

There Are 2400

Disorders incident to the human frame, of which a majority are caused or promoted by impure blood.

The remedy is simple.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

That this medicine radically and effectively purifies the blood is known to every druggist, known to hundreds of thousands of people who themselves or by their friends have experienced its curative powers.

The worst cases of scrofula, the most agonizing sufferings from salt rheum and other virulent blood diseases, are conquered by it, while those cured of boils, pimples, dyspeptic and bilious symptoms and that tired feeling are numbered by millions.

Hood's Sarsaparilla
Will do you good. Begin to take it today.

SALEM AND VICINITY.

Albany is voting on a goddess of Liberty contest

The Maccabees are making extensive arrangements for the big excursion and clam bake on June 11th. A great throng will go on this excursion to Yaquina.

Albany people think President Hayes, of the Southern Pacific, is not inspecting the Corvallis & Eastern road from end to end just for his health.

The young son of Frank Smith, who resides in East Salem, fell from a high platform of the line repairing car of the Salem Light & Traction Co., and sustained a fracture of the bones of the right forearm Tuesday evening about 4 o'clock.

Felton.
"When do you intend to start for the south?"
"We shall probably leave Tuesday."
"Expect to take the rest of the week with you?"—Chicago Tribune.

The first great fire in an American city occurred at Boston Aug. 8, 1872. By this conflagration 150 buildings were destroyed, the loss amounting to over $200,000.

Unnecessary Loss of Time.
Mr. W. S. Whedon, Cashier of the First National Bank of Winterest, Iowa, in a recent letter gives some experience with a carpenter in his employ, that will be of value to other mechanics. He says: "I had a carpenter working for me who was obliged to stop work for several days on account of being troubled with diarrhoea. I mentioned to him that I had been similarly troubled and that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy had cured me. He bought a bottle of it from the druggist here and informed me that one dose cured him, and he is again at his work." For sale by F. G. Haas, Druggist.

Evidence to the Contrary.
"I told Uncle Simon that he was getting too old and feeble to attend to business."
"Did he take it kindly?"
"He threw me out of his office."—Chicago Record.

The Latest Yarn.
A Pittsburgh drummer tells this new yarn: "I always carry a bottle of Kemp's Balsam in my grip. I take cold easily and a few doses of the Balsam always makes me a well man. Every where I go I speak a good word for Kemp. I take hold of my customers—I take old men and young men, and tell them confidentially what I do when I take cold. At druggists, 50c and 50c."

SOCIAL EVENTS

SATURDAY, June 8—Womans Club Meeting.

Oregon Institute Graduates.

Graduating exercises of the Oregon Institute were held at the Methodist church Tuesday evening, and attended by a large audience. The class roll is: Latin Scientific Class: Elizabeth Enid Aschenbrenner, Frank Lincoln Grannia, Herbert Leigh Jack, Joseph Roscoe Lee, Ivan G. Martin, E. Ma. Linn Perkins, Edna Elliott Taylor, E. Kinney Miller.
Normal Class: David Evans Baxter, Elma Ruth Byrne, Ada Grace Dayton, Virginia Victoria Wortham, Carrie Margaretta Ridings, Kate Lenore Riegg, Hallie Hortense Watson, Edna Jones.
English Class: Mable Irene Shupp. The program opened with an invocation by Dr. John Parsons, and was followed with an overture by the S. S. orchestra. Miss Mabel Lankton Carter then read Kipling's Recessional, which was received with much applause. She responded to the encore with "The Mermaids." Miss Carter always delights her auditors with her selections and manner of delivery. She has few superiors as an elocutionist and her addresses are usually appreciative.

Miss Joy Turner delighted the audience with a violin solo, a Hungarian Fantasia.
Rev. G. H. Bennett was introduced and delivered the address of the evening. His talk was to the 20th century student and was full of earnest, high thoughts.
Miss Lou White sang "When the Heart is Young" in a charming way, and after the presentation of diplomas, the orchestra rendered a pretty selection.

A Wedding.

Miss Martha Muller of this city, daughter of Mrs. J. Zupanek was married this morning to Joseph Hennen of Idaho, at the Catholic church by Father W. F. Daly. They left today for a short visit at Newport, after which they will go to Idaho to reside.

Sacred Heart Commencement.
Commencement exercises of the Sacred Heart Academy will be held Thursday, June 13, at the academy building. An excellent program is arranged and a large attendance is expected.

WEEKLY SUMMARY OF CROP REPORTS.

From the Oregon Section, Climate and Crop Service, and Weather Bureau. Weekly Crop Bulletin Published by Edward A. Beale, District Office, Portland, O., Or.

