Some Big Radishes.

A. J. Swirnik of South Salem brings this Journal two large, white Stuttgart radishes weighing 4 1/2 pounds. The larger one measured 19 inches in circumference, and the seed was sown last January.

Came Near Dying.

"For three days and nights I suffered agony outside from an attack of cholera morbose brought on by eating cucumbers," says M. E. Lowther, clerk of the district court, Centerville, Iowa. "I thought I should surely die, and tried a dozen different medicines, but all to no purpose. I sent for a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and three doses relieved me entirely." This remedy is for sale by Dr. Stone's Drug Store.

DEFENDS JOHN ROBERTSON

And Denounces the Capitalistic Class.

Some Statements That Are Their Own Most Conclusive Refutation.

Following is about one-fourth of the matter sent by an alleged Socialist, that will be printed in THE DAILY JOURNAL in installments, as fast as space can be found.—Ed. J.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—I have read your drastic criticism of Mr. Robertson, and your glaring misrepresentation of said article impels me to accept your invitation to Socialists to use the columns of THE JOURNAL for the presentation of arguments. I assure you that I appreciate your generosity and manifest fairness in giving this broadcast invitation. Now, Mr. Editor, in charging you with misrepresentation, I do not wish you to understand that I believe or wish to imply that you are intentionally guilty, but rather that you have written hurriedly and without due consideration of the statements you were making. I hope, in what I shall have to say, to show you that you have gone widely astray in your reading and application of Mr. R.'s article. You quote from him as follows: "THE CAPITALISTIC CLASS IS A PARASITIC CLASS, A BLOOD-SUCKING INCUBUS ON SOCIETY AND MUST NOT OWN THE MEANS BY WHICH HONEST MEN MAKE THEIR LIVING." You are pleased to call this statement "dangerous inflammatory and incendiary." Now I wish to say that I endorse every word of the above statement, as quoted by you, notwithstanding your scathing denunciation of it, and shall undertake to prove that it has no element of danger, that it is not inflammatory, only in behalf of truth and righteousness, and is in no sense incendiary. To the contrary, I will show that the said statement is the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. I don't consider Mr. R. "a careless, indiscriminate denouncer, of all capital." Right here, Mr. Editor, is where you fall down.

Mr. R. says nothing about capital in the extract quoted. How can you be so superficial as to not see this? Not a word about capital, and here you are putting words into his mouth making him say things which he did not think of saying, and, I venture would not say under any circumstances. I hope that you did not intentionally misrepresent Mr. R., for I would much rather think that you were mistaken than to think that you were dishonest. If you will read Mr. R.'s words as they are, and as he intended they should be read, you will see that he speaks of CAPITALISTS and NOT OF CAPITAL.

I understand that a parasite is any sort of life that lives by absorbing from some other plant or animal its sustenance, and not returning anything as an equivalent for the same. Now, Mr. Editor, I fully agree with Mr. R. in bringing this charge against the capitalistic class. The capitalist, through a system which permits him to use his capital as a highwayman does his club, and "holds up" and robs the working producer of the products of his labor. But you exclaim, should not capitalists be permitted to exact and take a portion of the producer's products for the use of his capital. And I answer, no! Labor should own the means of production and not be bound slave to the tools which he uses. He should be entirely independent of the capitalist (not capital). Who produced the capital which the capitalist owns? Was it not the worker? How did the capitalist get his capital? Did he produce it, or earn it? No! He exploited it from labor by means of the capitalistic club, the private ownership of capital. Did John D. Rockefeller produce the millions of capital which he holds? Or does he earn the 50 or 60 millions of dollars which he takes from labor by the way of profits each year? A man to earn one million dollars at ten dollars per day would have to work more than 250 years. John D. gets more in the way of profits in one year than 14,000 men could earn at ten dollars per day in the same time. Is he not a parasite, and a very vigorous one at that? I see nothing in the words of Mr. R., to produce anarchists. But I do see in the present unjust conditions cause for much righteous discontent. Why should the producer receive only 10 to 25 per cent. of the products of his toil as his share when he produces it all? Why should the capitalist by means of the ownership of the means by which labor produces its living be allowed to take 90 per cent. of his products?

Mr. R. is eminently correct when he says that the capitalist must not own the means by which laboring men produce their living, and I see no threats in those words—nothing about resorting to force. It is very plain that Mr. R. says that the capitalist must not own the tools of production. Why? Because the man who owns the tools and the man who uses them, and through the capitalistic ownership of the tools of production and distribution, the working man is the slave of the capitalist. Mr. R. says nothing about striking down or applying the torch. All the incendiary and dangerous inflammatory words are the words of THE JOURNAL editor. What sense would there be in starting out with a revolver in one hand and a torch and bomb in the other and making an assault on every capitalist one might meet? Mr. R. belongs to a class of reformers who do not believe in any such means of righting the wrongs of the laboring man. He has not, and, I predict never will, advocate any such methods. Certainly socialists would utilize all existing capital. Who said they would not? Surely not Mr. R., as he said nothing against capital. He spoke of THE CAPITALIST, NOT CAPITAL. Here is where you continuously stumble Mr. Editor, not being able to discern the distinction between CAPITAL and CAPITALIST. Socialists believe in capital, but contend that there should be no capitalists. But some might say, Low can you have capital without having capitalists?

