

"She Let Concealment

Like a Worm in the Bud Feed on Her Damask Cheek.

How aptly Shakespeare touches the dominant chord in a woman's nature. She suffers in silence; draws a curtain over her private sorrows, and endures until endurance ceases to be a virtue. This is especially the case with the modest minded women who suffer from diseases peculiar to the sex. They are miserable and unhappy, and yet, although they know that they need medical aid and assistance, they choose rather to bear the ill they know than to submit to the examination of some local phy-

Sense Medical Adviser, and I thought from reading it that Dr. Pierce's medicine would do me more good than all the home doctors—and so it has. If any one had told me it would do me so much good I would have said, "Oh no, not that much good." I can truly say that I was surprised at the benefit I received. I can do all my washing and also tend my flower garden. In fact I am on my feet most all the time. An old friend of mine said to me, "Why, what is the matter with you? You are getting young again." I told her I had taken six bottles of Dr. Pierce's medicine, and if she would do likewise she would feel ten years younger, too."

For this reason many a woman lets disease fasten upon her. She conceals her condition and endures a daily martyrdom of pain because her mind revolts at the thought of submission to the treatment she knows the local practitioner will insist upon. Very many women have written grateful letters to Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., because they have found in his medicine an escape from the offensive questions, the obnoxious examinations, and the disagreeable local treatments insisted on by so many home physicians. These things are, as a rule, not necessary. Dr. Pierce's experience and success in treating hundreds of thousands of women, enables him at once to determine from the written statements of women the form of disease which it is necessary to treat. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is sacredly confidential and the same strict professional privacy guards the written confidences of women as is observed by Dr. Pierce and his staff in personal consultations with women at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

How wonderful it may seem, that Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is uniformly successful in curing diseases peculiar to women, it is not so wonderful as it appears. It is not wonderful to us, that a machine made to perform a certain task accomplishes it perfectly. We do not wonder at the engine which pulls the train of cars, although we know nothing of mechanics. We do not wonder at the musical artist like Paderewski who sits at the instrument and produces perfect harmony. We know that constant practice enables his perfect command of the keyboard. Let an inexperienced player sit down to the piano, and the same keys falsely touched jar into discord. It is so with Dr. Pierce in his experience and skill in medicine. "Favorite Prescription" only does what it was made to do. Doctor Pierce knows the whole gamut of the female organism. Where a less experienced practitioner produces a discord, his experience and skill enables the production of perfect harmony. The difference between the success of Dr. Pierce and the ordinary practitioner in the treatment of women's ailments is the difference between skill, and success on the one hand and a casual experience on the other.

GAINED TEN POUNDS.
"I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and two of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and received great benefit," writes Mrs. Elmer D. Shears, of Mouthhope, Lancaster Co., Pa. "I do not have those sick spells as formerly. Before I took your medicine I could hardly walk at times, when I had uterine trouble. I can truly say that after taking four bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I did not suffer any more. I gained ten pounds in weight. In June I commenced using the medicine and in July I commenced to harvest the wheat, so you may know that I did not feel very bad."

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription establishes regularity, dries disagreeable drains, less inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves, encourages the appetite, and induces refreshing sleep. As a tonic for weak, worn-out, run-down women it is unequalled. It makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for 'Favorite Prescription.' The only motive for substitution is to enable the dealer to make the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines.

A WOMAN'S STATEMENT.
"I enjoy good health, thanks to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,'" writes Mrs. J. J. Schaefer, of Pontiac, Livingston Co., Ill. "I have taken six bottles of each kind. I was taken sick last February and the doctors here called it 'Grip.' I lay for four weeks in bed, then when I got up I found I had 'Displacement.' Had such aches and pains in my back and limbs could not stand any length of time. I knew that our home doctor would insist the first thing on an examination, and that I would not submit to, unless I was dangerously sick, and then it would be too late to do any good. My son had your book, Common

AN INDEPENDENT PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE.

THE DAILY JOURNAL

Members Northwest Afternoon Newspaper League.

