Told by Pain

If you have pains you should look after them quickly. Pain shows something is wrong. The sharper the pain the more danger there is in delay. There are thousands of women today who are bearing awful pain almost continually, rather than tell a physician about the shooting pains in their lower abdomen, about the agony of falling of the womb and the distress of leucorrhoea. They let the months pass and their trouble becomes harder to cure and more distressing. But modern women can secure exemption from the embarrassment of a private examination. When pain tells them of danger they can cure themselves by the use of

WINE OF CARDUI

In the privacy of their homes. You can be cured without embarrassing publicity. With these facts before you there is no reason for the delay which is increasing your misery and wasting the days of your life. Why not stop the pain today?

I have used one bottle of Wine of Cardui and one package of Pinkham's Black-Draughts. Before I began to take your medicine I had pain in my back, hips, lower bowels and my arms. Sometimes I thought I would go blind. My head ached and I was so weak I could hardly walk across the floor. Now I can only feel a little of the pain in my side and I am going to use your medicine until I get cured. For I believe they will certainly cure me. I have been married twelve years and am the mother of seven children. I thank you for your wonderful medicine and what it has done for me.

THE CRY OF SHUT OUT THE CHINESE.

While we are talking of our great exclusion of commerce into the Orient, and the Open Door to China, we are proposing to pass a more rigorous exclusion law.

Not much is said about excluding the Japanese, Filipinos, Hawaiians, Italians, and other present laborers of Southern Europe. All those present and coolie laborers are allowed to come and go.

The section crews of all the western railroads are made up of Japanese coolies. No white men are employed except as foremen, and often not for that.

The Southern European Latin races are building the railroads and great irrigation works, are filling the mines and metal industries, but absolute exclusion is to be applied alone to the Chinese.

No wonder China is up in arms and trying to kill the bill before congress. If we were not seeking to capture the trade of China, if we were shutting out the laborers of other countries, it were different.

The new Portland charter contains a provision that no laborer shall be employed on public works in that city who is not an American citizen or has announced his intention of becoming such.

We believe that is sound principle, and the editor of the paper introduced a bill to that effect for a state law in 1895. It was first passed and then by Portland influence killed.

Now Portland demands for herself what her representatives then refused to grant to the laboring men of all the state.

The problem of Chinese labor is a serious matter, but a great nation should take a position that is consistent.

We should not ask commercial favors of China and then discriminate against the people of that country. We can afford to be just and equal in dealing with all nations if we expect justice and equality ourselves.

LOADING THE STATE FUNDS.
The suit that is now pending before Judge Boise, to stop the collection of interest being paid to an ex-state treasurer for the use of state funds, is not exactly creditable to this commonwealth.

The Journal prints some of the testimony before the court, and some of the facts shown by the books of the bank, but more for the purpose of attracting attention to the defective system than for any other purpose.

Oregon could easily have a much better system of handling public funds, a system productive of better results to the people and of more satisfaction and protection to the treasurer.

The state treasury has been "a good thing." Uncle George Webb died a poor man, and so far as known was guilty of none of the practices usually resorted to to help out a ridiculous salary of $100.

It is a new thing to Oregon that a treasurer should be able to get revenues out of the office long after he has been out of office.

Ex-Convict Run in by Police

An unusually eccentric and peculiar specimen of mankind was taken care of by the city and county authorities Monday. It was Donata Marchion, an Italian, who had concluded a term of six years of servitude at the penitentiary on Saturday and was on Monday confined in the asylum for the insane. He was in prison for having shot an Italian, a boot black in Portland. The man, however, recovered. During all the time he was serving his term, Marchion would speak to no one. Another Italian was received there from Southern Oregon about a year ago, and he attempted to converse with Marchion, but unsuccessfully. The only word he spoke while there was to tell this fellow countryman good-bye on the morning he left. Superintendent Lee gave him money sufficient to take him back to Portland and to buy food. Sunday night he was found on the street and taken care of by the police, being released to look out for himself during the day. He was found later wandering around the streets and would talk to no one, was examined as to his sanity, and sent to the hospital.

The work performed by him at the prison was of the most simple nature and if anyone attempted to engage him in other work he would fight like an animal. His finger nails were worn nearly an inch in length.

Marion circuit Court.
Carson & Adams have filed a motion in the circuit court in the case of C. H. Benjamin vs. Josephine A. Benjamin, who were recent petitioners for a divorce. They ask that the suit be dismissed without prejudice on the ground that plaintiff is unable to comply with the order of the court that he pay $75 for the use of the defendant.

Three men were accidentally shot in Everett, Wash., on Monday.
A Minister's Mistake
A city minister was recently handed a notice to be read from his pulpit. Accompanying it was a clipping from a newspaper bearing upon the matter. The clergyman started to read the extract and found that it began: "Take Rempe Balsam, the best Cough Cure." This was hardly what he had expected and after a moment's hesitation, he turned it over and found on the other side the matter intended for the reading.
