New York, Nov. 22.—According to the London correspondent of the Times the industrial progress of the British metropolis is complicated by the increase of pauperism, the number of paupers in London according to the report just issued, being 118 more than recorded in any report issued in the last eight years. The increase last year was nearly 4000. The papers thus enumerated are only those who have been relieved in the workhouses or by other means.

GERMANY SORE AT BRITAIN

Has Not Yet Forgotten Chamberlain And his Edinburg Speeches of Late.

British Unionist Press Fans the Flame.

New York, Nov. 22.—Commenting upon the European political situation, the London correspondent of the Tribune says: The outbreak of continental Anglophobia remains the principal theme of the English press and is dealt with in accordance with party bias. The Liberal Journals reproach Mr. Chamberlain for gaucherie and lack of tact and couple the reference to the Franco-German War with the "long spoon" and "mind your manners" phrases. The Unionist press describes the Edinburg passage as a mere commonplace which could be verified by chapter and verse from the official records of German operations in 1871, and which ought not to have produced resentment. The second letter of Mr. Chamberlain is more judicious than the first, but there is no evidence in the dispatch from Berlin, Cologne and Frankfurt that the German prejudice against England has been appeased. The same English journals are adding tinder to the flames by making citations from the German military histories, showing what was done during the final stages of the war with France. It is certain that the friendship of the German Emperor has blinded English eyes to what has been going on in the Fatherland. It has been an open secret to every one recently traveling in Germany that the public feeling was strongly against England, and that military clubs have been markedly contemptuous of British critics.

New York, Nov. 22.—A dispatch says that the audience of Sir Nicholas O'Connor, the British Ambassador, with the Sultan this week was cordial. Sir Nicholas is about to return to London, via Vienna.

FRUIT GROWERS UNION

R. C. Judson, Industrial agent of the S. P. Co., has called a meeting of the fruitgrowers of Salem and vicinity to meet at the city hall on Saturday afternoon at one o'clock to hear discussion of methods of organization and promotion of that business.

Special attention will be given to plans for securing better prices by co-operation in packing, shipping and marketing. Hon. E. L. Smith of Hood River and others are to be here and tell us all about how they have made the business profitable and successful over there.

Ladies and gentlemen interested in the fruit business should turn out and hear the facts that will be brought out and be prepared to form a union and show the fruit growers of the rest of the state that we are as bright as any of them in adopting new methods that will be useful in making Salem a greater growing and shipping center.

Fed Last Evening at the Delmonico.

Lincoln and McKinley are Eulogized.

New York, Nov. 22.—Russell Sage and Miss Helen M. Gould were honored guests at the seventh annual banquet of the S. C. city of Mayflower Descendants, at Delmonico, last night.

Senator McLaurin, of South Carolina, one of the principal speakers, said: "There are only two men in our history who fully understood the South—Lincoln and McKinley. If Lincoln had lived there would have been an end to carpet-bagging among us and if McKinley had lived he would have reunited the discordant sections of the south for more than any other man, he understood them."

LAST NIGHT'S RECITAL

Was a Triumph of Musical Interpretation.

Salem will not soon again hear the equal of Edward Baxter Perry the blind pianist, who presented his lecture recital at the First Methodist church last night and will repeat his entertainment this evening.

Throughout the whole programme Mr. Perry showed himself completely master of his instrument and rendered every selection with a grace of execution and a breadth of thought rarely equalled. His programme last evening ranged from the light descriptive melody of Rubenstein's Barcarolle embodying as the artist said "the song of the Neapolitan boatman on his blue Vesuvius Bay" to the mighty scherzo of Chopin, sublime in its moody grandeur. Beethoven, Wagner, Liszt, and two compositions by M. Perry himself, one a beautiful version of Die Lorelei, rounded out what was as fine a musical entertainment as was ever presented in any city.

LED THE IRISH BRIGADE

Galway Elects a Boer Leader.

To the British House of Commons.

Who is Fighting Bravely in The Transvaal.

New York, Nov. 22.—Commenting upon the election of Mr. Arthur Lynch over Mr. Plunkett in the Parliamentary election at Galway, Ireland, the London correspondent of the Times says:

Arthur Lynch, who has been elected to Parliament from Galway, led the so-called Irish contingent against the British flag in South Africa. It seems impossible that he should attempt to come to England to take his seat. He is a handsome young Irishman, impulsive, emotional and sentimental. The apparent indisposition of the London press to make light of his South African venture is suggestive.

New York, Nov. 22.—The London correspondent of the Tribune cables concerning the Galway elections as follows: A victory for Colonel Lynch was generally anticipated, but the plurality is greater than his supporters had expected. At the general election Morris, the Union candidate, won the seat from the Nationalists by a plurality of 137, so that the result means on paper an addition to the Nationalist force in Parliament. Not much sympathy is expressed for Mr. Plunkett, the defeated candidate, in this morning's paper.

His attitude in Galway was not sufficiently anti-National to secure for him the full Unionist vote. The government may not have sufficient evidence to show that Colonel Lynch fought for the Boers so that if he decides to disavow the testimony of his backers, he may after all be able to act as a member of Parliament.

STATE FAIR BOARD SUI.

Against the Contractors of the New Buildings—Action Taken by the Defendants.

