ADVISES BREAKING THE DEADLOCK

A Paper That Will Endorse the Action of Rep. Black

Marshfield Coast Mail, Rep. Feb. 9.
At this writing the deadlock at Salem still continues. Mr. Corbett, the leading candidate, has not enough votes to elect, and the scattered opposition shows no disposition to unite upon anyone. The two houses meet in joint session, and vote, and the senators file back to their end of the capitol to wait until time for the next repetition of the farce.

The periodical recurrence of just such a situation is extremely exasperating. Whatever may have been the object of the founders of the present unsatisfactory system of electing U.S. Senators, the people have a right to expect that the legislature will perform the duty with the least possible delay consistent with good results. Hold-up and deadlocks are never in the interest of the people or even of the dominant party, but are only the result of a struggle for personal or factional supremacy.

The deadlock at Salem is not being sustained by any one in the interest of the state or of the party. It is purely a personal matter. Both the state and the party are injured. The business of legislation is being neglected and the Republican party is in an unenviable light to further the personal ambition of a few small-bore politicians.

The Republican party is strongly in the majority and a Republican senator, if any, must be elected. It is time for every Republican member of the legislature to drop all foolishness and go in to elect a senator.

While caucus rule is not, of itself, a good system of government, yet in cases like the present it seems the only practicable way of settling the difficulty. The place to fight out this struggle in the party is in a party caucus. Then let the strongest man win.

Any call upon the opposition to help solve a Republican difficulty is childish. Let the Republican members go into a Republican caucus, make their fight there, and if defeated accept the result as gracefully as they can.—Marshfield Coast Mail, (Rep.)

"THE WAR OF WEALTH"

The Shirley Company Scores Another Success.

Another large audience witnessed the Shirley Company's production of "The War of Wealth," at the New Grand Opera House last night, and from the expressions of satisfaction heard on all sides, it is safe to infer that every one was well pleased.

The play is a melo-dramatic story of New York life, and deals with a subject which is most interesting (Wall Street Speculations) and in the hands of the clever company, the plot was well worked out and the story cleverly told. As "Helen Raymond" Miss Shirley had a part well suited to her and she played it in a manner which showed her to be a thorough mistress of her art.

Geo. D. McQuarrie made a capital John Warfield and lived the part of the bluff Montana ranchman.

The comedy roles were divided between Mr. Ralston, Miss Bond, Mr. Loftis and Miss Markey, and were well sustained. The balance of the cast was in capable hands, and the specialties of Little Verna Tilton again captured the audience.

To-night the company will produce Wyckoff's famous Seventeenth century comedy, "The Country Girl."

This is the play which the late Augustus Daly revised for Miss Ada Rohan and in which celebrated actors scored such a signal success in New York, and it has been pronounced by critics as the best thing in which Miss Shirley has ever been seen.

STRANGER THAN FICTION

A Remedy Which Has Revolutionized the Treatment of Stomach Troubles.

The remedy is not heralded as a wonderful discovery nor yet a secret patent medicine, neither is it claimed to cure anything except dyspepsia, indigestion and stomach troubles with which nine out of ten suffer.

The remedy is in the form of pleasant tasting tablets or lozenges, containing vegetable and fruit essences, pure aseptic pepsin (government test), golden seal and dillseed. The tablets are sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Many interesting experiments to test the digestive powers of Stuart's Tablets show that one grain of the active principle contained in them is sufficient to thoroughly digest 3000 grains of raw meat, eggs and other wholesome food.

Stuart's Tablets do not act upon the bowels like after dinner pills and cheap cathartics, which simply irritate and inflame the intestines without having any effect whatever in digesting food or curing indigestion.

If the stomach can be rested and assisted in the work of digestion it will very soon recover its normal vigor, as no organ is so much abused and over-worked as the stomach.

This is the secret, if there is any secret, of the remarkable success of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, a remedy practically unknown a few years ago and now the most widely known of any treatment for stomach weakness.

This success has secured entirely upon its merits as a digestive pure and simple because there can be no stomach trouble if the food is promptly digested. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act entirely on the food eaten, digesting it completely, so that it can be assimilated into blood, nerve and tissue. They cure dyspepsia, water brash, sour stomach, gas and bloating after meals, because they furnish the digestive power which stomachs lack and useless to attempt to cure by the use of "tonics," "pills" and cathartics which have absolutely no digestive power.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be found at all drug stores and the regular use of one or two of them after meals, will demonstrate their merit better than any other argument.
