STEALING GRAIN SACKS

While Under the Influence of Dope.

Number of Petty Larcenies Have Been Perpetrated.

William Smith was arrested Wednesday evening for stealing grain sacks from the Francis livery stable, on West State street. He had been employed there for about nine months, and had worked previously at the Club Stables. The exact number of sacks is not known, but he was apprehended before he could sell them. His object in taking them was to procure money to purchase morphine, which he uses habitually. He was examined before City Recorder Judah, with a view to sending him to the insane asylum, which is deemed the best place to treat him for his acquired habit.

After Petty Larcenists.
 There has been a number of petty larcenies in and near the city within the last few days, and the police are unable to locate the perpetrators. The only trace of the men who robbed the Fair Grounds grocery store was picked up from the slight description given by the street car motorman, on whose car they rode to the Fair Grounds. It was learned that they drove into the city from Polk county in a buggy, and at least one of them wore rubber boots. Having driven into and from town it would be more difficult to locate them.

The night policemen have found in the shed situated near the Club Stables a large box of cheese. This is believed to have been stolen from the cheese wagon of F. A. Schubinger, who had been in town the previous afternoon with the wagon. He had probably left the wagon for a few minutes, and the cheese was stolen, and then left in the shed.

Marion Probate Court.
 A petition to remove Miles Lewis, an executor of the estate of C. J. Mulkey, deceased, was argued before County Judge Scott yesterday. The petition is signed by all the legatees of the estate, who allege negligence in conducting the affairs of the estate as grounds for the action. T. H. McMahon is attorney for the petitioners.

ORATORICAL CONTEST FRIDAY

Eight Oregon Educational Institutions Compete

Delegations Coming by Train and Chartered Steamers

Friday will be the big inter-collegiate oratory day at Salem. Eight colleges and universities will compete for the state championship. The orators and their attending delegations are arriving today. Train loads and steamboat loads of students will reach the city from all directions Friday. The contest takes place at the First M. E. church in the evening.

The State University orator and his delegation will arrive on the Shasta express and be greeted by the Willamette college yell. A larger delegation from Eugene will come down Friday morning.

The Agricultural College orator, Herman Tartar, and his delegates came down today, and he will rest up a day for the grand effort he will make to carry off the prize. One hundred students from Corvallis come on a special boat Friday. Tartar was shut out by Elwood Minchin, of Newberg, last year, and will fight for the laurels as never before.

The Quaker college, at Newberg, has chartered a boat, and will come up 100 strong Friday at noon.

Albany College, Presbyterian, will arrive with a delegation of forty students on the Albany local Friday.

The Monmouth Normal School will send eighty delegates over Friday. This school did not hold its local contest on the right night, and is shut out of the contest, unless it can get in on a hearing before the executive committee.

The McMinnville Baptist college will send a delegation of forty, and the Congregational college, at Forest Grove, will send thirty. Each college has friends in this city, and they will be out to cheer their favorite orator.

The Willamette students and authorities are leaving nothing undone to make this great event pleasant and enjoyable to the hundreds of visitors who will throng the city Friday.

COLLEGE FRIENDS BANQUET

C. B. Moores of Oregon City Presides.

The friends of Willamette University sat down to a fine spread at the Hotel Willamette Wednesday evening, and spoke encouraging words for the aid and financial relief of the old Methodist school of this city.

Everyone present was in hearty accord with the movement now undertaken to get rid of the debt, and start the school on a new basis of popular management, to put it abreast of the times and make it an up-to-date institution.

After the discussion of mine host Conner's most tempting bill of fare, Hon. C. B. Moores, register of the United States land office, at Oregon City, took charge as toastmaster. After introductory remarks, he spoke upon the topic assigned him, "The influences arising from the establishing of the Willamette University, from the alumni and old students, upon the business and professional interests of the Northwest."

Gen. W. H. Odell, president of the board of trustees of the Willamette University, spoke upon "Willamette University, its present indebtedness and the causes leading up to it."

General Odell explained the causes, most of which are familiar to the readers of the Journal, and which reflect no discredit upon the management of the institution, past or present.

Dr. J. H. Coleman, being called upon, responded to his toast, and spoke of the aims, intents and purposes of this denomination regarding its educational work in the Northwest, with special reference to Willamette University.

Mayer Bishop was called upon, also Governor Geer, Judge Bean, Judge Wolverson, Hon. J. J. Murphy, Hon. J. H. Albert, Recorder Judah, J. B. T. Tullih, Dr. Byrd, Hon. F. L. Dunbar, Hon. C. S. Moore and several others. Each one responded with encouraging words.

The banquet was a great success, and a most pleasant affair, and it will no doubt redound to the benefit of Willamette University.

Banquet to the Orators.
 The Willamette University Oratorical Association will banquet the representatives of the visiting colleges to the State Intercollegiate Oratorical contest, in this city on Friday evening. The exercises will be held in the basement of the First Methodist church, and immediately following the conclusion of the oratorical contest. Quite elaborate preparations are under way, and the event will surpass anything ever before undertaken by local collegians. A program of toasts will be carried out, including remarks by some representative from each of the colleges represented in the Oratorical Association.

Practicing Yells.
 The students of the University have been holding special meetings, in the chapel this week, for the purpose of practicing yells to be given at the oratorical contest Friday night. This will be the most interesting contest ever held. Let no one stay away for fear of not getting a seat, as 150 chairs will be provided, besides the reserved seats, which are now on sale at Patton's book store. 3-13-02.

J. P. Rodgers, of Salem, is in possession of some photographs that even Neal Dow could not view without truthfully admitting he had seen snakes. The pictures were taken by a party of visitors to Southern Oregon, and of which Mr. Rodgers was a member, the trip having been made recently. The scene is at Klamath Lake, where, in places suited to their propagation, are innumerable snakes. The reptiles are not all venomous, but abound in the marshes of that section in countless numbers. On the strength of the abundance of the reptiles, a medical manufacturing establishment is located there, where a preparation is made from the snakes that is extensively used for the treatment of rheumatism and other ailments. In the picture the snakes appear to almost completely cover the ground. They are most numerous at a sawmill site, where they are literally piled up in heaps on the sawwood, and are a horrible sight to behold.

BORN.
JORY.—To Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Jory, at their home in South Salem, March 12, 1902, a son.

This makes Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Jory grandparents once more.

DIED.
HOLLAND.—At the family residence, March 12, 1902, at 5 p. m., William T., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Holland, aged 5 months and 3 days, of typhoid malaria.

The family came from Idaho last July and bought a home in North Salem.