A motion has been filed in the suit of the State Board of Agriculture, composed of W. H. Wehrung, J. H. Settlementer, Jasper Wilkins, and George Chandler, against R. T. Denham, F. P. Talking and J. C. Goodale. This suit was brought to recover $955.21, paid for material for the construction of certain buildings at the fair grounds above the contract price, and for the contract having been violated and abandoned. The motion asks for an amended complaint to be prepared to show the dates and amounts of all payments made by the Board to Denham for the construction of the Farm cottage and the machinery hall; for the amounts paid for labor and material for improvements on the pavilion and partial construction of the creamery building and the amount of material on hand at the time of the alleged abandonment of the contract; for an itemized list of the material used to complete the creamery after the departure of Denham; Whether or not the plaintiffs completed the work according to the plans and specifications of the architect, W. D. Pugh; a copy of the contract; the manner of the injury incurred by the delay in the work in the holding of the state fair; whether the payments alleged to have been made by the plaintiffs were made after the buildings were completed and accepted by the architect and the reason of the buildings not being completed prior to September 18th. J. H. McNary and Brown, Wrightman & Myers are attorneys for the defendants and Carson & Adams for the plaintiff.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 22.—The Law, passed by the last legislature prohibiting ticket scalping was today declared unconstitutional by the courts of appeals.

NEW YORK COMPARED TO THE WEST

Well Known Newspaper Man Hits Tammany

Our Standards of Morality Applied to Gotham

Colonel Pat Downan, the well known western newspaper man, is in New York at the present time and as usual is putting in a good word for the west when opportunity presents itself. The following highly characteristic letter from him finds place in the New York Commercial Advertiser:

Sir—During the past few days all your city papers have hashed and rebashed this London press dispatch of Oct. 25. The London Times of today publishes a special cable letter from New York containing many startling statements which have been sent all over Europe. The correspondent declares that a reign of terror exists in the American metropolis, and adds: "It is no exaggeration to say that New York today is as chaotic as a western mining town of a generation ago. One of the results of the political importation of traps and criminals has been to turn loose in the city many of the most dangerous men in America. Part of the price paid as a promise of immunity from punishment; and, resulting therefrom, an incredible wave of crime is sweeping over the city. Shopkeepers are in a state bordering on panic. Citizens walk the streets at night literally at the risk of their lives. The more prosperous shopkeepers are employing private watchmen, no great is the distrust of the police."

Your official microscopists and malefactors, your criminal bosses and chiefs and spies, your thieves and dirty Dicks and Tims, Vans, Ikes and Mikes, have united in a savage howl of denunciation of the article, as a slander upon the city they live to plunder, and by plundering. I rise to denounce it, from an altogether different viewpoint.

Its reference to Western mining towns, as a standard of comparison in outlaws with New York, is a wanton and infamous libel on every mining camp in the American West. There are mere murders, robberies, atrocious assaults, brutal outrages on women and children, and other heinous and dastardly crimes, in your Tammany-cursed city every 12 months, than there have ever been in all the mining camps from the Yukon to the Rio Grande put together in any 10 years of their history.

In the wildest days of Deadwood—the wildest mining camp this hemisphere, or perhaps the world, has ever seen—life and property were safer in the rugged gulches of the Black Hills than they are on half your streets and avenues today; and the standard of honor was higher in Dick Richards's saloon or Colorado Charley's gambling hall, than it is in a large proportion of your political headquarters, your municipal council halls, your court rooms and your gilded social clubs.

Baker City, Snmpster, Butte, Roseland and Dawson are, and always have been, models of the prayer book, "quiet and peaceable living, in all godliness and honesty," as compared, or rather contrasted, for their is no comparison, with any Tammanyized ward or district on Manhattan Island, either above or "below Fourteenth street."

For thirty odd years, from Bill Tweed and his gang, to Dick Croker and his gang, your whole municipal government, with rare and brief intervals of semi-decency, has been a prolonged, hideous debauch, a carnival of crime and outrage and shame; and your chosen rulers have been beastly thugs and thieves, whom no typical western mining camp would ever have tolerated twenty-hours longer than was necessary to bring them, a vigilance committee and a few stout lariat together.

For the monstrous misrule of these unspicable scapshells—these Crokers and Sullivan, Deverys, Murphys, Van Wycks, Ungers, Frommes, et id omne genus hellionum—who have made the very name of your city "a hissing and a byword," a proverb of infamy throughout creation—you give up $100,000,000 a year in pirate taxes and at least $100,000,000 a year in blackmail, thievery, pilage, fraudulent contracts and franchises, bagio tribute, rake-offs and shake-downs, and miscellaneous and assorted blood money and wages of sin!

This is a gigantic, appalling total of $200,000,000 a year—within a trifle of the entire expenses of the United States government, with its 51,000,000 in 1880—and twenty times more than aggregate of all the western train robberies and mining camp hold-ups since the Louisiana purchase—wringing out of your wretched little island population annually, to pay for moat ditches, racehorses and bulldogs in England, brownstone-fronted mansions on Fifth avenue, and gumball-and-live attractions and decorations in the red-light districts, for your boss thieves and head hellions, whose despotism of iniquity is unparalleled in Christendom, and unsurpassed in Chicago or Constantinople!

Mrs. G. A. Terrell is in the city, having returned from a visit to Portland, and will remain here a few days before proceeding to her home in Mehama.

The tiger with its penitentiary stripes is its fittest emblem, and "For my pocket all the time," their characteristic motto. In any typical western mining camp we would hang the whole foul lot before tomorrow's sun went down, and then chant "To Dooms" over pious duties done!
