Surprising Results

Simple Internal Remedy Makes Remarkable Cures of Catarrh.

People who have used sprays, in- lers, salves and washes for catarrh d found how useless and inconvenient y are, will be agreeably sur- sed at results following the use of pleasant, internal remedy in tablet- rm; druggists everywhere admit at Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, which hey sell at 50 cents for full-sized reatment, is the safest and most ef- ctive, and most popular of all cat- arrh remedies.

Nearly all cheap cough mixtures and broat lozenges contain opiates; these cheap medicines give a temporary relief, especially with little children by destroying the nerve sensation; the irritation in throat, which causes coughing is temporarily removed, not by removing the cause, but by dead- ening the nerves of feeling the irrita- tion is not felt, although it is still there, and will promptly return.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets is the best remedy to remove catarrhal secretion, whether in the nose, throat or stom- ach, because they are composed of wholesome antiseptics, Blood root, Red Gum from Eucalyptus tree, etc., when you use these tablets you know what you are putting into your system, and not taking chances with co- caine, opiates or similar poisons, found in so many catarrh cures and cough medicines.

Dr. Ramsdell, in commenting on cat- arrh cures, says: "I can heartily recom- mend Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, be- cause they contain no cocaine nor oth- er dangerous drug found in so many advertised catarrh cures. I have known of many cases of long standing catarrh of the head and throat com- pletely cured by the daily use of these tablets for several weeks. One case in particular which I could not reach with an inhaler or spray, and where the catarrh caused daily headaches and a noticeable loss of hearing was entirely cured by this harmless but effective remedy."

Dr. Walkwright says: "I never hesi- tate to prescribe Stuart's Catarrh Tablets for catarrhal headaches and catarrhal deafness, because I know them to be perfectly safe for child or adult, and have seen many remarkable cures resulting from their regular daily use; because they are advertised and sold in drug-stores is no reason why any good physician should not use them, because we should seize up- on the means of cure wherever found."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are es- pecially valuable for catarrhal colds in children, because they are pleas- ant to the taste, and may be used free- ly to break up severe colds and croup at the very beginning.

Tom, Eva and Topsy, as Played by Deaf Mutes at Salem

The presentation of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" by mute children at Cordray's Opera House will be one of the great entertainment features of this season. The pupils of the state Mute School will present the play in pantomime, using neither words nor mute lan- guage, but only acting the several parts in such a manner that the story can be followed and clearly un- derstood by the audience. Thirty-three characters will be represented, and the pupils will be costumed so that the characters represented can be easily recognized.

The purpose in giving this play is to train the mute children in expres- sion by action, to give them self-con- fidence before strangers, to arouse in them an interest in standard litera- ture, and to raise funds for the pur- chase of books for a general library.

The pupils are being trained by Su- perintendent Clayton Wentz and Mrs. Wentz. The training is done out of school hours, so as not to interrupt the regular studies. Mr. and Mrs. Wentz trained pupils for the play, "Ben Hur" at the Nebraska State Mute School, and the result proved eminent- ly successful. The date of the play has been fixed for Friday, April 18th.

He Caught the Car.
The man dashed down the street after the retreating State street car. Every muscle was strained; his breath came in quick gasps; the beads of moisture stood out upon his forehead. His feet were working like the pedals on a bicycle. He only touched the ground in the more altitudinous places.

"I'll catch—that—street—car," he snarled, "or die."
Faster went the street car. Faster went the man.
He overturned fruit stands and aged blind men in his wild career. He knocked down children and trampled upon them. But onward he rushed. He collided with a baby buggy. The baby was knocked into the street. The mother of the child picked it up. She pointed a finger at the disappearing form of the man. "Murderer!" she hissed through her clenched teeth.

He draws nearer to the car—nearer yet.
He reaches out his hand.
He touches the rail on the rear plat- form.
He gives one last convulsive effort.
He is on the car.
He slinks breathless into a seat and mops his brow. The conductor touches him on the shoulder.

"Get offen here!" speaks the conduct- or. "We're a-goin' to their barn. No more cars tonight."—Chicago Tribune.

Are $25,000 Worth of Liver.
Among the many poker stories about Hank, a well known player of Roch- ester, N. Y. Hank went into Daly's place, in New York city, one day and sat in a game, winning $25,000 with very little trouble. Then he rose to go, thinking it was time to stop. Daly shook hands with him and asked him what was his hurry. Hank said he would have to go to a Dutch restau- rant he knew where they always cook- ed liver in a way that he particularly liked.

"Oh, if that's all," said Daly, "just stay here. We can serve the liver just that way, and you can go right on playing."
Dutch Hank had left some friends outside waiting, but he said he would stay and eat the liver. He sat down and ate and played. His $25,000 soon went back to Daly in a turn of luck. Hank went out without a cent.

"What kept you so long?" his friends demanded.
"Well, you don't suppose a man can eat $25,000 worth of liver in a minute, do you?" was the retort of Hank.
