LAWYERS ORDERED PLACED IN PRISON

But Released on Order of Acting Governor Cooper of the Kanaka Republic.

HAWAIIAN LEGISLATORS ARE NOT SO MUCH DIFFERENT FROM OTHERS

Proceedings That Sound Like Some at Home—Grand Jury Still in Session and Getting on Track of Corruption Among Members of the Home Rule Party—Arbitrary Judge to Be Removed.

HONOLULU, May 28.—A strange state of affairs has grown out of the investigations of the grand jury into the charges of bribery in the Legislature. Last Saturday three of the best known lawyers, Hartwell, Kinney and Ballou, were sentenced to thirty days in jail for contempt of court by Judge Humphreys, but before they reached the prison all were released by pardon of Acting Governor Cooper.

The sentences were on account of an affidavit which the attorneys attempted to file in Humphreys' court to show the Judge's personal bias against Editor Smith of the Advertiser, who was indicted by the Grand Jury for perjury. In the storm raised by these proceedings, the grand jury's investigations of the bribery cases had been lost sight of, but the jury is still in session and is believed to be getting close to some bribery cases.

The foundation for the reports of bribery in the legislature has finally been revealed by Jacob Cooper, who wanted the railroad franchise. Cooper swears he was asked by three different members of the House to pay them money for their efforts in behalf of his bill to secure franchise for his railroad. He has been before the grand jury and it is stated told the names of the representatives who solicited bribes.

A petition will be circulated in Honolulu among the lawyers today asking for the removal of Judge Humphreys.

I, Mrs. CAROLINE ROTZOLL, do hereby certify that I have been afflicted with Ovarian Tumors for a number of years, also liver trouble. I desire to publicly state upon oath that Dr. J. F. Cook of Salem, Oregon, has removed said tumors, two in number, without the use of knife, plaster or poisonous drugs, and that I am entirely, and as I believe permanently cured. I cheerfully recommend Dr. Cook to all persons afflicted as I was. I feel that he has saved my life. My home is three miles south of Turner, Oregon.

Witness my hand and seal this 5th day of May, 1901.

Do Not Listen to "Cappers"

Who are hired to defame me and my methods of treatment. If I could not cure people there would be no use to defame me. It is because I do cure people that I am persistently misrepresented, but I keep on curing folks just the same, and some of the best people in Oregon stand by me, for which I am thankful.

Send for Circulars containing testimonials from patients cured both in Oregon and in the East. Don't despair because you have been told you have been told you could not be cured. Dr. Cook has cured hundreds of people whose cases have been pronounced hopeless by the "old school" physicians.

WOMAN AND HER SON TO BE BURNED ALIVE

Charged With the Murder of a Sixteen Year Old Daughter.

CHICAGO, June 5.—A special to the Tribune from Aurora, Mo., says: A woman and her son, accused of murder, will be burned at the stake if the plans of a mob in Stone County are not frustrated. The charge is that the woman and her son killed Alice Stallion, 16 years old, the woman's daughter. They lived near Cape Fair and the girl's body was found in the river by fishers. The supposition was that she had committed suicide on account of a love affair which her mother opposed. Last night, however, a seven-year old child of Mrs. Stallion, confessed claiming that a while Mrs. Stallion held the girl her stepson broke her neck with a poker. Afterwards they wrapped the body in a comforter and threw it in the river.

CHILD LABOR IN THE SOUTH

Investigated by an English Woman Who Tells Her Discoveries—Bill Introduced in Alabama Legislature in Their Behalf is Defeated.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Direct responsibility for the trouble with labor existing in Southern mills is charged by an English woman, who has been investigating the subject for Samuel Gompers, to capitalists and mill owners in New York and other Northern cities. The woman is Mrs. Irene A. Ashby and she recently visited Alabama and other Southern States on a tour of investigation. In speaking of her experience before the Social Reform Club, she said: "I found that in many mills in Alabama and Georgia one half of the operatives were children and in some cases the percentage ran as low as six or seven. Their ages ranged from five to 12 and of course beyond. "The mill owners and proprietors said in extenuation that they had taken these people from their little farms where they were living in conditions of the utmost poverty and brought them together in committees and made out of them an industrial people. But the children I saw living on the little farms had bright cheeks and round limbs, while those I saw in the mills were haggard and wan. "Having seen these conditions as they exist today throughout the south I went to the capitol of Alabama and with others tried to get bills through the Legislature prohibiting the employment of children in these mills. We learned that all had been cut and dried before us. We had the bill introduced. In answer they put up the manager of a mill entirely controlled by northern labor, a mill that had moved to the south from the heart of New England. "There also was before the Legislature a northern man. In rebuttal he spoke of the lace curtains in the windows of his operatives, of their neat houses, but never a word of child labor. The bill was defeated. We learned later that it is the truth that the new south is depending upon the capital of the north to bring about the industrial development and boom that has been so long impending. In defeating the bill, they cried 'do anything that is going to hurt the industrial development of the south!'"

