THE TAX LIST.

Its Preparation an Immense Task and Its Accuracy of Great Pecuniary Value.

Few who look over the sheriff's notice of tax sale, which goes with this issue of THE JOURNAL, will have any idea of the amount of work that has been expended in getting up the list, which occupies over 22 columns of fine type.

It has been found heretofore, in attempting to sell property for delinquent taxes, that there were few bidders, and very few pieces of property would be bid in for the amount of the taxes; consequently the taxes have not been paid.
The reason has been attributed to faulty descriptions in the published notice of sale, which would not agree with the recorded descriptions of the property.

In the last delinquent tax sale there were about 1,300 different pieces of property advertised. Of these, only about 100 could be recommended as safe investments, on account of defects in the descriptions, and as a matter of fact, only about 175 pieces were actually sold, for that reason.

This year the officers of the county determined that they would not fall down on this point, and Frank Waters and A.
A. Lee, of the Salem Abstract Company, were employed to prepare a correct list of the property on which taxes were delinquent.

The work was commenced on June 14, and has been steadily prosecuted ever since, as many as four and five people being sometimes employed on it, and it was finished just before THE JOURNAL went to press last Thursday.

It has been necessary to do this work mostly during the night, in order to get the use of the tax rolls while not needed by the sheriff for tax collection.
This has greatly increased the amount of labor involved and made the work more difficult and trying.

The description of every piece of property on the list has been corrected and verified from the records and the deeds themselves, and the published description is verbatim in literatin, word for word and letter for letter, like the deed which last conveyed the property.

This has been an immense task, as can be readily seen by examination of the list. Not the slightest deviation from an absolute copy has been allowed to creep in; and the result is that a sale under this publication will be lawful and valid.

This absolute accuracy and elimination of error has been rendered possible only by the set of abstracts belonging to the gentlemen who have done the work, taken in conjunction with their long experience in the abstract business and their familiarity with the title and ownership of nearly every piece of land in Marion county.

Sheriff Durbin is highly pleased with the position in which he finds himself in his ability to enforce the collection of these taxes.

The expense of the work will be repaid many fold by the money that will be paid in on taxes which otherwise would never have been paid. No ought-to-be tax-payers will this year sit back and laugh in his sleeve because his property can not be sold on a defective published description. And every honest taxpayer will find his burden lightened by the enforcement of all collections.

An Alleged Hold-up.
Monday evening a stranger giving his name as J. H. Smith called at the Red Corner drug store bringing a badly cut nose and claiming to have been assaulted near Wade's store in North Salem.
He said he had been cutting railroad-wood near Marion and walked to Salem, arriving in the afternoon with about $50 in his pocket. After visiting a saloon, where he displayed some money, he went out toward Wade's store in search of a lodging house to which he had been directed, and when at a dark place on the route, he was assaulted by two men and struck in the face with some weapon which made a bad flesh wound on his nose. He made an outcry and his assaulters fled without securing his money, after which he returned to town and had his injuries attended to.
