M'KINLEY AND ROOSEVELT

The Strength of the Ticket Lies in its Tail.

WILDEST ENTHUSIASM PREVAILED THROUGHOUT THE NOMINATING SPEECH

The Convention of Officeholders and Office-seekers Indulge in Tumult.

PARTY WOULD HAVE BEEN STRONGER IN NEW YORK WITH ROOSEVELT FOR GOVERNOR

But the Expectation is That He Will Strengthen the Ticket in all the Other States Where He Is.

By Associated Press in the Journal.

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—The Republican national convention was called to order today, and at 11:30 o'clock a. m. Senator Foraker placed William McKinley in nomination. Governor Roosevelt, of New York, seconded. At 12:48, after many speeches seconding, McKinley was nominated unanimously by acclamation. Roosevelt was then nominated for vice-president in the same manner, after Dolliver, of Iowa, was withdrawn.

CONVENTION HALL PHILADELPHIA, June 21.—This was a day, and long before 10 o'clock the hall was surrounded by an immense array of people. Gov. Roosevelt entered the hall at 10 o'clock and thousands set up a cheer at the sight of him.

and he was given much more attention than any other speaker.

The closing words of the governor brought another demonstration, and for a minute it seemed the convention would go mad, and then there made two nominations instead of one. Gradually the convention came back to a quiet, and the chairman recognized Senator Thurston for a speech seconding the nomination for president. At the conclusion of Thurston's speech, John W. Yerkes, of Kentucky, arose to second the nomination on behalf of the south. When Yerkes concluded, from all parts of the hall came the cry "vote, vote, vote."

Disregarding the call for a vote, Chairman Lodge recognized George Knight, of California.

"Vote, vote," came from the galleries, as Knight concluded, but the chairman recognized Gov. Moont, of Indiana, who seconded the nomination of McKinley.

Pandemonium Again.

As he closed the convention again demanded a vote and the chairman announced that the roll states would be called for a vote on the nomination for president. At 12:37 the vote began. During call of states the galleries were noticeably attentive and there was no unusual demonstration among the delegates. Some states were not content with casting votes for McKinley, but the chairman announced the vote which the candidate would receive in November. The secretary hurriedly made a summary and handed it to the chairman.

Lodge took the paper, and advancing to the front of the stage, said: "The total vote cast, is 930. William McKinley received 930 votes. The chairman announces Wm. McKinley as our candidate for president for the term, beginning March 4, 1901." Again pandemonium broke loose. Up went plumes and standards. Up stood the great audience, women mingling in the shouts and frantic demonstrations.

A huge counterfeited of an elephant, the emblem of Republican strength was brought into the hall. Around its neck was entwined garlands of flowers. Laughter and applause were mingled as the emblem was borne about.

Lodge then announced that the call of the states would proceed for the vice-presidency.

More Pandemonium.

Longe then recognized Col. Lefe Young of Iowa. He withdrew the name of Dolliver and offered Roosevelt. The demonstration which followed the announcement by Young of Roosevelt, the candidate of the young men of the country, was not second to that accorded to the president's name.

The vast assemblage sprang to its feet and state emblems, plumes, handkerchiefs and hats again fairly filled the air. The band began to play "There'll be a Hot Time in the Ole Town Tonight," and delegates began marching around the hall, filing past Roosevelt and extending their congratulations. The chairman restored quiet, and recognized Butler Murray, of Massachusetts, for a speech seconding the nomination of Roosevelt.

Little More Pass.

"Depew, Depew," demanded the delegates as the well known figure of the New York senator emerged from his delegation. His closing period declaring that Roosevelt's choice would be unanimous, touched off a whirl of excitement. The impatient audience called for a vote. At conclusion of the call Lodge announced that Roosevelt had received 925 votes, one delegate not voting. This delegate was Roosevelt himself.

The announcement that Roosevelt had been nominated, evoked a burst of applause that shook the great steel girders of the building to the foundations.

The serious work of the convention was now practically over, and only a few details remained to be performed.

Senator Lodge was placed at the head of a committee to notify the president of his nomination and Senator Wolcott at the head of a committee to notify the vice-presidential nominee. At 2:14 the Republican national convention of 1900 adjourned sine die.

DEMOCRAT STATE CONVENTION

AUSTIN, Tex., June 21.—The Democratic State Convention spent nearly all day in a heated debate over the adoption of a platform.

BETTS, Mont., June 21.—The Clark of the Democratic State Convention seated all the contesting delegations in a hall at the West Hotel in Minneapolis. He had just had an audience with Prof. Grant Chesterfield, the noted thought-reader and palinist.

