FIRST RACE

In the Yacht Contest.

AMERICAN BOAT LEADS IN START

Then the Shamrock Goes Ahead

Both Vessels are Becalmed and Neither Can Finish in the Time Limit--The Initial Trial Proves that there Will Be a Close Contest--The American Boat is a Great Sailer of the Seas.

Owing to the Spanish war there was no annual international yacht race in 1898. The stimulus to American maritime enterprise resulting from our naval victories created an unusual interest in the present contest for the International cup between Great Britain and the United States.

Sir Thomas Lipton built the Shamrock and came over to this country, backed by the greatest skill and experience in yacht building and sailing of which the British are capable. His hopes of success were based largely upon the prevalence of a stiff breeze, as British yacht builders do not hope to compete with our country successfully in a light wind.

The First Race.

New York, Oct. 3.—The first race for America's cup was had today. The Columbia crossed the starting line 25 seconds behind the Shamrock. When half the course was sailed the Columbia was nearly a quarter of a mile ahead. At 1:01 p. m. the Columbia leads by 2 minutes and 9 seconds.

1:52 p. m.—The Columbia seems to be standing much better than the Shamrock, but both are doing remarkably well. The Columbia has apparently gained about a half a minute since the stake boat was rounded.

A Close Contest.

2:25 p. m.—The Shamrock seems to have had a good lead over the Columbia as they were seen when they went about on the port tack.

2:30 p. m.—The Columbia now leads. They don't appear to be very far apart.

Going Ahead.

2:56 p. m.—The Columbia is losing ground and now seems almost becalmed, while the Shamrock is going ahead.

Running Against Time.

4:03 p. m. The most exciting feature of the contest is now the Shamrock's race against time to win. She seems to be making four miles an hour, but has five miles to go in 42 minutes.

English Boat Ahead.

At 3:47 p. m. the Shamrock is well in the lead.

Both Becalmed.

4:38 p. m.—Both boats are practically becalmed. Neither can finish within the time limit.

The Conclusion.

New York, Oct. 3.—The first race for the series for America's cup, between the Columbia and Shamrock, proved one of the most remarkable of any yet sailed for a great trophy.

Light breezes prevailed, varied in spots by a puff or two, and in turn both boats enjoyed the benefit and suffered from the change in position. Excursion boat interfered with the progress of the races, and in this respect the Columbia suffered the most.

The time limit of five and a half hours expired at 4:45. At that time both boats were three miles from the finish line. At 4:47 both yachts signalled for the tugs.

DEWEY'S WELCOME

At the Nation's Capital.

MCKINLEY PRESENTS THE SWORD

Awarded to the Admiral By Congress.

McKinley's Beautiful Speech of Presentation--Dewey's Reply--It Will Be Kept as an Heirloom By the Dewey Family--The Vast Crowd Cheered and Dewey Stood up and Bared in Response to the Ovation.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The magnificent sword awarded by the act of congress to nation's hero was bestowed upon Admiral Dewey today in the presence of the president and members of his cabinet and judiciary, and officers of the army and navy and a vast crowd of people.

The start from Mrs. McLean's residence was made at 10 o'clock. Accompanied by an escort of 20 police and the committee and headed by the marine band Admiral was driven to white house through the cheering crowds.

Only a few minutes elapsed before the Admiral reappeared with the President and took seats in the white house carriage. As the carriages swept briskly into Pennsylvania avenue, there was a blare of bugle commands, clash of bands and the great procession started.

At the head of the line rode Major General Miles. Back of him rank after rank were the military aides, and all the officers of high rank. The brilliant colored marine band added color and inspiring music to the gay scene and following them came every describable kind of a soldier, sailor and marine, mounted and afoot, infantry and cavalry, battery after battery of light artillery.

"All that had gone before was but a brilliant prelude of the coming of the man of Manila, who rode with the president on the way to the capital, to receive the nation's tribute. Mr. McKinley raised his hat only occasionally, leaving the Admiral to acknowledge the plaudits of the multitude by lifting his chequon.

