

DYSPEPSIA.

Nervous Dyspepsia Caused me Great Distress for a Number of Years. Finally I was Cured by Dr. Miles' Nervine.

An active mind, suffering from over-exertion, grief, trouble, worry of household cares, demands from the body a greater amount of fuel for the vital fires than the digestive organism can supply. It requires a certain amount of vital force to operate the human machine, and when all the available supply of force is absorbed by the overworked brain there is nothing left for the stomach. It is easy now to understand why irritability and dyspepsia have become almost synonymous; why a nervous person usually so very particular and capricious about food. It is an almost undisputed fact that no marked progress can be made toward the ultimate cure of any disease until the mind is put into that calm, serene condition which is natural to people in full bodily health and vigor.

Nervine puts the mind in just that condition. It is a brain and nerve food and tonic whose important elements, acting upon the body and mind with equia force, possesses remarkable efficiency in nervous disorders.

"I had been troubled with dyspepsia for nearly thirty years and two years ago I was taken with a nervous trouble which caused me much distress. I could not eat nor sleep, was being strength and flesh and was melancholy and very unhappy. I employed the best physicians who said the trouble was with my nerves, but they were unable to do me any good. I tried several advertised medicines but at last began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine. By the time the first bottle was half gone I could sleep, eat, and was a little and the world seemed to get right side up again. I kept right on taking the Nervine and when I had used fifteen bottles my stomach trouble was gone, and I felt well and strong. I feel very grateful for the good I have received."

From Dr. Miles' Nervine and would be glad to induce some other poor sufferer to give a trial.

"I was very nervous and restless and weak through the advice of a friend I bought a bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine, which cured me entirely. Seeing how much benefit I received from the medicine, my husband, who suffered from nervous dyspepsia and indigestion in a very severe form, thought he would give it a trial. He was very weak and nervous and was able to sleep but little. After using three bottles of the Nervine he could eat well and sleep well. My husband is very happy to think he has recovered from that terrible disease which had made his life miserable for over three years and he says he will always speak a good word for Dr. Miles' Nervine."

of what is useful. It means that which works. It is bringing together that which is harmonious and congruous, the elements of power possessed by individuals who can and will work together.

These points were beautifully illustrated by the great steamship company in contrast with the man in his canoe. Organization is loyalty to the Lord Jesus Christ.—Is Sunday school efficiency; it means fellowship, the ground of hope.

Victory will come when Christian and Christian organizations shall have clasped hands.

ATTERNOON SESSION.
The first address of the afternoon was by Rev. S. E. Snyder on "Gathering From the Highway and Hedge." This was a very graphic presentation of the condition of things existing in his part of Portland.

Mr. Morrill, of Washington, gave an interesting talk on the Sunday school work in his state. He was followed by Rev. Alexander Henry, of Philadelphia on "Sunday School Progress," after which much time was spent answering questions.

In the evening Dr. W. H. Kellogg gave a very scholarly and instructive address on "The Church Member and Bible Study."

The closing address of the evening was by General Secretary Marion Lawrence, of Ohio, on the "International Field." He closed his address by asking for $1500 with which to put a field worker in the State of Oregon.

The full amount was pledged and the vast audience joined in singing "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow."

FRIDAY, JUNE 15.
The convention met this morning and proceeded to the election of officers, resulting as follows:

President, A. A. Morse, Portland.
Vice-Presidents, A. C. Alexander, Athens, Or., and Robert Reid, Salem.
Treasurer, E. Lee Page, Portland.
Superintendents of Primary Department, Mrs. C. M. Kiggins, Portland.
Normal, Mrs. V. K. Watson, Portland.
Home, Mrs. W. R. Winans, Salem.
Home-Home Visitation, N. J. Damm, Salem.
Executive Committee, J. H. Amos, D. Edgar, Clerk, Rev. Huber Ferguson, Portland.

Reports followed from the Home-Visitation department, the Home department, the Normal department, the Primary and Cradle Roll departments and the Oregon Sunday School Tidings, published by the Association.

Rev. L. H. Peterson, of Brooks, Or., delivered an excellent address on teaching temperance in the Sunday schools. The morning session closed with a teachers' conference, led by Rev. A. Henry, of Philadelphia.