SOCIALISM PROPOSES TO MAKE THE MEANS OF PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION THE PROPERTY OF THE WHOLE PEOPLE, AND GIVE EVERY MAN A CHANCE TO USE THEM WITHOUT CONSULTING ANY CAPITALIST. But socialism does not propose to forcibly wrest from the capitalist his capital, in order to get possession of it. Socialism proposes to get the capital of the country by honorable means, much more honorable means than by which the capitalist of the country got possession of his wealth. Now, Mr. Editor, I think that I have shown conclusively that the capitalist does not produce or earn that which he gets. Then if he does not produce what he gets, then some other person does and if the capitalist gets the products of some one which he does not earn, then he must certainly be a parasite and Mr. R. is right in his statement. It is not the stating of facts, as they exist that breeds anarchists.

EULOGY OF J. M. WALLACE

Rev. H. Gibson on the occasion of the funeral service over the remains of the late J. M. Wallace, of this city took for his text the 23d Psalm and said:

Rev. H. Gibson took for his text the 23d Psalm. I bring to you today a message from the word of God, [the sweetest song that ever passed thro' human lips, on its way from God to human ears and hearts. I do not wish to separate this beautiful string of pearls, so we will examine every verse as it flashes before us. Perhaps no other portion of the Word of God has brought so much joy and gladness to his believing people in all the different conditions of life. It has strengthened the weak, comforted the sorrowing and prepared the dying to meet death triumphantly. David, the author of this Psalm was a shepherd, and all that he was to his flock, God is to his people, and much more.

The Divine Shepherd—"The Lord is My Shepherd." David was right when in using this title. Christ says, "I am the good shepherd." His tender care for his sheep—He supplies all their wants, he restores the erring, seeking them when they stray away from Christ. He brings them back and ever after leads them in right paths.

FOR THE CHILDREN
To Keep Their Digestion Perfect Nothing is So Safe and Pleasant as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Thousands of men and women have found Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets the safest and most reliable preparation for any form of indigestion or stomach trouble.

Thousands of people who are not sick, but are well and wish to keep well take Stuart's Tablets after every meal to insure perfect digestion and avoid trouble.

It is not generally known that the Tablets are just as good and wholesome for little folks as for their elders. Little children who are pale, thin and have no appetite, or do not grow or thrive, should use the tablets after eating and will derive great benefit from them.

Mrs. G. H. Croley, 538 Washington St., Hoboken, New Jersey, writes: "Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets just fill the bill for children as well as for older folks. I've had the best of luck with them. My three-year old girl takes them as readily as candy. I have only one thing to say to you, and that is, to say 'tablets' and she drops every thing else and runs for them."

A Buffalo mother, a short time ago, who despaired of the life of her babe, was so delighted with the results from giving the child these tablets that she went before the notary public of Erie Co., N. Y., and made the following affidavit:

Gentlemen:—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were recommended to me for my two-month-old baby, which was sick and popy and the doctors said was suffering from indigestion. I took the child to the hospital but found no relief. A friend mentioned the Stuart's Tablets and I procured a box from my druggist and used only the large sweet lozenges in the box and was delighted to find they were just the thing for my baby. I feel justified in saying that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets saved my child's life.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

An English Melodrama Will be Given Saturday.

"Sporting Life" is declared to be the greatest melodramatic production ever made in America. Such was the unanimous verdict of the New York and Chicago press. It is a massively picturesque presentation. Fourteen huge sets of scenery from New York's leading studios being used. The importance of the scenic effects may be judged from the fact that the following celebrated artists were kept busy for several weeks in preparing the equipment: Homer F. Emeus, Ernest Albert, John H. Young, Jos. P. Physick, Gates & Morange, H. t & Becker and F. Flator. The most noteworthy pictures are the training stables at Newmarket, the ancestral hall of the Earl of Woodstock, copied from the famous painting, "The Day of Reckoning," the Earl's Court Exhibition, the Hotel Cecil, the interior of the National Sporting Club, London, Covent Garden by night, and a view of the Epsom Downs race course in Derby week. Each of these points of interest has been reproduced with fidelity, and all are massive in construction and perfect in detail. The superior excellence of the cast provided by the management will attract no less attention than the great display of elaborate scenery. The company is one of the largest that has visited this city and the chief players are said to be the most capable ever seen in melodrama. The big production is to be seen at the Grand Opera House, Saturday night.