BY HOFER BROTHERS.
Daily One Year, $4.00 in Advance.
Daily Three Months, $1.00 in Advance.
Daily by Carrier, 50 Cents Per Month.
Weekly One Year, $1.00 in Advance.

CIRCULATE THE JOURNAL.
Friends of progress and good government in all parties should circulate the Journal.

It stands for flat salaries, which will save the people $50,000 a year.

It stands for the franchises of untaxed corporations, which will put $100,000 a year in the state treasury.

It stands for the application of the initiative and referendum wherever needed to protect the people of Oregon against abuses.

It stands for haysed principles and clay-heel politics, as against corrupt bossism from Portland and official extravagance.

Get up a club for the Daily Journal at 35 cents per month by mail, or the Weekly Journal at $1.00 a year—no papers sent to the office.

Watch the Journal's fight for flat salaries and a clean-up of the state house from top to bottom. But this cannot be done without backing from the people.

If you believe in popular government help the Journal. What is thrown away on metropolitan papers from other states would educate the people of Oregon to right principles in our home government.

WHAT IS THE PRIME OF LIFE?
An explanation is due from the Salem Journal. In the account of the funeral of Thurston Jones, the guard killed by the penitentiary convicts, it says "he left a wife and eight children, nearly all grown," then adds "he was taken from life at his prime." That is strange considering that his eight children were "nearly all grown."

What stands for "prime" of life in the Journal office?—Eugene Guard.

Thurston Jones was a man of splendid physique and capable of performing the arduous duties of a state prisoner.

A man might be married at the age of twenty-one and have a family of grown-up children at the age of fifty, and still be in his prime.

Salem has many men who are past sixty and still in their prime in all the essentials of manhood, such as performing a day's work at hard labor, or telling an abbe-filled fish story in a barber shop.

The degenerate ideas that prevail at an educational center do not obtain at the Capital of the state, where the best blood, brains and stamina of Oregon naturally come together.

PROPHESIES FULFILLED.
A Portland paper cannot get over some of the Journal's headlines during the campaign and so late as this reprints them, as follows:

"The Salem Journal, the leading Republican paper of Salem, has published the following headlines of the Portland meeting at the state capital and our readers can imagine the rest: 'Furnish and His Thin Red Line of Heroes—Governor Geer Was Absolutely Absent and Did Not Preside as Announced—Chief Marshal Murphy and the Local Workers Shouted, but the Thousands on the Sidewalks Were Silent.'"

The Portland paper also reprints the following headline: "The Portland meeting at the state capital was a disappointment to So Much Absence of Brains and Oratory—Real Republican Enthusiasm Greets Geo. E. Chamberlain, the People's Candidate for Governor for the Next Four Years."

The Journal advised the Republican state convention to renominate the Republican state officials, and especially Geer. It was not done and you know the result.

The Journal now advises the Republicans to call a special session and enact the flat salary law. If you don't do it just see what will happen to you.

THE JOURNAL AND THE REFORM FORCES.
The election of Governor Chamberlain is conceded, and the people are going to get the first fruits of their labors in a special session to put all state officials on flat salaries, and all fees are going to be put in the state treasury.

The result of this will be a difference of $50,000 a year the first year in favor of the taxpayers, and a corresponding increasing revenue to the state, and a constant lightening of taxes.

If the legislators could get it through their heads that an extension of the $2000 insurance tax enacted in 1895 to the gross earnings of other corporations not now taxed, they would add another $100,000 to the income of the state, and relieve the property taxes.

These reforms in our state revenue system that the people will only get by insisting upon them, but the reform forces in this state (and they are as strong in the Republican party as elsewhere) must stand firm and force the politicians and newspapers to take them up.

The prospect is fair for progress in our state government, but the citizen must not assume the political managers will do anything for them until driven by pressure of public sentiment and force of agitation.

In our county government matters seem to be proceeding without waste or friction. When there is any of the details must expect to have the people's attention called to it.

In our city government the same routine of the present system is accounting is going forward, and Salem can well claim to have economy, with an improved order of administration.

In Salem public school affairs there is not much prospect of progress. The cry of keep down the grades won out at the recent school election, and the cry of high taxes was all stacked up against the public schools, which is both unfair and unjust, as the warmest friends of better schools have made the hardest fight for lower taxes.

