

SCROFULA

The Blighting Disease of Heredity.

In many respects Scrofula and Consumption are alike; they develop from the same general cause, both are hereditary and dependent upon an impure and impoverished blood supply. In consumption the disease fastens itself upon the lungs; in Scrofula the glands of the neck and throat swell and suppurate, causing ugly running sores, bones ache, and white swelling is frequently a result, causing the limbs to swell, the skin producing indescribable pain and suffering. Cutting away a sore or diseased gland does no good; the blood is poisoned. The old scrofulous taint which has probably come down through several generations has polluted every drop of blood.

Scrofula requires vigorous, persistent treatment. The blood must be brought back to a healthy condition before the terrible disease can be stopped in its work of destruction. Mercury, potash and other poisonous minerals usually given in such cases do more harm than good; they ruin the digestion and leave the system in a worse condition than before.

S. S. S. is the only medicine that can reach deep-seated blood troubles like Scrofula. It goes down to the very roots of the disease and forces every vestige of poison out of the blood. S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known. The roots and herbs from which it is made contain wonderful blood purifying properties, which no poison, however powerful, can resist. S. S. S. stimulates and purifies the blood, increases the appetite, aids the digestion and restores health and strength to the enfeebled body. If you have reason to think you have Scrofula, or best blood purifier and blood builder known, as it contains no poisonous minerals. S. S. S. is pre-eminently a remedy for children.

When my daughter was an infant she had a severe case of Scrofula, for which she was under the constant care of physicians for more than two years. She was worse at the end of that time, however, and we almost despaired of her life. A few bottles of Swift's Specific cured her completely, as it seemed to get to the cause of the trouble. I do not believe it has an equal for stubborn cases of blood diseases which are beyond the power of other remedies. S. S. S. is sold everywhere.

Our medical department is in charge of experienced physicians who have made Scrofula and other blood diseases a life study. Write them about your case, or any one you are interested in. Your letter will receive prompt and careful attention. We make no charge whatever for this.

Victoria's Reign.

LONDON, June 20.—Queen Victoria today completed the sixty-third year of her reign. Exceeding the long reign of her illustrious and long lived grand-father by three years and nine months. Talk of a regency has been heard for twenty-five years, but Queen Victoria remains the head of the British Empire and is not likely to relinquish the post in favor of the Prince of Wales Regent until she is compelled to do so by inexorable death. The Queen was born at Kensington Palace on May 24, 1819, ascended to the throne June 20, 1837, proclaimed queen the following day, and was crowned queen at Westminster on June 28, 1838.

MORE GRADUATES.

Preparatory Department Pupils Receive Their Diplomas With Interesting Exercises.

The graduating exercises of the Oregon Institute Preparatory Department, at the First M. E. Church Tuesday evening, June 19, were of the principle features of a week during which the young students are monarchs of all they survey.

Admission was free and the large church auditorium was filled to its seating capacity. At least nineteen out of twenty were of the gentler sex, and the church presented the appearance of a huge basket of roses, or something to that effect, with a few weeds in the shape of masculine on-lookers.

The ushers were Laura Bean, Miss Edna Aschenbrenner, Bert Geier and Arthur Boshman. Miss Francis Lane and Miss Ada Dayton acted as flower girls.

The class motto "Labor Omnia Vincit," was suspended over the altar on a large scroll of the college colors, cardinal and gold, the class colors being old gold and white. An unlimited quantity of flowers was brought by friends of the young graduates, and the platform was banked with a rich display.

The century class of 1900 consisted of Orville Clyde Jerman, Stella Juanita Crawford, Helen Louise Van Wagner, Wesley Benj. Beckley, Rebekah Julia Gans, Herbert Jerman and Henry Ennis Savage.

The business class was composed of David E. Baxter, Clyde Brock, Helen Atwood and Bessie Patterson.

The first number on the program was a piano solo, second mazurka, Godard, by Miss Ida Stege, and was executed in a manner showing considerable training and faithful practice.

After invocation by Rev. H. A. Ketchum, of the Presbyterian church, a vocal solo was rendered by Prof. W. G. Crawford, principal of the Lincoln school, in his rich clear voice, which Salem people would like to hear often.

"The Hazing of Valient," was recited by Prof. Mabel Lanckton Carter, in an inimitable manner, which brought out the full humor of the piece of college fun, and earned a recall, to which the popular instructor graciously responded.

A vocal solo, "The Fog Bell," by H. S. Gille, came next. This vocalist needs no praise; a Salem audience is always glad to hear him.

The occasional address, on the subject of "The Church and Higher Education," was delivered by Prof. W. P. Drew, A. B. D., professor of Latin and Greek.

The professor opened his address with a pleasant explanation of why he did not, as he intended, talk about ideals, for he had recently had one of his ideals, touching babies, rudely shattered.

The professor advanced the idea that a college education is of little use except in the high positions of what are popularly called the higher walks of life. He argued, however, that a college education is always useful in the ecclesiastical profession. He thought that what the church in this country needs now is not more emotion in religion, but more knowledge. He took a whirl at Christian Science and faith healing, and said that they arose from emotionalism. With sufficient intelligence all faith healing would disappear from the earth.

He argued that knowledge, the higher education, would help to give both symmetry and strength to the Christian character of the church member, and he appealed to the church to cast out any lingering fear of the influence of the higher education on the minds of the young.

He closed with a few words of admonition to the young graduates of the preparatory department, and urged them to continue through the college course.

After presentation of diplomas to the graduates, the exercises closed with a piano solo, "Mendelssohn's Spinning by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that can not be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars.

GROUND SELECTED.

Militia Campground Will Be in Highland, Instead of the Fair Grounds.

The camp ground of the Oregon National Guard will be on a tract of land in Highland. This selection was made on Tuesday, when Adjutant-General Gantenben, Brigadier-General Beebe and Major Greenleaf were in the city and looked over the different sites offered for the camp.

The location selected is a tract of land near the C. B. Moores house in Highland, 450 by 1450 feet. The ground lies high and dry, and is well adapted for camp and parade ground purposes.

General Beebe was well pleased with the location, pronouncing it better than the fair grounds. It is easily accessible to visitors, being but a short distance from the little car line.

The ground will be surveyed and the camp laid out by Major Greenleaf, Thursday, and the Salem Chamber of Commerce will complete the arrangements for supplying lumber, bedding, lights, etc., according to the agreement under which the encampment comes here.
