A MUNICIPAL GIFT.

The Benedictine Father of Mt Angel Presented With Two Large Farms.

The Times Mountaineer of Sept. 30 says: Today Mr. Max Vogt and his sister, Mrs. Chapman deeded to the Benedictine Fathers at Mt. Angel, Marion county, their two large and valuable farms, one being located at Crates' point, down the river from The Dalles, the other situated on lower Fifteen-mile creek about 12 miles east of this city.

The farm on Fifteen-mile creek, which consists of almost 1,000 acres is one of the most valuable in the county and on this place will be built a home for the aged. Fine buildings will be erected to accommodate the inmates of the institution, while the farm will be run by the Benedictine Brothers. One of the priests of this order will reside there and be given charge of all the missions and country parishes which are at present under the care of the parish priest of The Dalles. This parish alone is all that one priest can attend to so that an assistant is needed badly to attend to the parishes throughout the interior as well as Hood River and Cascade Locks.

A branch college for boys and young men will be erected on the farm at Crates' point which is a model place for such an institution. There is sufficient land on the place to afford ample grounds for an institution of this kind, as well as farm land on which all kinds of fruit, vegetables and grain can be grown. The place is far enough from the city that boys will be in no danger of falling in with bad associates or contracting the evil habits that they might were they closer to the town, while on the other hand, it is but a half hour's drive from here.
