

SYRUP OF FIGS
NEVER IMITATED QUALITY

An Excellent Combination.
The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinal in nature and preventing them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is a one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers, and promoting a healthy and regular action of the bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only. In order to get its beneficial effects, and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Scriber married fifty years. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Scriber of this city celebrated the golden wedding jubilee on Wednesday, Feb. 20, and the occasion recalled many enjoyable social reunions.

The old home on South Commercial street was appropriately decorated, consisting of ivy branches and clusters of berries, and bouquets in the parlors, and the dining room in white and yellow flowers. Refreshments were served during the entire afternoon about one hundred and fifty callings. Mr. and Mrs. Scriber were assisted in receiving their guests by their sons and daughters, Mrs. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Holbrook, Miss Scriber, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Scriber, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Scriber. Another daughter, Mrs. Coolidge Colfax, was unable to attend. It was a beautiful Oregon winter day and the assembled guests from far and near were treated with old-fashioned cordiality, and the hosts were quite overcome with the extent and kindness of the assemblage in their honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Scriber's children were present as follows:
Mrs. Amelia E. Miller of Salem; Miss Adelaide Miller of Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Forbes of Astoria; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Scriber of Colfax; Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Holbrook of Bates, Mont. There were a number of grandchildren and several relatives present. Mr. and Mrs. Scriber received a number of beautiful wedding presents, among them a remembrance from the members of the W. C. T. U. Mr. Scriber received an obituary case engraved with his name and the dates 1851 and 1901. Mrs. Scriber was remembered with a number of handsome gold ornaments. The presents included table silver lined with gold and rich pieces of cut glass. They also received many beautiful hothouse bouquets.

Mr. Scriber was born in New York and came around the Horn to Oregon. He spent a few years in Chile and stopped in South American ports long enough to acquire the Spanish language. He landed at Vancouver August of 1850 and entered the government employ.

Mrs. Scriber was Mary Griffith, and crossed the plains with her parents, arriving in Vancouver the same year.

In February 1861 they were married and in a few months removed to a homestead claim in the Wadley Hills where they lived nearly twenty years. Since then they made their home in Salem. Mr. Scriber retired from active business about ten years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Scriber have been consistent and devoted members of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Scriber has been all her life devoted to temperance cause, and for many years President of the Salem W. C. T. U. Her resignation from that office was attended by a large number of the best Salem people and the heartiest congratulations were showered upon them. They were supremely happy amidst their children and grandchildren, and certainly have reason to be proud of their beautifully rounded life course. They have seen the community develop from its infancy in pioneer days to the present when they are surrounded by all the comforts of civilization, with their children grown to men and women and occupying responsible positions in society and business circles.

Following letter was read from the old pastor of Leslie M. E. church, himself a pioneer of Oregon:

Dear Brother and Sister Scriber:—With joy we hail this fiftieth anniversary of the day that made you one. With admiration we review the history of your lives. We wish to contribute something to honor and commemorate this happy event. "But silver and gold have no end." Even if we had, such paltry gifts would be worthless to you; for God has blessed you with health, thrift, habits of industry that you have secured a competence for a "rainy day" and for old age. Therefore, "such as we have we give unto you."

We give you the warmest grip of our hands and the fondest embrace of our arms and affection and the assurance that we are enshrined in our hearts.

We give you our sincere gratitude for what you have been to us as individuals, to Leslie church and parsonage, to the Sunday school and Epworth League, to the Ladies Aid Society, to the W. C. T. U., to the community in general and in many ways to the whole world, by advancing through the means that God has given you the cause of our blessed Christ in all lands. We give you our prayers that you may still be happy in possession of the divine blessing, and continue to be useful as in the past, and that you may enjoy many happy returns of this anniversary.

Affectionately, yours, CHAS. J. JENKS, T. F. and M. A. ROYAL, Salem, Ore., Feb. 20, 1901.

"The Prisoner of Zenda" needs no praise at this day, for it has been tried and found true. It is a high-class play, written by an author of the highest standard narrative and dramatic construction as no other writer does, and one who is able to impress you with what he leaves unsaid. It has been created by the greatest ever in the world, and the text a crispness and brightness, and to the situations an intensity of dramatic force that never fails to grip the reader materially in less experienced hands. This season's company, which is composed of several of the former favorites, seems to enter, it is said, into the spirit of the drama and to give an appreciation of the author's which leaves nothing to be desired. The scenic investiture and costumes are in keeping with the high standard of everything which bears the name of Daniel Frohman, at the Grand Opera House tonight.

Asylum Mistress.

The attendants and other employees at the state insane asylum on Tuesday evening in the chapel at that institution gave a musical performance to the great delight and thorough enjoyment of the convalescent patients for whose entertainment the "show" was given. There are about 100 patients at the institution, several who when properly costumed are thoroughly capable of sustaining the role of the colored man and on this occasion they even surpassed previous efforts. The entertainment was enjoyed by a number of the legislative visitors and people from the city.

At Flora Hall.

The Entres Nos Club repeated another of its pleasurable social functions at Flora Hall last evening. The attendance was not as large as usual, the company being more in proportion in size to the hall. A number of legislative visitors enjoyed the Club's program. Another daughter, Mrs. Coolidge Colfax, was unable to attend. It was a beautiful Oregon winter day and the assembled guests from far and near were treated with old-fashioned cordiality, and the hosts were quite overcome with the extent and kindness of the assemblage in their honor.

THE DABNEY OIL COMPANY.
The Dabney Oil Company, famous for the immense productiveness of its property in the McKittick district, has incorporated under the laws of Arizona and has opened offices in this city at 330 Pine street. The policy of this company is at variance with the usual plan of operators in that it did not incorporate until it had nine well completed and producing. On its property is situated the gushing well of which so much has been said and to which is equal to anything in the state.

The property owned by the Dabney company consists of 110 acres in the most productive portion of the district. It is located immediately above the village of McKittick, soon, judging from present indications, likely to become a successful rival of Bakersfield, and is the first to be seen by all visitors to that section. It is but a little more than a third of a mile from the railroad station of McKittick, to which the company has a pipe-line from its storage tanks, with three electric pipes for loading cars. The fall to the station is about 200 feet, and the oil, being of light gravity, runs easily to the railroad, no pumping being necessary.

The company has now ten wells, some of which are among the largest producers in Kern county, although none of them have been sunk through the oil-bearing strata. One of the wells was sunk in California, if not in the world, with no indication of having reached the bottom of the oil strata. Several of the wells have sprung to the top of the strata in California, if not in the world, with no indication of having reached the bottom of the oil strata. "Why didn't you run?" somebody asked the victor.
"Didn't dare," said he. "Run once when he tackled me, an' I've been lame ever since."
"How did you manage to lick him?" asked the other.