At 10:30 Chesterfield, at his parlors, corner Grant and Liberty streets, the eminent enigma was surrounded by a throng of people—some waiting to know if they would soon make a change in their business conditions; others if absent friends would return; others their present difficulties would soon cease; and still others if they would be successful in love affairs. Some wanted to know the point now is to go ahead vigorously or not they could be changed and whether or not they could be changed.

It is said Prof. Chesterfield is a most remarkable diagnostician. His summer engagements will soon call him East, so Prof. Chesterfield will remain in Salem but a few days. His fee for a complete life reading is 50c. His parlors remain open evenings until 8 o'clock.

Court Order.

American Ships Took No Part in Bombardment, But Will Assist Allied Forces—Chinese Responsibility.

By Associated Press in the Journal.

LOSNOON, June 21.—The admiralty has received the following from Rear Admiral Bruce: "Taku, June 21.—No communication from commander-in-chief since seven days or from Tien Tsin since five days. Allies hold Taku forts and Taku Ku securely, and will advance to the relief of Tien Tsin when in sufficient strength. It is believed that fighting is constantly proceeding around Tien Tsin.

BERLIN, June 21.—A semi-official dispatch from Tokio, says the Japanese consul at Shanghai confirms the report that Vice-Admiral Seymour and party arrived at Pekin, and that with the members of the diplomatic corps, they are safe. According to an official Japanese report from Che Foo, the foreign settlement at Tien Tsin has been reduced to ashes June 18.

Seymour's March.

LOSNOON, June 21.—A news agency dispatch from Shanghai, says: "After an arduous march and frequent fighting with the Chinese, Vice-Admiral Seymour arrived at Pekin Sunday afternoon. On five occasions the Chinese attacked the column in great force. There were many mounted men among the Chinese, but most of the natives were badly armed. At times they fought with admirable courage and bravery. The losses of the Chinese during the march are estimated at 500 killed. The losses of the foreigners were trifling.

Surprise is expressed at the fact that a large force of Indian troops has not been ordered here."

Well-informed people express the opinion that the summoning of Li Hung Chang to the capital forebodes the early submission of the Dowager Empress to the powers.

Chinese Responsibility.

The responsibility of the Chinese Government for the recent events, said a high official of the Foreign Office, "is now clearly proved." It has been ascertained that 1000 Chinese troops who deserted to the Boxers did so under the direct orders of the Chinese Government. The promotion to the highest positions of the notoriously anti-European officials also a point in the same direction. This is a war of China against foreigners, including Germans, and the point now is to go ahead vigorously, quickly and absolutely, no matter what the final outcome may be."

Movements of Our Men.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The Navy Department has given out the following statement regarding the contents of a dispatch from Admiral Kempff, brought from Taku to Che Foo, and forwarded by Commander Thos. G. of the Yorktown: "The department has received a cablegram from Admiral Kempff, dated June 20.—He says the Taku forts were captured by the foreign forces, and that heavy firing was being at Tien Tsin, the evening of the 17th inst. He is making common cause with the foreign powers for the general protection. There are 300 Americans ashore. May 31 the number of foreign troops at Pekin was 430. There are 6000 men ashore now at Che Foo, and about 5000 troops—Russian, German and English—have just arrived."

is a general shrewd suspicion that France's ally, Russia, desires to profit from the present condition of disorder, and also desires such a state to continue as long as possible. If France helps to end it, she will be playing Great Britain's and opposing Russia's game.

AMNESTY FOR FILIPINO REBELS

By Associated Press in the Journal.

MANILA, June 21.—General MacArthur has formally announced President McKinley's order of amnesty. Benigno Paterno and other prominent Filipino leaders are greatly pleased, as they believe that under the amnesty they can bring about the surrender of Aguinaldo, who, they declare, is ready and willing to consider the peace platform adopted by the Filipino leaders with a few insignificant exceptions.

The proclamation gives a free pardon to all Filipinos who have participated in the rebellion against the United States, the only condition being that they take the oath of allegiance and acknowledge the sovereignty of the United States. It excludes no one except those who have violated the laws of war. The proclamation, the secretary said, will speak for itself, and will go into effect immediately. The time, considering the facilities for communication in the islands for acceptance of the amnesty proclamation by those still in rebellion, is limited, being only 30 or 60 days.

The proclamation is very brief, and is plain and simple, its terms not comprising more than can be put on a single sheet of typewriting.
