AT OUR STORE

Our Big Removal Sale

And the way we're crowded with customers every afternoon is a caution. February—usually a quiet month—is more than full of business for us. We've had to let customers go out without being waited on in spite of our big force of clerks, but we'll do the best we can to serve you with some of the bargains we're offering, if you'll just have a little patience when there's a crowd in the store. If you'll come in the morning rather than afternoon we can give you better attention and we'll make it well worth the effort. We're glad the people appreciate the values we're giving in every line of goods in our store, and we promise to put forth every effort to hold the trade.

This week's specials on dress goods, underwear and jackets are actually marvelous. Try to come in the mornings and give us a chance to show you the values we're offering.

Remember we're bound to reduce our stock to it's very lowest limit by the time we move into the Old White Corner.

CASE OF B. WISE GOES TO A JURY

Silverton Man Accused Of Arson Tried

Evidence Against Him of a Circumstantial Nature—New Witnesses

The taking of testimony in the case of State vs. B. Wise charged with arson in setting the Silverton fire on December 8th, last, was concluded shortly before 10 o'clock this morning. Closing arguments occupied two hours and the instructions to the jury were delivered by Judge Burnett, the case being submitted to the jury soon after 1 o'clock.

The case was a legal battle from start to finish, the prosecution being ably represented while the defense was conducted by two of the best criminal lawyers in Western Oregon. Every detail affecting the case was reviewed at considerable length by both sides, every point being contested. Witnesses were excluded from the court room and were called to the stand one at a time. Cross-examination by both the prosecution and the defense was thorough and exacting.

Martin Adams was kept on the stand until nearly two o'clock, being subjected to a rigid cross-examination at the hands of Mr. Giltner for the defense.

Mr. and Mrs. Fisher who conduct the Commercial Hotel at Silverton testified regarding footprints in hallway out on stairway leading to room occupied by Wise, which were discovered on the morning of the fire.

T. W. Butler, a traveling man who occupied the room adjoining Wise on the night of the fire, corroborated the statements of the preceding witnesses.

The next witness was O. F. Webb and an important witness he proved to the prosecution. His testimony was entirely new, having not been offered at the preliminary examination, and was most damaging to the defense. He related a conversation he held with Wise about two weeks before the fire occurred, in which the defendant inquired of him if he supposed the entire block would be destroyed should one of the buildings in the block in which store occupied by defendant was located, take fire. Witness told defendant that he thought not. In addition to this testimony witness identified the soiled socks found on the hotel roof as similar to the ones he had seen Wise wear. The witness evidently told the truth, for the most severe cross questioning failed to shake his testimony in the slightest particular.

VanFalkenberg also identified the dirty hose as resembling those he had seen Wise wear.

Mr. Drake offered similar testimony regarding the soiled socks. Drake was among the first to arrive at the scene of the fire and forced the rear door open. He testified that the fire was burning in rear of the building in the corner opposite that occupied by the stove.

Mr. Scafritz, the Silverton laundryman, testified he had laundried for Mr. Wise socks, similar to the ones introduced as evidence against the defendant.

Constable Simeral, of Silverton precinct, stated that when he arrested the defendant he was wearing no socks. Sheriff Durbin and Deputy Sheriff B. B. Colbath, who received the defendant at the county jail following his arrest, testified the feet of Wise were badly stained.

This concluded the case for the prosecution with the exception of L. Benjamin who was reported ill in Portland and unable to attend in court. The state rested its case at this juncture with the understanding that upon Mr. Benjamin's arrival, he should be placed upon the witness stand.

Counsel for defense proposed a motion to dismiss the case, but the state having not concluded the presentation of its case, the argument and consideration of the motion was deferred.

Mr. Fisher was the first witness called for the defense. The defense showed that Mrs. Fisher's memory had become seriously impaired since the preliminary examination in that her testimony in behalf of the defendant was not nearly as thorough as at the initial trial. Mrs. Fisher's testimony was particularly vauity in relation to the condition of the room occupied by Wise on the night of the fire.

John Mount and Margaret Fisher were next called but offered nothing of a material character, save to state that on the morning of the fire Wise appeared very much dejected and was crying. Miss Alice Davenport also testified as to the mourning of the defendant and to his reputation as a law-abiding citizen, which was good.

Frank Morley and A. G. Adams testified that Wise was considerably frightened on morning of fire by reason of the numerous threats that had been made against his life and that he went to Woodburn for his own personal safety.

B. Wise, the defendant, was the next witness called. After some introductory testimony relating to the establishing of himself in business at Silverton, the witness positively denied that the stained socks, introduced as evidence against him, belonged to him. Wise then related an account of his action on the night before and the morning of the fire. His statement had been well committed and required no prompting by his attorney, but the story carried with it no conviction in the minds of his auditors.

The cross questioning of Wise was not concluded until nearly 7 o'clock when court adjourned till 9 o'clock this morning.

This morning P. Fennell was called in rebuttal of testimony offered by Butler on Wednesday but on technical legal ground, prosecution objected to mode of questioning proposed and objection sustained.

Neither the prosecution nor the defense had the advantage of the testimony of I. Benjamin, of Portland, for whom a bench warrant was issued. It has been ascertained that the witness is seriously ill at his home in Portland.

Miss Bonnie Gans, stenographer who reported the preliminary examination of Wise, was called for purpose of impeaching June Drake. Miss Gans' notes transcribed showed that Drake testified that when he entered the burning building there was fire about the stove. At his examination yesterday he directly contradicted himself.

