Mrs. Frank O'Brien has returned to Albany after a visit with Salem friends.

SUSTAIN HOPGROWERS

Attend the Convention Tuesday and Uphold the Industrial Movement

Letters From Growers Who Have Joined the Association "Let Every Grower Unite"

THE JOURNAL believes in association and co-operation to protect the producer. Unless the growers of hops can be protected to the point where there is a reasonable profit to the grower above the labor-cost of production the industry is ruinous to those who engage in it.

The convention at Salem Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. should be attended by every man, woman and child who can feel or understand the necessity of resisting the crushing force of combined capital that has been brought to her against the unorganized hop producer. It is a crop that is especially exposed to destructive manipulation. To resist this destructive force grinding the life out of this industry is the purpose of the organization.

Concluded on Third Page.

Otis Smith, Harry Lucas, Clair O'Flynn, Charley Reynolds, Clinton Reynolds and Carl Reynolds.

A CLOSE CALL.
The Genial Agent of the O. C. T. Co., Attacked By Heart Trouble.
M. P. Baldwin, local agent for the O. C. T. Co. this morning suffered an attack of heart trouble which placed him in a precarious condition for a time. He went down to the dock about 6:45 and was alone in the office when he was taken with a severe pain in the region of the heart.

He could not get his breath, and suffered intensely some fifteen or twenty minutes before any one arrived. Medical assistance was then summoned, restorative administered and he was removed to his home on Front street. Mr. Baldwin is on duty again this afternoon but still suffering some pain in his left side.

Cider for the Holidays.
Having just received a car of Southern Oregon Apples, am prepared to fill all orders for cider, G. Stolz. Phone 421.

WHAT IS THE MATTER?
A Washington Special Has This On Tongue's Fight for Committee Place.
Pending the announcement of the house committees, there is a struggle on between Oregon and California for one of the two vacancies on rivers and harbors. It is generally conceded that one place will go to the Atlantic and the other to the Pacific coast, and the latter is the one causing such a fight.

Waters, of Los Angeles, is the California man contending for the place against Tongue, and he has a strong backing, with a fair chance of success. If Tongue wins out, it will be against odds. Up to the time congress met it was understood that the vacancy was assigned to Tongue, but when Waters came on the scene he put forth his claim, with his followers, and the air has been warm ever since.

AT FRIEDMAN'S NEW RACKET

The salesman and women were kept on a rush since the announcement of the great reduction sale for the purpose of making room for the spring stock. It does not take the Salem public long to find out a genuine sale. It is astonishing to see how many jackets the ladies took away and capes at almost half their value. The only thing that Friedman's New Racket had to purchase was trunks and valises as invariably the customers would pack the trunks and valises full of goods before leaving the store. This great reduction sale will continue until we go east for the spring purchase. Meantime we must empty our shelves and counters. Those in want of clothing come in and hear what our suit says to you, hear our overcoat talk, see what our winter says to you, hear what our ladies capes and jackets will say to you, see our ladies' furnishing goods department, look at our prices on men's furnishing, hear our towels talk to you, our ladies' and men's mackintoshes will say, take them away. Our notion department we prove immense bargains to you. Our lace and embroidery will show you that we mean business. Come while the assortment is good. You will find that Friedman's New Racket is the bargain house of Salem.
