A MURDEROUS POLITICAL PLOT

Attempted Assassination of Gobel Proves to Be Nothing More

GOV TAYLOR ADJOURNS THE LEGISLATIVE SESSION

And Gobel Members are Driven Through the Streets By Armed Troops

Political Prejudice Runs Riot and the Worst is Feared -- Court of Appeals Adjourns Indefinitely, Its Members Have Been Threatened

By Associated Press to the Journal. FRANKFORT, Jan. 31.—Gov. Taylor this morning issued a proclamation adjourning the legislature and calling it to meet in London, Ky., Feb. 6. He gives as a reason for this action the state of insurrection prevailing in Kentucky, and especially in Frankfort. The Democratic members of the legislature have declined to accept the adjournment, and not being permitted to assemble at the capitol then decided to meet in the opera house. This was then prevented by the troops, who also chased members through the streets, and also prevented them from meeting at the court house.

The Republican members of the legislature will leave at once for London, pursuant to Governor Taylor's instructions for the legislature to meet there next Tuesday.

The court of appeals has indefinitely adjourned refusing to sit while the militia is here.

One reason is the fact that letters have been received from Middleboro stating that Appellate Judges Hazlerigg and Hobson were also to have been killed yesterday.

It is not expected that Goebel will survive the afternoon. His fever has increased, and the doctors have about given up all hopes.

Martial law has been declared in Frankfort, to begin at 6 o'clock this morning, and the session of the legislature, at which the Democrats are determined to seat Goebel, as governor, will be stopped by the military. One of the highest officers with the troops said:

men gathered in front of the door on the east side. Others ran around to the door on the west side to prevent the escape of anybody from there. Several men attempted to enter the doors from the outside, but were prevented by groups of mountaineers, who stood in doorways. Some of these men held Winchester in their hands, and presented an aspect so generally uninviting that no attempt was made to search the building, and nobody gained an entrance to it for several minutes after the shooting had been done and the assassin had an ample opportunity to escape.

That the shooting of Goebel was the result of a carefully laid plan is without question. The man who did the work had evidently taken his stand at a window, which had previously been raised in order to allow a free passage of the bullet, and waited until his victim was in full sight before firing.

Ever since the influx of the mountaineers, last week, a large number of them have been sleeping in the upper part of the state house. It is not known, however, that any of these men did the work or that they had any knowledge of the premeditated crime. There has not, so far, been discovered the slightest direct evidence pointing to any man, and it is not likely now that any will ever be found. The man who fired the shot took the precaution to conceal his location by using smokeless powder cartridges.

Both Chinn and Lillard are men of experience in affairs in which powder smoke is a more or less prominent feature, and both declare that while they could tell the general direction from which the bullets came, they could not guess the spot from which they were fired.

Orders were issued to companies throughout the state to make ready at once to come to Frankfort, the entire state guard being called into service. It was feared that the news of the shooting would so inflame the Democrats that they would come to Frankfort in swarms, while the mountaineers would loose no time in coming to the capitol for the purpose of upholding their party principles.

Senator-Elect Blackburn, who was in Washington, was informed of the shooting through the long-distance telephone, and sent back a message urging the Democrats to remain quiet and take no rash action of any sort.

While William Goebel lay at the point of death last night, the contesting board, which for two weeks had been listening to the evidence in his contest for the governor's chair, declared him entitled to the seat.

The selection of London as a meeting place for the legislature is significant. It is right in the heart of the country from which hail the mountaineers, who have come down to Frankfort. The county is one of the strongest Republican counties in the state. Democrats say their lives would not be safe one day if they go into that county. None of them will go.

No progress has been made toward apprehending the party who shot Goebel. The police have practically abandoned the case. This morning a thousand men with two gatling guns were stationed in the capitol building. At present the city is quiet and there are no surface indications of trouble from any source. It is largely due to the conservative attitude assumed by the leading politicians of both parties that there has not been fighting on the streets of Frankfort. Governor Taylor and his attorneys remained all night in the state house. Threats have been made against all of them, and it was thought the wisest thing for them to remain where they were until the excitement has somewhat abated.

