You Must Not Think

That people wearing or needing glasses have diseased eyes. Such is not the case. Astigmatism—near, far, and old sightlessness—is not a disease, but a local trouble that is easily corrected by properly fitting of glasses. It is not necessary to consult a specialist along these lines, but go to an optician who has made the SIGHT A life study, and is in a position to diagnose your case absolutely correct, with the astigmatometer, skiascope and Ophthalmoscope. We have the latest instruments known to optical science. With these instruments in the hands of a thorough, competent optician, it is almost impossible to err. We examine the eyes free of charge, and will be frank with you as regards your needs.

We Never Furnish Glasses Unless They are Needed.
We earnestly solicit your patronage and guarantee perfect action Where glasses are needed our prices are reasonable.

C. H. HINGES Scientific Optician
290 Commercial Street.
It is dangerous to lay glasses from peddlers, agents, or traveling vendors. We are not in any way connected with optical vendors at the fair grounds.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

That cheap drugs are always the most expensive in the long run? Keep your eye on the quality before you look at the price. Quality first, then the price, our motto—in other words, right goods at right prices. Prices with us depend on quality, and we positively will not sacrifice the latter to the former. Our goods must be as good as we say—and we say they are as good as good can be. The very foundation of the drug business is and should be, QUALITY, QUALITY, QUALITY. Quality, first, last and all the time, is the mark on which our eyes are centered. Human life, in our opinion is too serious a matter to juggle with, therefore we apply the Golden Rule. Our prices are reasonable, but they must be sufficient for first-class goods skillfully handled.

DANIEL J. FRY
Graduate in Pharmacy.

PORTLAND DAY
Brings the Largest Fair Crowd Yet.

Details of the Exhibits and Announcements of the Program on Other Pages of This Paper.

Portland Day has brought out the largest crowd. Six carloads came up on the local train, and Portland badges in evidence on all sides. Perfect weather prevailed—the second perfect day out of four—and it looks as if there would be two more.

Notes on the Fair.
Frank Galloway has an ingenious and humane invention in the form of a four animal feed box for the sale of which he is selling rights.

A fanning mill is shown that cleans grain and separates and sacks the same all at one operation. A. McNeil of Gervais presents it.

The Dewey washer made at Salem for Ambler and Young, M. Angel, and it is interesting the housekeepers not a little. Fifty a month are being sold.

The Studebaker exhibit of two carloads is in charge of E. F. Parkhurst. He also has charge of the Parlin & Orndorff exhibit of one car load, and what you can't see here is not worth mentioning.

Russell & Co. have two threshing outfits, one 25 horsepower compound engine with electric light attachment of 75 lights, and 6 horsepower running a small separator. The Russell Cyclone threshers are also attracting farmers. E. M. Croisan is the Salem agent, and altogether six men were employed during the fair showing off this machinery day and night. One engine and threshing is worth about $3200 and the smaller one $1500.

Walter Morley shows his patent gravity prune graders, for dried or green fruit. It will be grate peaches or potatoes and is in practical use.

R. M. Wade & Co. have a large space filled with vehicles and farm machinery. They seem to have anything from a cider press to a parrie schooner.

The Osborne Co. has an exhibit under a fifty foot tent of all their manufacture and four heavy-weights to tell the farmers about it. These double-breasted linquets can entertain you with the latest improved cultivators and harvesters.

Portland Day brought the largest crowd that has visited the fair for years. A string of people continuously filed through the gates.

At 10 a. m. today fully 3000 people witnessed the stock parade. Horses from the thoroughbred track horse to the heavy team and draft horse were in the parade not only the prize winners but all horses entered for premiums. Following the above was the cattle parade which was one of the finest features of the day. The World's Champion Cow Sallie Girl was admired by all who witnessed the parade.

Denton & Company's Bicycle Display. The bicycle display near the pavilion of Denton & Company, of 130 Sixth street, Portland, Or., is pronounced by visitors as well as the state fair officers as being the finest display of the kind yet shown at any Oregon state fair. The exhibit can be found near the main entrance door of the pavilion and contains many "Orient" and Olive bicycles besides the hundreds of little sundries that belong to the bicycle. Here those who have never had an opportunity of seeing the bicycle and all its parts can see it in their display. Liberality, fair dealing and the progressive methods used by this business firm have gained them a wide reputation through the Pacific coast, and all those who are visiting the fair are earnestly invited to call and visit their immense display.

Ben Bolt Wins.
The Chamber of Commerce $1000 race, which was not concluded yesterday, was called at 1 p. m. today. Three horses started, Ben Bolt, Little Billy and Umbahalia. Ben Bolt won the heat easily, with Little Billy second; time, 2:33½. Umbahalia broke badly on the back stretch and was distanced. As Ben Bolt already had two heats to his credit, this gave him the race and the big purse.

GENERAL HOP REPORT.
New York Market.
The local market has remained much the same as of late, but with only a small volume of business. A few early seedlings have arrived and sold at 10½¢. Loose samples of the late crop, of which a few people have come in, show better quality than last year. For the 1899 hops full former prices are asked but there is nothing at present to indicate further improvement. Most of the remaining lots will see inferior in comparison with this year's crop, and holders are selling at current rates when opportunity offers. Weather conditions have been favorable for picking hops in this state and harvesting is well under way in all sections.

About all the seedlings are in the drying houses; some Humphreys have been bought at 15 @ 16c. Very little has been done in the way of sales of the late hops. So far as we can hear the crop is coming down rather better than was expected, and some estimates of the yield are 65,000 to 70,000 bales.

Cables from Europe this week have been unchanged, but it is stated that the very best of weather must be had until the end of picking to reach a yield of 400,000 cwt. in England. Last year the English crop was 631,000 cwt. State, 1899, choice, per lb. @ 14 State, 1899, good to prime, per lb. @ 12 State, 1899, common, per lb. @ 11 Pacific coast, 1899, per lb. @ 13½ Pacific coast, 1899, choice, per lb. @ 11½ Pacific coast, 1899, common to prime, per lb. @ 7 @ 11

MARRIED.
EMBREE—SAUVAIN—At the home of the bride at Roseburg, Or. Sept. 19, 1900. Miss Eva M. Embree to Alfred E. Sauvain.

Mr. and Mrs. Sauvain arrived in the city this morning on their wedding tour and incidentally remain for the State Fair. Mr. Sauvain is one of the Southern Pacific's trusted employees and is located at Roseburg, where they will reside.

The Massachusetts Walcott.
Borser, Mass., Sept. 20.—The Journal announces that former Governor Rodger Walcott will not accept the post of Ambassador to Italy.

Notice.
We are overstocked on street hats and are having a special sale this week.
Nonpariel Millinery Parlor,
Mrs. M. HOOKER.

Hops in Polk.
Advices from Polk county are that owing to the continued heavy rains of the past three days pickers, that is camping, have been leaving the hop yards by the wagon load, going home where they can get dry again.

The rainfall has been something serious, and the damage to the hop crop, which has not yet been all gathered, is going to prove serious. All the smaller yards have been finished, but the larger ones are only about one-half picked. In the Meeker yards there is said to be about two weeks' picking yet.

The hops in this yard are of excellent quality and quantity. Experts say that they are the richest hops ever grown here.
