ANOTHER POPULAR LOAN.

SCHOOL BOARD WILL BORROW HOME CAPITAL AT FOUR PER CENT.

Committee of Four Will Have Charge of the Matter and the City's Example Will be Followed.

The board of directors of Salem schools held a special meeting Monday evening, and the first move was made toward the floating of a popular home loan at 4 per cent, with which to take up the $19,000 in bonds which fall due in September.

The matter has been pretty well discussed heretofore, and at the annual school meeting in March a resolution was passed authorizing the board to borrow money at 4 per cent on the home loan plan. As the idea was to follow the lines of the popular loan so successfully engineered by the city council, Director H. A. Johnson had prepared a resolution closely corresponding with the resolution passed by the city council as a preliminary to that loan. This resolution, which was signed by Director Johnson and Chamberlain, passed unanimously and is as follows:

"Be it resolved by the board of directors of School District No. 24, of Marion county, state of Oregon, that in the interest of a popular loan authorized by the taxpayers at the last regular annual school meeting of said district for the purpose of meeting the bonded issue of said district, which will mature this fall, that the chairman of said board of directors appoint a committee of four, consisting of said chairman, who will act as chairman of said committee; the clerk of said district, as secretary of said committee, and two members of said board of directors, to arrange for and perfect the detail of said loan, said committee to have full power to employ legal counsel if necessary; to provide for printing and advertising, to fix the denomination of notes, to arrange for the signing and sealing of said notes and to fix the rate of interest, not to exceed 4 per cent per annum, and to do all things requisite and proper in the fulfillment of the task hereby assigned said committee, and to report to this board at each regular meeting thereof the progress made in this behalf until said loan shall have been completed."

H. A. Johnson and M. L. Chamberlain were appointed by Chairman Cherrington, as two members of the committee, himself and Clerk Baumgartner being the other two.

THE SEASON OPENS.

Two Citizens Endeavor to Keep the Ball of Outdoor Sport Rolling.

In City Recorder Judah's court this forenoon Arthur Glover the State street blacksmith plead guilty to a charge of assault and battery, sworn out by Jas. Maguire. A fine of $10 was imposed by the recorder, in default of which Glover was turned over to Sheriff Durbin. Later Glover paid his fine to the sheriff and went his way.

It seems that the men got into an altercation over the possession of some lumber which formerly formed a partition in the G. L. Neal & Co., saloon. The lumber had been attached in a suit now pending against Maguire, but had been released in favor of Glover. He was removing the same, when Maguire appeared on the scene and vigorously objected.

The result was that things got warmed up and Glover presently hit Maguire a belt on the jaw. But the ball so auspiciously opened was suddenly terminated by the interference of Sheriff Durbin.

Later Maguire swore out a warrant for Glover.

Liberal as Usual.

Through the efforts of their local representative, E. F. Parkhurst, the famous Studebaker Manufacturing Co., of Portland, have again given one of their best steel improved mountain wagons as a prize for the best exhibit of farm products grown by exhibitors, to be shown at the state fair. This special premium has in the past drawn out the very finest feature of our fair. This prize is worth $100 and will cause some rustling among our best farmers. It is reported that Alex LaFollett who took this prize hands down three years ago will not compete this time.

Both Mr. Parkhurst and the firm he represents, which by the way is the greatest vehicle manufacturing establishment in the world, deserves credit for their liberality in offering this special. Their enterprise might well be emulated by other implement and vehicle makers.

Bought a Find One.

Wm. Gair, who bought the big Frank Baker farm south of this city, today purchased of the E. F. Parkhurst farm machinery house, a complete Gar-Scott thrashing outfit, horsepower, windstacker, and will operate it this fall. This gives him a grain-threshing plant that is up-to-date in all respects, and that has a capacity second to none in the valley.

CROPS AND WEATHER.

U. S. Department of Agriculture Reports for the Past Week.

The week has been rainy and cloudy in the Willamette valley and Coast district, but in southern and eastern Oregon, although it has been unusually cloudy, the rainfall was moderate and very beneficial, especially to spring grain and pasturage.

