THOMAS KAY GONE

Passed Away at a Portland Hospital
Friday Evening.

A Prominent Citizen and an Energetic Business Man—Funeral Sunday From Baptist Church.

After a brave struggle for life, Thomas Kay passed away at 8 o'clock Friday evening at St. Vincent's hospital in Portland, where he had been under treatment for some weeks. A surgical operation had been performed on April 12th, since which the patient had steadily grown weaker.

The Woolen Mills were closed down last evening on receipt of the news of Mr. Kay's death, and the Woolen Mill store is also closed.

The Salem Woolen Mills will remain shut down until some time Monday.
Deceased made his will at Salem about three weeks ago before going to Portland.

BIOGRAPHY OF THOMAS KAY.

Thos. Kay was born at Applebridge, Yorkshire, England, in June, 1837. He was descended from a long line of woolen manufacturers, and he was early trained in the industry, and at the age of 9 years began systematically to learn the trade at Shipley, where he spent two years in the spinning department and six years in learning the process and methods of weaving in every branch of worsted manufacture. In 1857 he came to America and turned his attention to the manufacture of woolen goods, finding employment at Cazenovia, New York. At the end of one year he returned to England to perfect himself in the manufacture of woolen goods, and again visited the United States in 1859. He secured a position with the Smith Woolen Manufacturing Company, at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, but afterward was employed at Trenton and Newark. In 1863 the officers of the Brownville Woolen Mill in Oregon sent for him to come and take charge of their weaving department; he accepted the offer and came to this state upon a three years' contract. Upon the burning of the factory in 1865 he was released, when he took a position of superintendent of The Dallas Woolen Mill; at the end of a year he went to the Ashland Woolen Mills, where he remained for four years as superintendent.
He then came to Salem and took charge of the weaving department of the Willamette Woolen Mill, built in 1850. Upon the rebuilding of the Brownville mill in 1873, Mr. Kay left the building and operated the mill for a term of two years. At the end of that time he organized the Brownville Woolen Mill Company, purchased the mill and machinery, and continued its business; he was superintendent and was also a member of the board of directors, J. M. Moyer being president.
This business was conducted very successfully until 1888, when a disagreement arose in the firm and the business was sold out.

Mr. Kay then took an extensive trip abroad, the first long vacation he had given himself in thirty years; he was accompanied by his wife and after a most pleasurable tour returned to Salem.
Here the citizens offered him a cash bonus of $20,000 if he would build a $100,000 mill in the city. The proposition was accepted, and in August, 1889, he began the construction of the building; he purchased four acres with a fine water power on Mill creek, convenient to the railroad. Then visiting Eastern cities he made an inspection of large factories, and bought his machinery at Lawrence, Mass., including all the latest improvements. This mill burned down in 1890, but was at once rebuilt on a larger and grander scale, and is today the leading woolen factory on the Pacific coast.

Mr. Kay organized the Waterloo Development Company, which corporation purchased the Oakland Hosiery Mill, one of the largest on the coast; this mill was removed to Waterloo, where the company owned valuable water power and was operated in connection with the land development; it had a capacity of 300 hands, and was opened and put in operation in the summer of 1892, turning out hosiery and all kinds of knitted underwear. This, perhaps, was the greatest and most promising undertaking of Mr.
Kay's life, and one in which he had great confidence. The mill was burned a few years ago.

Deceased was married in the old Cor-veth church near Leeds, England, in April 1857, to Miss Ann Slingby, who, with five children, survives to mourn his demise. Ten children were born to a union.

them, five of whom had preceded their father to the better land. Those surviving are: Mrs. Fanny Bishop, wife of Salem's mayor; Thomas B. Kay, assistant manager of the Salem Woolen Mills; Mrs. Elizabeth Coshov, of Roseburg; Miss Lenora Kay and Miss Bertha Kay, of Salem. A sister, Mrs. Sarah Cordingly also resides here.

Mr. Kay was, during all of his connection with the Salem Woolen Mills, president and manager of the company, and was one of Salem's most enterprising citizens. He served the city several times as councilman, and was highly respected, and implicitly trusted by all. He was a member Brownville Lodge and encampment of Odd Fellows, a member of the Masonic fraternity, and a Knight Templar. Deceased was a devoted member of the First Baptist church of this city.