State called Miss Emma Murphy, stenographer who reported the case at preliminary trial for the state, in rebuttal of testimony of Miss Gans. Notes by the witness showed that Drake on preliminary examination swore that there was no fire about the stove when he entered the building. The answers to the one question as interpreted by the two stenographers were directly opposite.

This concluded taking of testimony. Counsel for defense offered a motion that the evidence regarding the stained socks and foot prints be not considered by the jury for the reason that they had not been sufficiently identified to be associated with the defendant. The motion was denied.

Defendants' counsel filed a motion instructing the jury to render a verdict of acquittal in favor of defendant on the grounds of insufficiency of evidence to convict: First, State had not shown that the building had been maliciously set on fire; 2nd, that the alleged facts attempted to be relied on particularly the identification of the soiled hose and footprints had not been sufficiently proven; 3rd., no evidence had been offered that would convict defendant of burning the the building.

A number of authorities were cited and the case was submitted without argument. The motion was promptly denied by Judge Burnett and the closing arguments were proceeded with, each side being allowed an hour. Bingham opened the case for the state and was followed by S. L. Hayden, for the defendant. John H. McNary, for the prosecution, and R. R. Giltner, for Wise, concluded the arguments.

The charge of the jury was delivered and the case submitted shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Case of State vs. Vaughn, charged with assault with intent to kill, was taken up immediately following case of Wise.

RUMOR DRESSER

Dewey to Make a Frantic Protest

HE SIGNED UP A SETTER

Agreeing to do About Everything That He Has not Yet tried to do

If elected to the Oregon Legislature I promise to join with such other Republican members as may desire a caucus for the nomination of a Republican candidate for United States Senator in a call for the same. I agree to participate in the caucus and abide by its result. I also agree to vote in the caucus on every ballot which shall be taken therein for Henry W. Corbett for United States Senator, and in the event of his nomination by the caucus or in the event that there is no caucus, or that I participate in no caucus I agree to vote in the House and in the joint convention for Henry W Corbett on every ballot which shall be taken for United States Senator and to continue doing so until released by Mr. Corbett himself. I further agree to use all honorable efforts to secure Mr. Corbett's election to the United States Senate. A. S. DRESSER.

April 10, 1900.

Dresser's explanation in reply to the above letter was that he had agreed before election to vote for Mr. Corbett if he was a candidate. He admitted signing the letter published and saying he had intended to support Mr. Corbett until ten days before this session when he became suspicious as to methods employed and rumors heard and stories told him by others, and he had since decided he could not vote for Mr. Corbett.

He got a round of applause at the close of his remarks and the rollcall proceeded.

That was the day the McBride vote went to Geo. H. Williams and they will probably stand on that gentleman as their final candidate. Herman got seven votes, but it is understood that of these but five will stand by him. Mr. Dresser's speech was well received but produced no effect on the situation except to make the Corbett supporters stand by him more firmly.

FREAKS IN LUNCH ORDERS.

Waiter Calls Attention to the Imitative Habit Among Patrons.

One of the amusing things to be noticed at the lunch counters is the habit of imitation. If the man on the end studies the bill of fare and then orders a ham sandwich, pumpkin pie and a glass of milk, all his neighbors are likely to duplicate his order, and soon there will be a whole row eating exactly the same things. Sometimes this similarity of appetite causes serious embarrassment. This is invariably the case if the occupants of the high chairs shift about the same time and the men on the end have numerous chances to set examples for 20 or 30 patrons. Then the pumpkin pie or sandwiches are sure to give out before the noon hour is past.

"It's funny how lazy people are," said one of the waiters at a down town lunch place. "There are lots of men who won't look at a bill of fare, and they just stare over the counter and ask for anything that comes into their heads if they don't happen to see another fellow eating just what they want. If we have something sort of out of the ordinary, like fried oysters, something that can be written on the card in ink, so it will make a good impression on the public, it's a losing investment if the fellow on the end near the door happens to pick it out. Then every one that passes him sees the oysters, and soon there is a regular chorus of yells for oysters. There ain't a patron that wants corn beef hash or cold cabbage.

"People are just like sheep or geese. They like to follow a leader if it's in nothing but eating. I've seen big worded articles about thoughts and ideas being catching or contagious. Any philosopher who has a chance to wait on a lunch counter would believe in that theory. Ideas are as catching as the measles, and don't you forget it."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Alcohol and the Brain.

A lecture delivered by Dr. Victor Horsley in England on "The Action of Alcohol on the Brain" showed how fibers connect all parts of the brain so that it acts as a whole. It was desired to find out whether the brain as a whole works as well with alcohol as without. One way of testing this was by testing the reaction time, the length taken in perceiving a given signal. He tried a complex experiment, showing a signal with a number of it which was not to be signaled back unless it was above ten. This took longer, involving association of ideas, and the time from the very first was prolonged by alcohol. Professor Horsley said that chloroform, ether, nitrous oxide and similar narcotics acted in the same way. Alcohol produced a dissolution of the nerve centers.

Kraepelin had tried the action of alcohol on muscular power by means of the pressure dynamometer, which was squeezed at regular intervals. After a rest alcohol was taken, and at first there was a little increase, soon followed by a notable decrease. Under the influence of tea there was no decrease at all. He showed a diagram constructed by Dr. Aschaffenberg representing the amount of type set up by certain compositors in a quarter of an hour before and after taking alcohol. The amount was made less by alcohol.—Argonaut.

A kitten has been brought up on an exclusively vegetable diet by a family of vegetarians. The result is that it will not touch animal food, and it pays no attention to rats or mice.
