In watch repairing, and the skillful repairer is close akin to the manufacturer. I combine both. If you have a fine or common watch, and any part is broken or lost I can replace it. You may have a watch that you think can't be made to keep good time; it may be because you have never placed it in skillful hands. If so, let me see it. I can do it. UNCLE SAM'S HONESTY.

After Chasing Company K Half Way Around the World.

A Fifty-Cent Money Order Is Repaid to the Sender—the City Recorder of Salem.

Here is a good illustration of the absolute accuracy and painstaking honesty with which the United States government conducts its business dealings.

Last year a purse was made up in Salem for Company K, of the Oregon volunteers in the Philippines, for the purchase of little luxuries for the sick and wounded, etc.

Among the contributors was a boy named Clyde or Claude, who handed 50 cents to City Recorder Judah, for the fund.

It was too late, however, as the purse had already been turned over, so Mr. Judah bought a P. O. money order, and mailed it to Capt. Worrick at San Francisco. Failing to catch him there it was forwarded to the Philippines, and eventually followed him back to San Francisco, the result being that the cash never found its way into Capt. Worrick's hands.

But the government didn't want to keep it, and Mr. Judah received some tracer blanks, which he filled out, as sender, and turned over to the department, and he has just received a draft on the United States sub-treasury for the amount of fifty cents.

He does not remember the full name of the boy who gave him the money, but if the young man will show up, the city recorder will not be out-done by Uncle Sam.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

The Convention of the Workers of the Salem District.

Tuesday evening the Sunday school workers of Salem finished up the work of a very interesting and profitable convention.

Three sessions have been held, two evenings and one afternoon, and a thorough organization has been completed.

The officers elected are: President J. S. Foster; vice-president, N. J. Damon; secretary, Miss Lenora Kirk; treasurer, John H. Scott; members of the executive committee to act with the regular officers, S. C. Raleton and Miss Jeannette Meredith.

The meeting Monday evening was held in the parlors of the First Presbyterian church, where addresses were delivered by President Robert Reed of the county association, and N. J. Damon.

Mr. Damon's address was thoughtful and exhaustive and by request he repeated it Tuesday evening and the ideas advanced were largely adopted by the convention in formulating its plan of work.

The second session was held at the Congregational church Tuesday afternoon, and was devoted to the discussion of the Primary work.

At the evening session at the First M. E. church, addresses were delivered by Rev. Ronald McKillop, Rev. Winans, Mrs. Hammer, Miss Mary Ketchum and Prof. E. H. Anderson.

A committee, consisting of N. J. Damon, H. S. Gile, and the superintendents of the Sunday-schools of the city, was appointed to commence active operations at once for the revival of Sunday school work, and the city will be thoroughly canvassed as fast as the work can be done.

Collision.

By Associated Press to the Journal.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 25.—Owing to the thick fog a steam barge ran full speed into the White Star steamer, Germanic, this morning. The Germanic is seriously damaged. The barge is uninjured.

NOT JUSTIFIABLE.

Asked as to Perry's reputation as a peaceful citizen he answered: "He wasn't a peaceful citizen! He was the worst man I ever saw." Witness was afraid of Perry, himself. Thought he had got what he deserved.

Dr. Byrd was called, and told of the wounds found at the post mortem examination. One wound went through the left arm and through the third rib, through the left lung and into the right.

Another ball had entered between the fifth and sixth ribs and through the heart. One ball entered back of the hip and passed through the intestines. These were fatal wounds, and the second would ordinarily be instantaneously fatal. Another ball had passed through the left arm, and there was an abrasion of the skin, indicating the grazing of a fifth ball. It could not be told for a certainty in what position the body was when the wounds were received, in relation to the person doing the shooting.

Dr. J. N. Smith described the wounds and said that neither one would be instantaneously fatal.

Dr. C. H. Robertson also described the wounds. All wounds were apparently from the same direction.

District Attorney S. L. Hayden was present to look out for the interest of the state. He examined the witness, Stephens, searching, but seemed to have a desire only to bring out the real truth.

The examination of witnesses was concluded a couple of minutes before 12, and the jury soon afterwards adjourned until 1:30 for lunch.

At 2 o'clock the jury finished its work and handed its findings to Coroner Clough. The essence of the findings is that the deceased came to his death from "three gunshot wounds, any one of which was fatal. We further find that said gunshot wounds were inflicted by the hands of Joseph Willard, and that the killing was not justifiable.

This verdict was a surprise to most of the people, as the general sentiment on the street seemed to be that Willard was justified in shooting.

Following the provisions of the code, Coroner Clough, forthwith laid the findings of the jury before Justice of Peace Johnson and swore out a complaint against Joseph Willard charging him with murder in the first degree. A warrant was then issued by Justice Johnson for Willard's arrest, and the preliminary examination will take place as soon as the attorneys are ready, probably tomorrow.

The attorneys on both sides of the case went out this afternoon to the scene of the tragedy to look over the ground and familiarize themselves with the lay of the land.
