Work of Hoodlums.
Some boys who deserve the name of hoodlums, whether they are or not, on Galey hill, South Salem, make life miserable for THE JOURNAL'S smallest carrier, Floyd Burdick, aged about ten, and last evening set dogs on his pony and nearly run him off the bank on the hill near the Hughes house. One of the boys is known and if the practice of molesting this boy is not stopped they will give publicity no matter how prominent their connections.

CLEARING STREETS AND ALLEYS

Legal Opinion Prepared in the Matter.

Appropos of the strenuous action being considered regarding the cleaning of the streets and alleys.

W. H. Holmes attorney for this city, has prepared a legal opinion in the matter to be presented to the council at its session tonight.

The matter to be decided is as to the power of the city of Salem to grade and otherwise improve the alleys of the city, and to charge the expense thereof to the abutting property owners, and in whole or in part.

It is first stated that wherever a power is conferred by a sovereign state upon a municipal government, such as the city charter of Salem has empowered it to exercise, and power so conferred as expressed and granted all POWER NECESSARY TO CARRY IT INTO EXECUTION ARE IMPLIED.

The city charter contains a section bearing directly on the above matter, as follows: "To provide for the construction, cleaning and repair of sidewalks adjacent to lots by the holders thereof and for the making, cleaning and improving gutters, crosswalks, and to grade, pave, plank, or otherwise improve, clean and keep in repair, either at the expense of the adjacent property holders or at the general expense of the city, or both. This authority being stated the manner of its enforcement is implied and would have to be considered by the city authorities. The conclusion is therefore made that the city is vested with the proper authority under proper "legislative" proceedings to pursue the work of cleaning the alleys of the city, and to do the same at the expense of the abutting property owners. The council will doubtless proceed with the work by employing a surveyor to fix a grade for the alleys. Those first to be cleaned and repaired are located in the principal business portion of the city.

PRINCE INSPECTS CHICAGO

Drove About the City Today

Kind Reception of a Little Girl.

News of the Royal German Visitor.

CHICAGO, March 4.—With bright skies and a sharp, crisp temperature Prince Henry was this morning driven about the business section of the city visiting banks, the board of trade and prominent mercantile houses. He began the day by receiving after breakfast little Barbara Oaburn, aged ten years, who presented him with his portrait burned in basswood. The Prince chatted gaily, complimented the artist, promised to treasure her gift and gave her an autograph album.

The Prince drove about down town without the accompaniment of huge crowds. His visit included besides savings banks, Field's wholesale drygoods store the Rookery office building, the fire insurance patrol in Monroe street, and the public library, where a fire alarm was sent in and the department responded. Returning to the hotel the Prince received Governor Van Sant of Minnesota and his staff, who presented resolutions.

The Governor made a little speech praising Minnesota. Introductions to the staff followed.

At 11:30 the royal party proceeded to Lincoln Park, where the Prince laid a wreath at the foot of the statue of Lincoln, saying: "I am proud to be able to do this." Robert Lincoln and Admiral Evans occupied a carriage with the Prince. After strolling some dirt at the foot of a newly planted tree near the monument, the Prince and party proceeded to the Germania Club, where at noon an elaborate luncheon was served.

FIRE DEPARTMENT HORSE HOMESICK

The Animal Refused all Food for Two Weeks.

The city of Salem has had considerable difficulty of late in equipping its fire department with serviceable horses. The handsome bay mare weighing 1450 pounds, that was recently purchased from Mr. Lee, of Turner precinct, proved unsuitable for the work and has been disposed of. The animal cost $150 and was on Saturday exchanged for a 6 year old gray mare that was formerly the property of Mr. McCarty, of Turner. The new horse, which matches in color its mate on the fire engine team, is somewhat lighter, weighing but 1200 pounds but an increase in weight is expected. The bay mare, during its two weeks' service in the city's fire department refused to eat any food whatever and was evidently quite homesick. Its gradual falling off physically necessitated a substitution. The new horse is proving a splendid addition to the department having quite completely mastered the drill already. Councilman Riggs says the substitute has an appetite equal to that of a threshing machine which indicates that the new arrival is at least possessed of good digestive organs. The members of the council are quite pleased with the last addition which quite completely equips the department with motive power.