For several years Mr. Kay has been a victim of bladder trouble. Last fall he went to California in hopes that the change would do him good, where he also received medical treatment. Obtaining no relief, he returned home, since which time his health has continued to fail, until he decided to go to the hospital in Portland and submit to an operation. But the shock was too great; his digestive system failed to recover, and he since refused to perform its functions, with the result that the patient has lost strength until death ensued.

The remains were brought to this city on the 11 o'clock train and taken to the late residence of the deceased, at the corner of State and 12th streets.

A large gathering of friends was assembled at the train when the remains arrived.

The pallbearers at the train were Sir Knights Geo. B. Gray, Frank Turner and Milton Meyers, of De Molay Commandery, and S. Ralstrick, Thos.
Altport and E. Sawyer, employees of the Woolen Mills. Funeral Director Rigdon took charge of the remains and they were laid in state at the home of the late deceased.

The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock Sunday from the First Baptist church, Rev. Ronald McKillop officiating, and will be charge of De Molay Commandery, Knights Templar. He will be laid to rest in the Rural cemetery, by the side of his deceased son, Harry G. Kay.

The list of pallbearers has not been completed, but E. P. McCormack, Geo.
B. Gray and J. K. Weatherford have been selected.

"I Would Not Have Catarrh for a Million Dollars," Says Mrs. Carter—Pe-ru-na her Safeguard.

MRS. LESLIE CARTER, THE GREAT ACTRESS, OF NEW YORK CITY.

Mrs. Leslie Carter, probably the most prominent actress in America, says the following of Pe-ru-na:

"Pe-ru-na is sure to prevent a cold.
It will stop a cough before it becomes settled. It cures all catarrhal affections like magic. No money could tempt me to be without this remedy for even a day. It is just the remedy that all women need, especially such women that are exposed to the vicissitudes of climate, as I am.

"I never neglect an opportunity to recommend this remedy to my friends.
It is America's greatest remedy for America's greatest enemy, catarrh and catarrhal affections. I would not have catarrh for a million dollars, and as long as I have Pe-ru-na at hand to promptly check the slightest symptoms of its approach, I feel perfectly safe from this disease."

N. Leslie Carter.

Mrs. M. Dooley, Mount Airy, Haber-sham county, Ga., in a recent letter says:
"I suffered five years more or less with catarrh of the stomach and pelvic organs. I tried a good many remedies of my own, and bought medicine from a doctor that was highly recommended, although the medicine did me no good whatever. Finally, I concluded to submit my case to Dr. Hartman. I wrote him, and he readily advised me. I bought some Pe-ru-na, and a few days after was taken with a gripe. I took Pe-ru-na and Man-alin and I can say without a doubt that it has entirely relieved me of all my ailments. I feel better and stronger than I have in many years. My appetite is all right, I have no symptoms of my former troubles remaining.
I am able to do my usual work without fatigue, and have every reason to believe that my health is the direct result of the use of Pe-ru-na and Man-alin, without which I should have been dead by this time. There is no medicine that can equal Pe-ru-na and Man-alin. I find it a sure cure for all catarrhal affections; as for a gripe there is no other remedy that can compare with it. I can scarcely find words to express my gratitude for Dr. Hartman's good advice and kindness to me.

The peculiar ills to which women are subject are often very dangerous. It frequently happens that the victim lives far from competent medical assistance. What shall she do?
She is not wealthy enough to go to some distant city for treatment, and cannot procure skilled assistance at home.
This is what she should do: write
Dr. Hartman,
Columbus, O., tell him the whole story, and he will do the rest. Mrs. Margaret Flotz, Wilcox, O. T., writes: "I extend my sincere thanks for the good advice you have given me. I do not believe I would be living now if it were not for you. I had suffered with hemorrhage for four months and the doctors could help me but little. They operated on me three times. It was very painful, and I only obtained a little relief. As long as they worked at me, the hemorrhage stopped; but just as soon as they closed the door it would commence to flow again. I was so weak I could not turn in bed. At last my neighbors began to speak of patent medicines. Then I applied to Dr. Hartman. I did not know whether he could help me or not; but I followed his advice and only used three bottles of Peru-na. Now I am well and as strong as I ever was."
