TRIPLETS AND TWINS.

Oregon Products Travel on the Same Train for Salem.

Salem offered the unusual sight of a trio of triplets and a pair of twins taking the same train today—the new Oregon express. Misses Dora and Marion Myers of Scio, who have been the guests of Mrs. Theo. Roth, left for home today. The young ladies are twins and Col. Jeff Myers is very proud of them.

On the same train traveled Mrs. John Wyatt, and her three children, triplets aged twelve—two boys and a girl—all handsome children who left for their home near Corvallis. The young ladies are school teachers and the triplets attended one of the district schools of Benton county.

At the Read.
A New York company presented "A Breath of Promise" last night to a good audience. The orchestra under Prof. Giesner had a great deal of life and snap. The company's imitation of Sousa's band was excellent. The play from a musical and dramatic point of view is a success and the play is well adapted to such a homely lot of people.

The next attraction is "A Genuine Yentleman," by Ben Hendricks. He is a good comedian, has a good troupe and has presented Ole Oleson and Yon Yonson at Salem.

In the Supreme Court.
State of Oregon, respondent, vs. Jake Andrews, appellant; appeal from Wasco county. Argued and submitted.

DIED.

KILNESMITH.—At the Oregon Insane asylum, Salem, Or., Monday, October 16, 1899, at 9 p. m., Nettie Kilnesmith, aged 21 years.

FLEMING.—At her home, corner of Center and Cottage streets in this city, at 4:30 p. m. Oct. 16th, Ida, wife of R. H. Fleming, aged 44 years.

Ida E. Hollenbe was born in Greensburg, Indiana, August 2, 1855, and there she became the wife of Robert Fleming, on March 24th, 1872. For two years thereafter they lived in Omaha, Neb., going from there to Carson City, Neb., where they resided until 1877, when they moved to Portland, Or. Mr. and Mrs. Fleming have been residents of Salem since 1880, Mr. Fleming being vice-president and manager of the Northwest State Foundry Co.

Mrs. Fleming was a member of the Congregational church, and one of the leading society ladies of the city. She has been suffering for several months from a nervous trouble which finally caused her death.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence by Rev. W. C. Kantner, at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday, Oct. 18th, and burial will take place in the Odd Fellows cemetery.