The contrast in temperature between the eastern and western portions of the state has been quite marked. In eastern Oregon the warmest weather of the season occurred and the maximum temperatures ranged between 75 and 88 degrees, and in the western portion 38 has been much cooler, with maximum temperatures ranging from 52 to 64 degrees. The night or minimum temperatures were quite uniform, and ranged between 50 and 62 degrees in both districts.

Farm work has been retarded by the rains, which interfered most with haying and the tending of hop vines.

The fall wheat in the Willamette valley continues in a generally poor condition, and complaints are now made that in addition to the rust affecting it that many fields are badly injured by grain aphid. In southern Oregon, the Columbia River valley and the Plateau region fall wheat is doing splendidly. The warm weather has caused the heads to fill out rapidly and it is expected that cutting will be general in a week or ten days.

The rains have been very beneficial to spring grain, and that crop has made excellent progress during the past week.

Hops continue to make rapid growth and although hop lice are numerous they are not, as yet, increasing very fast. Quite a large amount of hay, principally clover, in the Willamette valley and Coast district, recently cut and lying on the ground, has been damaged by rains beyond recovery, but that remaining uncultivated is abundant, and the loss will not be a serious one.

WAS A PIONEER.

Mrs. Baker-Robinson of South Salem Came West in Early Days.

In the death notice that appeared in Monday's JOURNAL, the name should have appeared as Mrs. Fannie B. Robinson, instead of Mrs. Baker, the mistake arising from the fact that the lady has been commonly known by the name of Baker.

She was one of the oldest pioneers of the Northwest, having come across the plains in 1847, and being one of the first party to make their way down the north bank of the Columbia. With her husband, Mr. Baker she settled in what was later Washington territory. Her first husband having passed away, she afterward married Mr. Robinson. They came to Oregon in 1875 and settled in Yamhill county, where Mr. Robinson died, and for the last five years she has resided with her daughter Mrs. Frank Morrison. Four sons and daughters survive her.

Mrs. Frank Morrison, Salem; Mrs. Phoebe Malotte, Lafayette; John W. Baker, Cottage Grove, and Prof. Lee H. Baker, Salem. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon with interment in City View cemetery.

Prof. T. C. Jory, returned today from Astoria and Seaside. He has been engaged to teach the Seaside school, and will devote his energies to building up a good school there.

E. F. Osborne left today for a family picnic of a whole brigade of Osbornes that are to assemble at Corvallis. The reunion is under the roof of John M. Osborne, at Corvallis, and will be a two-day affair, or as long as you please. There are Osbornes of this family tree at Eugene, Astoria, Troutdale, Athens, Salem, Corvallis and Long Tom.

Narrow Escape.

On Saturday afternoon, the 10-year old son of G. Frank Robertson, of Turner, was kicked by a horse which he was leading, and had a narrow escape from most serious injury. One hoof struck him in the face and he was knocked senseless, and was considerably bruised, but no serious consequences are feared.

Portland Bicycleist Best.

The Oregonian says: "A combination of fifty wheelmen, workmen at the Standard Box Factory, has been formed to resist the payment of the bicycle tax. What course they will take is not known, but it is figured out that it will cost these wage-earners many times more than it would cost them to pay the cycle tax for several years, before they get through resisting, even if they should be successful. The cycle paths on the East Side of the river have benefited the working class more than any others. At any of the mills along the river, the men employed there largely live some distance out, and use the paths. Hundreds of wheelmen and wheelwomen ride into the city on the cycle paths, and but for them they would have to pay carfare both ways. It is now proposed to further extend the advantage to them by getting paths on certain streets, but if the law should be knocked out, it would stop all this improvement."

The cash plan saves on every transaction. The New York Racket does a strictly cash business. That one reason why they sell so cheap.

Ten Dollars and Costs.

At the conclusion of the trial Monday afternoon of the case against Andrew Raymond, charged with assault and battery by Louis London, City Recorder Judah imposed the minimum fine of $10 and costs, amounting to $35.40, which was paid.
