L. W. Stone,
Anita, Iowa, served his country during the late war at the expense of his health. The story concerning his restoration to health is given below in his own words:

"When I returned from the army my constitution was broken down. I suffered extreme nervousness, and indigestion. Physicians did not help me until one prescribed Dr. Miles' Nervine, and today I am in better health than I have been for thirty years."

FINANCIAL BILL.

Conclusion of the Debate Saturday Over Gold Standard Law.

Democrats Cut Off From Offering Free Silver Amendment—Lentz's Severe Structures.

De Armond (Dem. Mo.) closed the debate on the Democratic side. He called attention to the fact that only one section of the bill had been read and no opportunity given to amend it. He declared it was the opinion of the minority side that the bill was designed to create a huge, far-reaching and all-perverting bank trust. He had intended to offer an amendment, but the section to which would apply had not been reached. He had it read at the clerk's desk. It provided that it should be unlawful for any bank, under its provisions, to combine with any other bank for the purpose of increasing or restricting the coin in circulation, credit or interest. That amendment, De Armond said, if adopted might help to prevent the fruition of the scheme in this bill. In this bill the government would issue no more money, its issue was to be turned over by it to the banks so long as they operated the power in the interest of themselves and the Republican party.

The scenes attending the close of the debate were exciting and dramatic. When De Armond concluded, but 20 minutes remained before the debate was to close under the rule.

Richardson, the minority leader, protested against what he assumed to be the purpose of the Republicans to take that time to close the debate. He demanded the regular order. Thereupon, Grosvenor got the floor for five minutes, which he occupied in taunting the Democrats for their evident desire to abandon free silver at 16 to 1. During the day's debate, he said the house had heard no arguments for free silver, and he humorously hailed it as a sign of the coming regeneration of the party. In conclusion, he said that out of the debate had come and settled conviction on both sides of the house that the enactment of the pending measure would put into law the policy which had governed and guided the country for nearly 30 years.

Free Silver Substitute.

Richardson indignantly denied Grosvenor's assertion of the proposed abandonment of the issue of free silver. He said that if the gentleman from Ohio had followed the debate he must have heard some strong speeches in favor of free silver. He called attention to the fact that but one section of the bill had been read, and charged that the special order, which did not permit the offering of a substitute or a motion to recommit had been framed for the special purpose of preventing the offering of a free-silver substitute.

"Does the gentleman desire to offer such a substitute?" asked Overstreet (rep. Ind.).

"The rule was framed to prevent one from doing so, and the debate has been deliberately conducted with the same end in view," responded Richardson.

The Republicans laughed derisively as Grosvenor went on to characterize Richardson's covert charge as a cheap attempt at political capital, which was beneath the dignity of a great party. He inveighed against the hypocrisy of the other side. "You tied our hands," said he, "in the beginning. This bill is a bill to establish the gold standard and break down bimetalism forever. The free coinage of silver is not involved."

Then Dalzell (Rep. Pa.) took the floor, and in half a minute the house was in a

TAPE WORMS

"A tape worm eighteen feet long is just such a nuisance as you are taking to your stomach. This is not a joke. It is a fact. For the past three years, I am still taking Cascarets. The only certain way of getting rid of them is by using Cascarets."

He pointed out that any Democrat could have demanded the reading of the bill, and alluding to Richard's charge of hypocrisy, he asked the speaker as he said: "I hurl back this charge. You do not do it," he shouted, shaking his finger defiantly at the other side, "not one of you dares or would dare, if you had the opportunity, to offer a free-coinage amendment and risk a vote upon it. No gentleman on the other side is such a leader that he would dare expect to rally his cohorts upon that proposition."

A dozen Democrats jumped to their feet as Dalzell concluded. Bailey, Richardson, Sulzer, and Williams, of Mississippi, were all clamoring for recognition, but Hepburn (Rep., Ia.) who was in the chair, recognized Dooliver (Rep., Ia.). The Iowa looked across the aisle when order had been restored.

"Before I begin," said he, blandly, "I will agree to yield the floor to any gentleman on the other side desiring to offer a free-silver amendment."

Almost half the Democratic side seemed to rise en masse. Bailey was foremost. "I ask it," said Bailey. "I ask it," shouted others amid wild cheers on the Democratic side. "Does any of us ask the privilege?" cried Williams. "We Challenge you for the opportunity."

ly a year to subdue one small fraction of one small tribe. Is that the source of their prosperity? Is your Egan pensioned off for being reduced, degraded and dishonored? Is your best trust, that entered 4,800 men, while the Spaniards only killed 350? Is that the source of your prosperity? (Applause on the Democratic side.) Is your humiliation and subordination of the man who won the most magnificent naval victory that the world has ever seen, Winfield Scott Schley (applause on the Democratic side), is that the source of your prosperity? Is your subordination of Brooke and Miles and Merritt, the men who had been trained, together with their associates, at an expense of millions of dollars to this country and putting of politicians in the army saddle, is that the cause of your prosperity? (Applause on the Democratic side.) You will learn to be ashamed of your record."

The house was then, at 5:05 o'clock, declared adjourned until Monday, under the terms of the special order.

Salt Lake City—An Important Factor in Transcontinental Travel.

No one crossing the continent can afford to cut Salt Lake City from his route. The attraction of the place, including the Mormon Temple, Tabernacle and Church institutions, the Great Salt Lake—leader and dancer than the Dead Sea in the Holy Land—the picturesque environment and the Warm Springs and Hot Springs, are greater to the square yard than any locality on the American continent.

The Rio Grande Western Railway, connecting on the East with the Denver & Rio Grande and Colorado Midland Railways and on the West with the Southern Pacific (Central Route) and Oregon Short Line, is the only transcontinental line passing directly through Salt Lake City. The route through Salt Lake City via the Rio Grande Western Railway is famous all the year round. On account of the equable climate of Utah and Colorado it is just as popular in winter as in summer. Send to J. D. Hancock, 233 Washington St., Portland, or to W. Heintz, Acting General Passenger Agent, Salt Lake City, for a copy of "Salt Lake City—the City of the Saints."

A LIFE SAVED.

Dr. J. F. Cook, the Botanical Specialist, Succeeds Where Other Fail.

To whom it may concern: This is to certify that Bertha E. Connor, of Mt. Angel, Oregon, Marion county, Oregon, has suffered from a cancerous growth in the left ear for about three years. The growth was cut out twice and burned out once by Albany Physicians, but the growth grew back as bad as ever, and pained her so badly that she had to be taken from school. After three weeks' treatment by Dr. J. F. Cook, of Salem, Oregon, the Botanical Specialist, the growth entirely disappeared, and at this date, four months since treatment was begun, the growth has not reappeared, and the ear has entirely healed, leaving only the scars testified by the Albany doctors.

I hereby certify that the above statement is absolutely true, and that Bertha E. Connor, the patient mentioned in the affidavit, has resided in my family since early childhood, bearing the relationship to me of niece.