This morning not a member of the legislature knew whether or not that body would be permitted to meet in the capitol building. They decided, however, to march in a body to the capitol, Clerk Lee, of the house, with representatives Kilday and Lewis, formed an advance guard and presented themselves at the south gate of the capitol. No soldier was visible outside the building, but inside long lines of infantry were drawn upon each side of the hall, with bayonets fixed.

Col. Williams in command of the troops handed a copy of the governor's proclamation to each member of the house as they passed in. When the main body of legislators came tramping through the doorway they were stopped by soldiers and not allowed to proceed up stairs. Loud cries and exclamations filled the air, and Col. Williams mounting half way up stairs, read the proclamation in a loud voice.

Loud cries of indignation from Democrats followed the reading of the proclamation. Some one shouted:

"We are dealing with a peck of heathens and hounds, let's go to the opera house." Shouts of approval greeted the proposal and down the broad steps streamed the crowd.

A few quick orders were given, and away toward the opera house rushed the legislators. When the law makers arrived at the front of the opera house, it was occupied by a panting line of soldiers with fixed bayonets. Speaker Trimble demanded entrance to the hall. It was refused.

Trimble then addressed the crowd: "Gentlemen: We are denied admission to the opera house. We will now adjourn to the court house."

Away went the crowd with good-natured yells of derision at the soldiers who had orders to remain at the opera house and could not leave. The triumph of the law makers was short lived. Before they had gone 100 feet, around the corner swung a second company of soldiers directly in their path.

The second heat of the race was now on, and away went dignified senators and representatives down the street in a cloud of dust yelling like a pack of Indians. Alongside ran the soldiers. It was the same story over again, and the legislators were permitted to look at the outside of the court house, while the soldiers held the path.

General Collier had arrived by this time, and Speaker Trimble, advancing from the crowd, said:

"Don't shoot, general."

"I am not going to create any trouble. I won't shoot unless I have to," was the reply.

Trimble announced, "The legislature will now adjourn subject to my call." The crowd dispersed. It was decided by the military authorities that if another attempt at meeting was made, to arrest all concerned in the gathering.

"We wish to be admitted to the court house," said Trimble.

"It cannot be done, gentlemen," said General Collier. Goebel is slowly sinking and may die any moment.

Strange British Movements.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—It is now known that the cabinet devoted much of its discussions Saturday to the mobilization of the fleet. Nothing was settled, except that until further security to the home coasts had been obtained by naval preparations, the Eighth division shall not be sent to South Africa.

Monday, the admiralty issued orders that the channel squadron, instead of leaving Portland this week for Gibraltar, as previously directed, shall assemble, February 5, of Eddystone, and proceed to Bantry, for a fortnight exercise off the Irish coast, thus keeping in home waters for a time.

This decision to delay the Eighth division at a time when reinforcements

We filed down in perfect order. The enemy is holding thanksgiving services tonight. Our surgeons who ascended the hill were allowed to remove the wounded. The scene at the top of the hill was fearful, and a terrible witness of the destructiveness of artillery."

THE PLAGUE IN HAWAII

Forty-one Deaths Have Occurred, and Fifty-seven Cases Reported.

By Associated Press to the Journal. SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—The steamer Australia, which arrived today, reports that up to the time of her departure from Honolulu, 41 deaths from the plague had occurred and a total of 57 cases.

Hawaiian Bill Completed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The Hawaiian bill has been practically completed. The chief charges are the striking out of any and all property qualifications for electors to the senate. This eliminates the supervision given to the supreme court of Hawaii over the election in the senate and house, which makes each the judge of its own elections. The omission of the property qualifications for electors is in the interests of the natives.

The Clark Case.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The investigating committee in the Clark case has adjourned until Friday.

The Republican leaders of the house have practically agreed against a free trade policy in Porto Rico and the Philippines.