The North has said to the South, "we will bring our capital; but you must allow us to take advantage of the labor movement as we find it. We must have your child labor." So dividends are built up out of the sacrificed lives of babies. There are men who living here, are known in the north as philanthropists who earn their incomes through the employments of babies in their southern investments."

BRITISH AUTHORITIES WERE NOT SURPRISED

At the Extent of the Disaster in the Battle of Vlakfontein.

KRUGER AND HIS FRIENDS ARE VERY MUCH ENCOURAGED

Result Shows Boers are Capable of Putting up a Battle and Carrying Out a Complete Surprise Filled With Disaster to a Great Nation.

CAPE TOWN, June 5.—The garrison of Jamestown, Cape Colony, which surrendered to Kritzinger's command on June 2, numbered 60 men in all. Kritzinger's force is estimated at 1000 men. The British killed 12 and wounded 15 Boers before they were overpowered.

NEW YORK, June 5.—A dispatch to the Tribune from London says: Military men were not surprised when the official story of the battle of Vlakfontein came out yesterday. They had suspected from the heavy British losses, that the Boer attack was a surprise, but had not guessed that the rear guard of Dixon's force had been "rushed" and that two guns had been temporarily captured before the main body could be rallied for their recovery.

This engagement occurred further west than was at first reported and communications with Pretoria were interrupted. Delays fought with desperate energy and was repulsed after he had secured important advantages. Clearly the war has not yet reached the police state. The Boers proved once more that they could plan a battle with skill, and while they were driven off they made an effective demonstration of fighting force which would seem to put an end to all rumors of peace negotiations. This is the interpretation which Mr. Kruger's group of advisors in Holland place upon it. An irrefragable conflict goes on with a revival of courage on the Boer side.

Tuesday night's dispatches brought following: The War office tonight publishes the following dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, June 4th:

"Jamestown (Cape Colony) surrendered to Kritzinger's command on the morning of June 2, after four hours of fighting. The town guard and local volunteers were overpowered before the Boer prison columns came up. Our casualties were three killed and two wounded. The Boer loss is said to have been greater. The stores were looted but the garrison was released. Have placed General French in charge of operations of Cape Colony."

Details received regarding the fighting at Vlakfontein show that it was one of the most desperate engagements of the war. Dixon's column was traversing the district and establishing posts, when it was attacked by 1200 Boers under Commandant Kemp. The Boers were so close that fifty British fell at the first volley.

The Yeomanry held the position protecting the guns until they were nearly decimated, and then finding it impossible to save the guns, the artillerymen shot the gunhorses to prevent the Boers moving the guns. The column quickly recovered from the shock of the unexpected attack. The Derbyshires charged with bayonets. It is asserted that while Boers had temporary possession of the guns they shot two artillerymen in cold blood for refusing to work them against their own comrades.

The recrudescence of such fighting brings for further demands for sending out troops.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Consul General Howe at Cape Town, is overwhelmed with work growing out of the Boer war and is particularly beset by inquiries from friends and relatives of Americans who have drifted into the country and become involved in the war.

He has found it necessary to write the State Department on account of the difficulties he is having in answering the many letters of inquiries, which in the past three months numbered over 700. Most of these relate to American boys who went to Cape Town as muleteers on cattle ships and drifted into either the Boer or the British army.

Many of these are now prisoners of war and are very urgent for discharge and a free passage home, as they are nearly all without money. The consul general says: "I want to assure friends that the men who are at the prison camps (Simonstown, Durban, St. Helen and Ceylon) are well cared for and actually fare, as compared with the British soldier, much better."

The Consul finds further trouble in the prevalence of the plague which retards mails and closes railroad lines. John Morley, says a Tribune dispatch from London has always been noted as one of the best platform speakers in Great Britain, and he has worthily

Gray at Thirty

Nothing tells of age so quickly as gray hair. Ayer's Hair Vigor is a youth restorer. It never fails to restore color to gray hair. It stops the hair from coming out. Thin hair becomes thick hair, and short hair becomes long hair. It cleanses the scalp; removes dandruff. "My hair was falling out and turning gray very fast. But your Hair Vigor stopped the falling of the hair and restored it to its natural color." — Mrs. E. Z. BENOMMS, Cohoes, N. Y., April 21, 1899. One dollar a bottle.
