THE SALEM PRESS CLUB BANQUET

While the great politicians of the state are devouring each other with caustic compliments and telling the awful things that will happen if the other fellow is elected, the Salem newspaper men are pursuing the paths of peace and seeking to make life less of a burden.

This is the first attempt of the real workers of the profession to meet upon a purely social footing, and the Salem Press club deserve credit for their effort to foster the spirit of brotherhood and professional "savoir faire" and develop that spirit of amity and mutual good will which prevails in all other professions.

BUSINESS VERSUS INSPIRATION

Without the people petitioning for it, Mr. Brown tries to compel the people of Oregon to hold a constitutional convention. Mr. Marsters, a fellow senator who is a business man, favors asking the people whether they want to be put to the trouble and expense of such a proceeding.

Like the mythical creature that sprang full-blown from the brow of Jupiter, Brownell springs into the arena with anything for like made to order. What matter to such a genius whether the people want it or not? An analysis of all his bills would reveal much of the same unbusinesslike style of statesmanship.

LOOK OUT FOR THE WAREHOUSE MILLS

Farmers are interested to keep a sharp outlook on the Adams bill and the Smith bill, both of Marion County, to regulate the conduct of warehouses. These bills were promised on the campaign by the Republicans. The editor of THE JOURNAL on the campaign pointed out that such measures in other states had stayed into the hands of the warehouse and milling trusts, who in the end alone could give the bonds and meet the requirements of such measures that were ostensibly for the protection of the farmer, but all tended to create monopolies.

DO THE OPPOSITION OWE ANYTHING TO THE PEOPLE?

A number of the Republican managers seem to hold no opinion whatever of the 23 opposition members of the legislature but to act as a sort of cat's paw or buffer party to help out the enterprise of defunct Republican office seekers.

OUR RACE FOR MONEY

"If it is not true that we Americans regard money making as the work for which life was given to us, why, when we have millions, do we go on struggling to make more millions and more?" writes "An American Mother" in the Ladies' Home Journal.

A Blessing

Dr. Conroy tells this story of a boy and an English soldier who lay wounded side by side on the field of battle. "They had a personal encounter, in which the soldier received a bullet wound and the burgher a bayonet thrust before they both fell exhausted on the field. The Britisher gave the boy a drink out of his flask, and the burgher, not to be outdone in courtesy, handed a piece of biting in exchange.

House Work is Hard Work without GOLD DUST.

Pat's Reform.

An Irishman passing a store in London saw nothing inside but a man at a table. The thing struck him as being very odd, so he went in and inquired what was sold there. "Asses' heads," was said in great demand. "That must see you have only your own left."

A Drawback to Amity.

Judge—Well, Mrs. Joppa, what fault have you to find with your husband? Mrs. Joppa—Now, Judge, it's this way: He's awful good an' kind, but he's so pesky an' snobbish.—Detroit Free Press.

A Long Separation.

"Home again to old darling." "John, dearest, you don't look a day older." "I must. Centuries can't roll over a man's head without leaving traces." "It was ages and ages, wasn't it? And, oh, John, how lonesome I have been!"

"Of course, you old dear. Do you suppose I could ever forget you?" "Good gracious! It doesn't seem possible that I've been away only since the day before yesterday, does it, sweetheart?"

"Not a bit more, husband mine, than that we have actually been married a whole month tomorrow."—Pearson's Weekly.

"Seeing is Believing."

When you see people cured by a remedy, you must believe in its power. Look around you. Friends, relatives, neighbors all say that Hood's Sarsaparilla, America's Greatest Medicine, cleaned the blood of their dear ones, and they're so massed to sing its praises. There's nothing like it in the world to purify the blood.

His Accent and His Country.

On one occasion during a visit to America Michael Gunn, who assisted Gilbert and Sullivan in bringing out many of their operas, was trying the voices of some candidates for the chorus. One of them sang in a sort of affected Italian broken English. The stage manager interrupted. "Stop here," he said, "that accent won't do for sailors or pirates. Give us a little less Mediterranean and a little more Whitechapel."

Good Health

Is doubtless the highest human good. It is especially so to women, to whom it means the preservation of beauty, happiness in the home, and the enjoyment of social duties. There can be no good health for a woman who suffers from womanly diseases, from complexion falls, from her health loses its firmness, her eyes are dull, she has no home happiness, no social enjoyment.

SPLIT, BRITTLE, DULL HAIR

Split hair, harsh hair, lusterless hair, brittle hair, falling hair, all owe their origin to dandruff, which is caused by a mass of little microbes that burrows into the scalp, throwing up the cuticle into dandruff scales and causing the hair to fall out at the root, causing the scalp to be diseased. Modern science has discovered a remedy to destroy the dandruff microbes, which is combined in Nealy's Hair Dressing, which may be had and makes hair soft as silk. Take no substitute; nothing "just as good."