But your space will not allow me to tell of the many lessons, of the other addresses, of the congratulatory shower on our Eastern visitors, of the joyful and exuberant manifestations of brotherly feeling among the members of the convention throughout the entire session, especially in the convention just closed was this abundantly exhibited. All pronounced the convention a grand success.

While returning on Saturday morning, plans were formulated for future work, and committees were appointed to arrange for holding a grand Sunday school celebration at the fair grounds, at Salem, on the Fourth of July.

"Delays Are Dangerous."
A small pimple on your face may seem of little consequence, but it shows your blood is impure, and it may be the start of a serious disease. Better heed the warning given by the pimple and purify your blood at once by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine cures all diseases due to bad blood, including scrofula and salt rheum.

"We Don't Know Him."
The Klamath Falls express contains the following:
H. Winlow of Salem, who claims to be an agent and piano-tuner for the Wiley H. Allen Co., was in town several days the past week, but left Monday with a new revolver abstracted from Schalklock & Daggett's store. He was arrested by Sheriff Ketchum Monday evening at Okeana, with the revolver still in his possession, and was lodged in jail charged with larceny.

Inquiry of Geo. C. Will and F. A. Wiggins, the leading musical dealers of this city gives the information that no such party is known here. It is evident that the fellow has been borrowing a cloak of respectability under which to pursue his avocation of picking up revolvers and things, by claiming to hail from a place where everybody is honest, and residence in which is indisputable evidence of perfect trustworthiness.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS

OF OREGON HOLD A GRAND CONVENTION OF WORKERS.

Synopsis of Addresses Delivered and Officers Elected for the ensuing Year.
On last Wednesday morning, a large party of Sabbath school workers assembled at the Southern Pacific passenger depot, with smiling faces and kindly greetings as if on some great pleasure boat.
Familiar faces were seen from remote parts of the county, Silver Creek Falls, Mahama, Jefferson and other points and indications of pleasant expectancy marked the countenances of all.

Upon investigation it was learned that the annual convention of the Oregon State Sunday School Association, about to assemble in Portland, was the objective point, that the president of the Marion county association had chartered a car and sold nearly 100 excursion tickets to Portland and that all were thither bound, so it turned out that two cars were required to hold the crowd.

The following dispatch was sent to President Morse, of Portland: "We are coming on the local, 100 strong.
All seemed to enjoy the short run to the metropolis, where they immediately repaired to the First Baptist church. Their names having been previously reported, they were soon assigned to the homes of the generous-hearted Portlanders, in which they received a hospitable welcome.
The main auditorium of the First Baptist church was filled Wednesday evening when the 15th annual convention of the Oregon State Sunday School Association was inaugurated.

President A. A. Morse introduced Prof. E. O. Excell, of Chicago, a man of great capacity, who conducted the principal part of the program and led the audience as a large chorus.
Rev. Dr. Ketchum, of Salem led in prayer and was followed by Rev. Alexander Blackburn, pastor of the church who welcomed the convention and was responded to by Rev. S. B. Marsa, of Sandyville.
The address of the evening was delivered by Marion Lawrence, secretary of the National Association, on the "Big Boy Problem."

He is a man of great breadth, power and earnestness and must be heard to be appreciated. He said: "The Sunday schools of Oregon are doing more to make this a good state to live in than all the laws on your statute books. This Association is notable, as it is the only organization in your state in which all the denominations meet on a common footing, and work together as a unit for the advancement of the kingdom of God."
"Wherever we turn we meet the 'Big Boy,' and I want to bring to your notice five questions, and answer them as well as I can:
1. "Are the boys in the Sunday school now? I answer, no! The girls outnumber them three to one.
2. Why not? We must give a reason. A boy goes where he wants to be. He will go to a baseball game when the Sunday school is managed as well as the baseball game—the boys will be on hand. The baseball pitcher is learned to pitch, the catcher is learned to catch, but the Sunday school teacher is not trained to teach. The parents are not trained to manage. We need the four out of every five church members, not in the Sunday school, to report for duty next