The past week has been cool, unusually cloudy, and with deficient rainfall, except that well distributed showers occurred in the northeast portion of the State on Saturday. The maximum temperatures during the week in western Oregon ranged between 59 degrees and 82 degrees and the minimum temperatures between 38 degrees and 55 degrees. In eastern Oregon the maximum temperatures ranged between 60 degrees and 84 degrees, and the minimum temperatures between 38 degrees and 62 degrees. Light frosts occurred Thursday morning in many sections of the State, but no damage results from them. The soil is sufficiently moist in all sections of the State, except in Jackson county, where more rain is needed.

There has been a market improvement in the condition of all kinds of grain during the week. The heaviest fly in Washington county is not doing as much damage as was expected, and there are practically no complaints this week of injury by the grain aphid. Some few fields of fall wheat on low land have turned yellow, but the bulk of the crop is in excellent condition and that farthest advanced is heading nicely. Spring grain is everywhere growing well and promises an excellent crop.

Hops potatoes and gardens have made good advancement, but corn continues somewhat backward on account of prevailing cool nights.
Stock is fat and range grass abundant. Some early alfalfa and clover have been cut, and hay will generally begin in a week or ten days, with the prospects favorable for an extra heavy crop being harvested.

Strawberries are abundant, and the prospects are also favorable for a large crop of blackberries. Tree fruit continues dropping in some sections, but complaints of this character are diminishing. Prunes are very uneven, owing to the frosts; some correspondents report that the trees have all the fruit they can carry while others rear by report the crop a total failure. Apples continue promising. The peach crop will undoubtedly be short.

THE DEADLY COBRA.

How Venomous Creature is Handled by Hindoo Snake Chasers.
The creatures were on the defensive, but not one of them attempted to strike the master, who sat serenely in front of them, so long as he did nothing to annoy them. Kullian talked to them as if they were his dearest friends. After a time one or the other of them would lower its head, collapse its hood and begin to try to wriggle away. Whereupon Kullian would give it a smart little rap on the tail with his stick and bring it instantly to attention again. Whether this man possessed any special magic over these reptiles or whether the description given below of how he could handle and play with them was simply due to his method I cannot say. He himself repudiated the idea of magic and asserted positively that any one who had the necessary nerve and dexterity could do exactly the same.

He used no reed instrument or music of any kind to propitiate the reptiles. He would simply squat on his haunches in front of them, and after they had been hissing and swaying their uplifted heads backward and forward for a few minutes, he raised his hands above their heads and slowly made them descend till they rested on the snakes' heads. He then stroked them gently, speaking all the time in the most endearing Hindoo terms of endearment. The serpents appeared speechless and bound. They made no effort to resent the liberty, but remained quite still, with heads uplifted, and seemed rather to enjoy it. Presently his hands would descend down the necks about three inches below the heads, his fingers would close loosely around the necks, and he would lift them off the ground and place them on his shoulders. The loosening of the grip appeared to be the main secret. The snakes, being in no way hurt, would then slowly crawl through his fingers and wind themselves round his neck, his shoulders and his arms. They appeared to realize that no harm was to be done them, and they made no effort to resent the handling. He would pick them gently off one arm and place them on the other and, in fact, stroke them and pet them as if they had been a pair of harmless worms.—Cornhill.

HOW QUAILS HIDE.

Although the Man Could Not See the Bird the Pup Was Right.
We are all more or less inclined to dispute the unusual incidents reported by observant brother sportsmen and if persuaded will excuse the bigotry shown by saying, "I never saw any such thing." The claim has been made that a quail will lay a dead leaf over its back when "laying close" in the woods, and this I have always thought an appropriate extract from a pretty fairy tale and pitted any one who could be guided by such a very transparent fable.
One day while hunting quail a covey flushed wild and scattered in the woods. My companion took the old dog and I the pup, and we proceeded to beat up the cover. The first point the pup made was at the foot of a small tree, where the trees stood thick, but where the ground was stony and was covered only with thin patches of dead leaves.
"Takin' the direction of the dog's eyes, I passed close by his head and, brushing by the tree at the foot of which he stood, walked on 10 or 15 feet, but flushed nothing.
"Going back to the dog, I carefully took the direction of his eyes and looking closely discovered sitting between the roots of the tree within a span of my foot the bird, and lying well over its back was a large dead oak leaf placed in such a manner as to convince me beyond all shadow of a doubt that the bird had hidden in there.
My reputation for veracity is fairly good, but I wish that pup could also make a statement in this case, for he and I were the only witnesses of this, to me, strange and interesting incident.
P. S.—We got the bird.—Lewis Hopkins in Forest and Stream.

Victoria's Proposal.

It was at Windsor castle that Queen Victoria, then only a girl of 20, did what she described as "the most nervous thing a woman was ever called on to do"—when she summoned the young Prince Albert of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha to a private interview and "proposed" to him. She had first met him when as a boy of 17 he came with his father to England, and when, three years later, he "made no secret" of his love for his fair cousin "no one was surprised and every one was delighted."—London Tit-Bits.
