OUT OF THE JAWS OF DEATH

Over Four Hundred People Escape a Hell of Flames at St. Pierre.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Four hundred and fifty refugees from St. Pierre have arrived at Fort de France. This good news was made public by the French Cable Company here today, which has established communication with the island of Martinique. The refugees were picked up by the cable company's repair steamer Poneyer Quartier. The steamer is preparing to return immediately to the vicinity of St. Pierre, and it is expected others will be saved. The refugees who landed in Fort de France are all well.

Off to the Rescue. ST. THOMAS, May 10.—The Danish cruiser Valkyrie has sailed for St. Pierre, to render any assistance in her power. It is feared here that pestilence is almost certain to follow the St. Pierre disaster, and that it will be years before Martinique recovers from the blow.

Rained Rocks and Fire. PARIS, May 10.—The minister of marine received a dispatch from the commander of the gunboat Suchet, dated at Point a Pitre, this morning: "Here is all the information obtainable regarding the catastrophe. Towards 8 o'clock in the morning the volcano threw out a considerable volume of smoke, and immediately afterwards a spout of flame shot up. A moment later the entire town was destroyed by fire. The ships in the harbor were unnausted and burned. The rain of flaming rocks lasted for a quarter of an hour. We reached St. Pierre at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, saving a few persons from the ships. No living creature was visible in the town, which it was impossible to enter. Numerous corpses lay near the quay."

Senator A. Knight, president of the Martinique council, who it was feared had perished, sent a dispatch from Port de France, which was received here this morning. In which he says: "The Morne Rouge district, near St. Pierre, was saved. This gives hopes that perhaps some refugees from the stricken district will be able to find succor there."

British Islands in Danger. LONDON, May 10.—The colonial office this morning received some details of the volcanic eruption on the island of St. Vincent. The news comes from the governor of the Barbadoes, and reads: "The volcano Soufriere, on the island of St. Vincent, erupted violently yesterday, with a loud report, resembling artillery fire. The explosion was heard in Barbadoes. In the afternoon darkness and thunder, accompanied by a strong downpour of dust set in. Barbadoes is covered to the extent of several inches this morning. A message from the governor of the Windward Islands was received this morning as follows: "Thirty deaths are reported in St. Vincent, but my information is incomplete. The eruption is still proceeding."

Situation Grows Worse. LONDON, May 10.—A Central News dispatch from St. Lucia says the situation in Martinique is worse than ever. Other mountains are bursting forth in eruptions.

Destroyed by Waterspout. PARIS, May 10.—Slowly but steadily the awful fate of St. Pierre is being confirmed. The government this morning received dispatches from several of the small islands lying close to ill-fated Martinique, giving additional details of the calamity. An official note from the minister of the colonies says the governor of Guadeloupe telegraphed to the ministry under today's date as follows: "Gunboat Suchet has just arrived from Martinique. St. Pierre was destroyed by a waterspout and fire. Only thirty persons were rescued, and these were taken from a ship in the harbor. The Suchet came to get provisions. The Suchet will leave today for Martinique with a full complement of men. All our means of rescue are at your service."

Shows a Brighter View. PARIS, May 10.—The ministry of the colonies this evening received a dispatch from the secretary-general of Martinique, which puts a somewhat brighter light on the situation. It dates from Port de France, and reads: "The work of clearing away the ruins of St. Pierre has commenced. Orders have been issued to burn all corpses, to prevent an epidemic. The population of the environs are being conveyed to Fort de France. All means are being taken to provision and rescue and relieve the wounded."

EXPERTS REPORT DELAYED

Will Recommend Changes in System of Records

The report of the experts employed on the Marion county records was not submitted to the county court today, as was expected. It was learned that the report will not be completed and made public before Wednesday.

The experts will recommend the introduction of a new system of keeping records in the various offices. The present system is reported to be complicated and burdensome. The report will also contain other important recommendations concerning the management of the county's business in the departments.

The experts and members of the county court refuse to discuss the contents of the report which is, as yet, not completed.

FIFTEEN PERCENT SHORT

Hop Yards Show Many Missing Hills--Feller's Letter

Hop men report that hops are growing rapidly. The yards are now being trained, and the work gives employment to hundreds of people. Growers report that from 12 to 15 per cent. of the hills are missing this year. This is an unusually large number. There are always some missing hills, but growers attribute the increased number this year to the fact that the heavy crops of the last few years have exhausted the vines.

The great number of missing hills will by no means affect a reduced yield, for the product in Oregon this year will be greater than ever, since it is estimated there are 800 additional acres coming into bearing.

Frank Feller Writes a Letter. In a letter to The Journal, Frank Feller, who represented the Oregon hop growers in the sale of the 1901 pool in London, writes:

"I was very glad to read in your columns that my friend, Farrar, predicts fair prices for this season's hop crop. I hope the gentleman's prediction will come true. There are no people on earth more deserving to receive a profit for their labor than the hop growers. I wish to say here that my statements were misquoted in your daily of the 3d inst. I don't know who gave you the figures. I reported on my return from England that M. H. Duret and myself, as the representative for the hop growers, had disposed of the pool at the following figures, the lowest sale made was 6 1/2 per cent. The sales then ranged upward to 8 1/2 per cent. The sales averaged 11 1/2 cents per pound net to the grower, instead of 10 1/2 cents, and I said for my own protection, that I had ordered a small sample of each growers' lot to be sent to me, and upon receipt of same that I would call a meeting of the members of the pool, showing why the sales were made at different prices, but I am sorry to say I have not received the samples yet, and have written to London asking why the samples were not sent before now. I hope they will arrive soon, so I can meet the growers, when I will give them the information I obtained on my trip to London."

"I do hope we will all put up good, matured, yellow hops this season, which will be inquired after by the British brewers at good figures, unless the home brewers will pay the growers living prices, and not want the growers to work for nothing and board themselves. The growers cannot afford to pay about three commissions on their hops before reaching the brewer."
