a most inoffensive statement that the business men who had appeared before the commission had advocated the retention of the existing silver system of currency. The censor said: 'I ought not to let that go. That would be a lift for Bryan. My instructions are to shut off everything that could hurt McKinley's administration. That is free silver.' I explained that the silver system here was not 16 to 1, and with seeming reluctance, he ordered the item.

The secret of the whole trouble, according to Mr. Collins, is that the government has left a small man to deal with the most delicate problems, requiring broad statesmanship.

"I wish the etiquette of officialdom might permit Dewey and Schurman to speak to McKinley and the public concerning Otis as freely as they have to newspaper men. Those two are the only men of the caliber of statesmen the government has sent here, weakness of believing that all other men, including Malays, were as sincere in what they said as himself.

"Otis is a bureaucrat who never leaves his desk, has never seen his soldiers in the field, and insists upon managing both the civil and military branches of the government, although either one could fully occupy a very able man, because he trusts no one but himself, and withal has a faculty for antagonizing everyone with whom he has to deal, as he has antagonized the newspaper men."

This clear and explicit statement of the situation in the Philippines, and of the manner in which the American public have been kept in ignorance of the facts, cannot but have weight with the public. It bears every evidence of truthfulness, and, moreover, it is corroborated in its judgment of the situation by other correspondents, not included among the signers of the "round robin," whose reports have recently been coming by mail.

Fishing for Health. When a man breaks down with that dread disease, consumption, and recognizes his condition, he starts out to fish for health. He tries this thing and that thing. He consults this doctor and that doctor. He indulges in all kinds of absurd athletic exercises. He tries the rest cure and then another. He tries the rest cure and the work cure. He grows steadily worse. That is the story of most consumptives. Finally, when the consumptive dies, the doctor shrugs his shoulders and pronounces consumption incurable. A thirty years' test of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has demonstrated that it cures 90 per cent of all cases of consumption, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease, before the lungs are too far wasted. In a consumptive there is a weaker spot than even the lungs. That spot is the stomach. A consumptive never really begins to die until his stomach gives out. The "Golden Medical Discovery" not only braces up the stomach, but acts directly on the lungs, healing them and driving out all impurities. Honest medicine dealers will not urge you to take an inferior substitute.

"I had a very bad cough, also night-sweats, and was almost in my grave with consumption," writes Mrs. Clara A. McLean, Box 21, Middleboro, Co., Mass. "A friend of mine had been with consumption some time and a friend had told me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and thank the Lord, I did so. By the time I had taken half of the bottle I felt much better. I kept on until I had taken three bottles. That was all I needed. I got well and strong again."
