AN AFTERNOON FIRE.

Cherry Residence Badly Damaged.--Kurtz Warehouse Has Narrow Escape.

A house on Church street between Ferry and Mill, belonging to F. Kurtz and occupied by Jas. Cherry was badly damaged by fire Wednesday afternoon. At half past five smoke was seen issuing from the roof and an alarm of fire was sent in. The whistle of the Kurtz Box Factory, which stands close by, was also tooted vigorously. A crowd soon assembled and the contents of the house were carried out into the street. The fire was under the roof over the kitchen and had apparently started from a defective flue from the kitchen stove.

The fire engine soon arrived on the scene, but there was much difficulty in getting a stream of water onto the fire, which was raging between the ceiling and the roof and kept gathering headway for some time after the fire boys arrived.

The flames were eventually quenched, but not until the house was practically a wreck, and damaged to the extent of about $500. The loss is covered by insurance with the Beeler agency.

In Probate Court.

Wm. Anderson, executor of the estate of James Aderson, deceased, has been authorized to sell certain personal property of the estate.

Thrift.

"Speaking of thrift," said the prominent clergyman, "I remember one man who was as good an example of shrewdness as I have ever seen. It was when I began preaching that I met him. I was young and struggling, my salary was small, and the man was a member of my church. He used to do work on a scroll saw, and one of his specialties was a sort of plant stand with two shelves and with scroll work ornamentation. Two or three times he tried to sell me one, but as I had no need or use for it I told him so.

"The time for the annual donation party drew near, when everything that was given counted toward that limited salary. I was not altogether pleased, therefore, when the man with a plant stand appeared at the door.

"'Here, parson,' he said, 'is a plant stand. It's worth $10, and I'd like to give $5 of it toward your donation.'

"There was no way out of it. I gave him the other $5."—New York Sun.

Giving a Super a Chance.

This is how a super, thus given an opportunity of distinguishing himself, once delivered a few short lines descriptive of a man being picked up after a cab accident: "The hansom cab was picked up off the esplanade with a handkerchief tightly tied around its mouth. When removed, it was found to be perfectly dead."

Still the manager gave him another trial the following evening, when he acquitted himself as follows: "The esplanade was picked up off the man, with the hansom cab tightly tied around his mouth," etc.

He was sent to the back row again, or maybe farther. This is not an unusual sample of what the average super can do. Naturally, therefore, managers look askance at training him.—Criterion.

Italian Babies.

Babies seem to be no trouble in Italy, and one cannot but be struck by the number of them. These bambinos are often hung upon pegs in the front of the house, where they look out of their little black, beady eyes like papooses. I unhooked one of these babies once and held it awhile. Its back and little feet were held tightly against a strip of board so that it was quite stiff from its feet to its shoulders. It did not seem to object or to be at all uncomfortable, as it only howled while I was holding it. I have an idea that, except when invaded by foreigners, the bambino's existence is quite happy.—Lilian Bell in Woman's Home Companion.

An Electric Dance.

Take a pane of glass—a broken one will do—and secure it by placing the ends between the leaves of two large books, letting the glass be two inches from the table. Cut from lightweight writing paper, or, better still, from tissue paper, dolls, dogs and other figures. Place them on the table beneath the glass. Rub the glass vigorously with a silk handkerchief, and the figures will cut all kinds of antics.

He Hedged.

She—To think that you once declared that you would love me as long as you lived! And now, hardly a year married, and you care nothing at all about me!

He—But you see when I told you I would love you as long as I lived I wasn't feeling very well, and I really didn't think I would live long.—Boston Transcript.

No trait of character is more valuable to a woman than the possession of a sweet temper. Home can never be happy without it. It is like the flowers that spring up in our pathway, reviving and cheering us.

MUST MAKE AFFIDAVIT.

Applicants for County Aid Must Make a Showing of Facts.

A new system has been put in operation by the new county court in dealing with applications for assistance on pauper account; or rather, an old system has been newly put in operation.

Any one applying to the county court in behalf of any one in need of assistance is required to make affidavit to a statement of the facts of the case.

A book is provided for this purpose, having blank forms printed upon each page, with a series of questions to be answered.

It has been found that this is quite a stumbling block in the path of people who come rushing to the county judge with tales o' woe about some suffering family, not knowing anything about the circumstances of the case.

It seem that this system will work no hardship in any deserving case, while it may act as something of a protection to the county treasury.

SCOURING YOOR SCALP

Will Remove the Loose Dandruff scales But It Won't Cure Dandruff.

If your hair is brittle and thinning, you have dandruff. The merely scouring of the scalp of the loose scales, won't cure dandruff: because dandruff i nothing but scales of scalp being thrown up by a pestiferous little germ in burrowing its way to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality, causing falling hair, and, in time, baldness Now you can't stop dandruff, nor falling, nor prevent baldness unless you destroy that germ; and the only preparation that can do it is the new scientific discovery, Newbro's Herpicide. In fact no other hair preparation claims to kill the dandruff germ—all of them will clean the scalp: soap and water will do that, but only Newbro's Herpicide gets at the root of the trouble and kills the dandruff germ.

Orange Council in Session.

NEW YORK, July 26.—The Imperial Grand Orange Council of the World opened here today, and is being presided over by the Earl of Ernie, from Crown Castle, Ireland. The delegations present represent every country in which an Orange society exists, and the meeting is principally to cultivate a stronger tie of friendship and brotherly love between the members at home and abroad. The Council will adjourn Saturday evening.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years it was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Conquest and Poetry

The war lord of Germany has declared himself on the Oriental imbrogilo, but what is the matter with the war god of England? Why has not the apostle of physical force spoken? What is Kipling about that he has not dashed to the front and roared out his orders to mankind? asks the Anaconda Standard. What the Theodore Roosevelt is to America, Rudyard Kipling is to the world. The rough rider rides the American whirlwind and directs the American strorm; but the rough writer, rampant and regnant, vaults at will into civilization's throne and bosses the history of the globe. But for the appearance of the blazing orb of Kipling in her night of peace and contentment, England might still have been slumbering on in the topor into which she had fallen, disturbed by no vision except those of avarice, no dreams except those of pounds, shillings and pence. It was Kipling who aroused and restored her to the consciousness that there were continents to be conquered, glories to be won, gold mines to be stolen, weaker nations to be corraided and branded as her private property, power of all sizes, conditions and degrees of strength to be impressed with the truth that England is the leader of civilization, the guide of progress, the charioteer of society's splendid destinies, the beacon light and very pole-star of all humanity.