The avenue rang with deafening cheers and the huge banks of humanity took on life and motion, as the flags and handkerchiefs waved wildly. The parade wound around the hill to the East front of the capitol, half an hour a head of time. The waiting crowd uncovered and the President and Admiral promptly did the same as they passed rapidly into the lobby of the senate.

He ended by introducing secretary Long, who standing bareheaded addressed his remarks directly to Admiral Dewey. As Secretary Long concluded he passed a sword to President McKinley. The latter rose and faced the Admiral.

Dewey was visibly affected and brushed his gloved hand across his eyes before standing at attention. The president said:

"Admiral Dewey, demonstrations which have everywhere greeted you reveal the public esteem of your heroic actions. The voice of the nation is lifted in praise and gratitude for the memorable services you have rendered the country, in which I join with all my heart.

There was no flaw in your victory, there will be no faltering in maintaining

it. It gives me extreme pleasure and great honor in behalf of all people to hand you this sword, the gift of the nation, voted by the congress of the United States.

The President handed the admiral the sword with a deep bow and there was a roar of applause as Dewey received it. The crowd was hushed as he turned to reply. He said:

"I thank you Mr. President for the great honor conferred upon me. I thank congress for what it has done. I thank the secretary of the navy for his gracious words. I thank my countrymen for the beautiful gift which shall be an heirloom in my family forever as evidence that republics are not ungrateful."

The band played the "Star Spangled Banner" and then Cardinal Gibbons pronounced the benediction. The crowd cheered as the party took their seats, Dewey rising with bare head to respond to the ovation. A prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Bristol, Ross Perry then made the introductory address.

STEAMER ASHORE

CREW ADRIFT

ST. JAMES, N. F., Oct. 3.—The steamer Bay State is ashore near Cape Race and will likely prove a total wreck. The crew and a number of cattle men who were passengers are adrift in small boats, which are lost in the fog.

Accidentally Shot.

JEFFERSON, Or., Oct. 3.—The first accident of the "open season" occurred Sunday. While hunting Mongolian pheasants in a field just north of this city, the gun of Ben Blackwell was accidentally discharged, the entire load striking his brother, James Blackwell, in the right foot. The young man was conveyed to his home and an examination found the bones so badly shattered that amputation of the greater part of the foot was necessary.

Rigorous Censorship.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—A special dispatch from Pretoria says:

"A rigorous censorship is maintained over all press telegrams. President Kruger addressed the troops which started for the Natal border Saturday, appealing to their patriotism and wishing them Godspeed. Fighting is expected by Wednesday."

The general drift of news indicates that the position of the British troops in South Africa is critical, owing to the delay in sending reinforcements, and in the event of hostilities, early reverses are regarded as probable. The latest advices show that the Transvaal mobilization has been rapid and comprehensive. Many Boers, it is said, did not wait to be commanded, but proceeded to the border spontaneously. It is calculated that the Orange Free State already has 7,000 men on the border.

Boers May Strike a Blow Today--Kruger Bids Troops Farewell and God Speed--He Appeals to their Patriotism--Americans Will Be Protected By the Cruiser Montgomery--Rear Admiral Schley Will also Be Stationed There.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—A dispatch from Durban, Natal, announces that the Boers are expected to take the aggressive today. Most alarming rumors are afloat there respecting their intentions.

The British government is chartering a large number of steamers, evidently for the purpose of transporting an army corps. About 40 vessels are to be chartered.

No confirmation is obtainable from any source of the report contained in a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company that the Boers have captured Dundee.

Will Protect American Interests.

New York, Oct. 3.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: Immediately upon the outbreak of hostilities between the Transvaal and Great Britain instructions will be sent to Commander John P. Merrell, commanding the cruiser Montgomery, directing him to proceed with his vessel to Delagoa Bay and provide such protection for American citizens and their interests as is possible.

Should war occur not only will the Montgomery be stationed in South African waters, but Rear-Admiral Schley, with his flagship, will be present to aid the consul in every possible way in protecting Americans and their interests.

Iron Molders Strike.

By Associated Press to the Journal.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3.—Thirty-seven of Pittsburgh's big foundries are idle today. The molders are on a strike for an increase in wages. It is estimated that 1000 men will go out. Ten firms have granted the advance, and their plants will continue in operation.
