ASSAILANT OF MRS. STRONG

Writes a Letter Making a Confession.

The Whereabouts of the Husband Still Shrouded in Mystery.

THE JOURNAL is in receipt of the appended letter from a man who claims to have assaulted Mrs. Fred Strong in this city on last Wednesday evening.

Is This a Confession?

SALEM, Oct. 19, 1901.
ED. JOURNAL—I wish to make a statement in regard to the assault made on Mrs. Strong on the night of the 16th inst. if you will allow me through the columns of your paper. I will say in regard to the man, Strong, he may be a gambler and a very bad man for what I know, but he is not guilty of the above assault, as I am the guilty party, and had I not made a grievous mistake, I never should have written this letter. Guilty as I may seem, I am not hard enough to let an innocent man suffer for my crime. I have suffered remorse since I learned my mistake in the person; it grieves me to learn that I had attacked an inoffensive woman, especially one who has to work for a living.

Last August at the coast I met a young lady, I became jealous of her, she repulsed me. Then I made up my mind to have revenge. She lives in the neighborhood of — street. I saw her as I thought, go out in company with a little boy, a relative as I supposed, as he was also at the coast with her. I waited for her and as it was my only chance I made the attack, as I wished to leave the city that night, owing to my stupid blunder I wished to remain to see how my victim fared. I am happy to learn she is not seriously hurt.

By the time this reaches your office I will be far from Salem. I used one ounce of chloroform.

As to who the assailant really was is yet to be disclosed. The JOURNAL has been attempting to learn the identity of the man ever since the remarkable affair and to learn a reason for the criminal assault on an inoffensive and defenseless woman, who was knocked down, ragged and chloroformed in this city on her way home from church.

The impression was first given that Mrs. Strong's husband was the perpetrator of the deed, it appearing that no possible motive could be assigned elsewhere. This couple have been separated for about a year, since which time Mr. Strong has been in Oklahoma, or such was the statement made in a letter received from him by Mrs. Strong. The morning after the assault was made on Mrs. Strong, she received information to that effect in a letter written by Mr. Strong from Heppner, Or., and in it he stated that he would leave that place soon, to get a hand of sheep. This might account for his absence from that city on the day he was said to have been seen here. Chief of Police Gibson immediately wrote to the city marshal at Heppner to learn whether or not Mr. Strong was in Heppner on October 16th, but has received no reply. Mrs. Strong has also written to her husband to clear himself from suspicion if possible, by sending an affidavit as to his presence there.

A mistake was made by several regarding the identity of Fred Strong, husband of the Mrs. Strong who was attacked. He is by trade a printer, but often did other work, and was employed at the Allen Cannery a year ago last summer for several months, both at day and night work.

He was confined with another Fred Strong, a gambler, from Forest Grove, who formerly was in Salem occasionally. If Mr. Strong can prove an alibi, there is one other man known who may be connected with the affair, and if the letter given above is not a "fake" he may be the author of that statement.

On last Saturday afternoon a young man apparently about 24 years of age, called at Mrs. Strong's residence and seemingly was not thoroughly familiar with the place as he inquired whether or not Mrs. Strong lived there. On receiving an affirmative answer he inquired as to her health, and then expressed his sympathy and great regret that the accident had ever happened to her. As soon as he left Mrs. Strong tried to remember who he was, but could not do so, and decided that he was a perfect stranger to her, that she had never before seen him. Her description of him tallies exactly that of a man who was seen in that vicinity several times the past week.

SALEM MINISTERS MEET

The Salem Ministerial Union held a well attended meeting at the parlors of the First Christian church this forenoon and those who attended listened to an address delivered by the revivalist, Cairnes, who discussed evangelistic movements in general, approving of some lines of work and disapproving of others. The address was well received but elicited some discussion.

BLEW OFF HIS HEAD

It is believed that suicide was the cause of the sudden death Louis Greenleaf of Butteville, which occurred Sunday.

He is about twenty-two years of age. Yesterday morning he started hunting, being armed with a shot gun. Early this morning he was found on the hill above Butteville, with his head badly mangled by shot, being nearly blown off.

No reasons were given for the theory that he killed himself, but such an impression prevails.

COUNTY EXPERTS HIRED

Their Authority Denied by County Officials.

At the Marion county court house today there was a little flurry among the county officials, caused by the appearance of two strangers with County Judge Scott, who introduced them at the Sheriff's office as experts who would examine the county's books. One of the gentlemen is named Clark, and it is understood that they recently secured nearly $2,000 for expediting the books of Yamhill county.

There appears no order on the county court record authorizing this work, and it is the disposition of all the officers to refuse to turn over their books without authorized order from the court. County Clerk Hall says emphatically that he is opposed to it as an unnecessary expense, because the work ought to be done at the end of the term. Sheriff Durbin gave orders to his deputies to refuse these experts possession of his books. They had arranged to come to his office for them at one o'clock, when they expected to take them to the grand jury room for inspection, but the gentlemen had failed to show up at 9 o'clock.

Judge Scott is busy hearing an important case, and could not be seen by a JOURNAL reporter.

HELD FOR DOUBLE MURDER

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 21.—Major Al La Lande, an American, who hails from San Francisco, is reported to be in jail in El Pancho, Guatemala, on a charge of double murder. La Lande is a native of San Francisco. He achieved considerable publicity in this country a year ago, when he was brought to New Orleans after having been shot while performing duties of Chief of Police of Guatemala City. He was kept in an infirmary for months, but when he got out he went straight back to Guatemala, although those who had come so near murdering him had promised to complete the job should he ever return.

It Happened in a Drug Store.
"One day last winter a lady came to my drug store and asked for a brand of cough medicine that I did not have in stock," says Mr. C. R. Grandin, the popular druggist of Ontario, N. Y. "She was disappointed and wanted to know what cough preparation I could recommend. I said to her that I could freely recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and that she could take a bottle of the remedy and after giving it a fair trial if she did not find it worth the money to bring back the bottle and I would refund the price paid. In the course of a day or two the lady came back in company with a friend in need of a cough medicine and advised her to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I consider that a very good recommendation for the remedy." It is for sale by Dr. Stone's Drug Store.

RUSSIAN LABOR UNIONS

St. PETERSBURG, Oct. 5.—Correspondence of the Associated Press.—The press has recently contained several small paragraphs which would not attract attention in other countries which are interesting novelties in Russia. The furniture and cabinet workers of Nink have organized a club of 400 members, a club under official control, but nevertheless a club or union. The workmen of Nicolayoff have also been encouraged to organize a union. It appears that it is now the government's avowed policy to direct the workmen's movement by means of organization under official control. The president of the club at Nicolayoff is the local chief factory inspector. The new system is said to have been conceived and planned by the head of the political police at Moscow, Mr. Roubatoff.