Still the reform forces of Salem, Marion county and the state have much to be proud of and much to be thankful for. Each by each good government must be fought for. Economy and good administration must go hand in hand. Had government costs the most. Those who oppose progress often do so on the theory that they are fighting to keep down taxes, and are perfectly sincere, and no more liable to be mistaken than we are. Before entering upon the summer vacation the Journal wishes again to thank all the forces of reform for all their good work in the past. Especially do we thank the Democrats and Populists and Socialists and Prohibitionists, who united, on so many occasions, with the best element of the Republicans to do what is right under any given circumstances, and who can always be relied upon to do what is right if the matter is fully presented by them.

The people of all parties want what is right when they are left free to act, and are fully informed of the situation. Self-government by the people is not a failure, and there is a larger faith that tells anyone it is destined to achieve still greater triumphs.

Those who doubt this, those who pursue personal aims, those who take only the selfish view of public matters are to become better informed, and will in the end do what is right.

The conservatives are as much needed as the progressives. They are two swings of the same pendulum, and check each other.

HOT WEATHER EDITORIALS.
Many people here to read long editorials in hot weather.

This paper promises solemnly to write none but such as are needed by stress of dire circumstances.

We shall still write occasionally on flat salaries, just to remind the politicians that they can't make promises all the time without keeping some of them.

We may write one on strawberry culture.

Cooling, soothing thoughts are preferable when the summer sun is blazing down on us all day.

ASTORIA NICELY CAUGHT.
The Astoria News is supposed to be Senator Fulton's paper, but it is not making an efficient fight for that gentleman for United States senator, whether he inspires it or not.

It copies nothing but mean flings and slurs on Governor Geer and his aspirations. The Journal takes broader ground, and really has no fight to make on any Republican whatever, as the legislature is Republican, and no decent Republican should be barred out of the race.

Last week the Journal threw a little bait at the Astoria News, and he gulped it down like a mudcat, leaving enough room in his mud-throwing department to copy our nice little bait of laffy for Mr. Fulton.

Now it proves its reprehensible absence of spirit. It will copy flattery for its hero, and copy only black-guard flings at another aspirant for the same position.

The Journal will halt its kodak again soon for other characters in the political drama now unfolding in Oregon, and give its readers some snap shots.

JOURNAL X-RAYS.
The people of Liberty believe in good roads—$50 a year.

"Eluded the posse" is likely to go in to the permanent vocabulary or slang.

Most of the Salem ladies who voted at the school election stood for progress.

Everything is being canned in Oregon these days, from cayuses to huckleberries.

As usual, the new city directory contains about half the population of Salem—about 7500.

It was not supposed that King Edward would get laid up quite so early in the week of coronation.

Salem ladies have demonstrated in their practice of parliamentary law that they are good at repartee.

When those state officials go on a flat salary the people of Oregon would be justified in holding a celebration.

Ship subsidy bill passed—canal bill killed—condemners are in order from Democrats who helped to make Mitchell senator.

The Portland papers are all stroking Governor Geer the right way now to get a special session. Wonderful change of heart when they want something.

When Portland wants anything the name of H. Corbett is used to conjure with. When Mr. Corbett wants anything—well, that's a horse of another color.

Oregon people are good enough for floor-sweepers and hall-girls and waitresses of the best restaurants, but not for the higher position of superintendent.

In place of working so hard to build trans-continental canals on paper, some of the Portland politicians would do well to help get a steamer running to Coos bay, and a little of the transport business to the Philippines.

A college, whose friends have always fought the higher grades in the public schools advertised that it has engaged a high school professor from Astoria, when it might have got one to keep down grades right at home.

It is now thought that Editor Hofer of the Salem Journal will drop his special session editorials and take up instead, discussion of strawberry culture—something practical and of which he can write rather intelligently.—Eugene Register.

Ladies, if you want something to astonish Eastern people, why not plant some of the Paul Neron roses? Grandiose Minto says they are the rose that gives Eastern visitors the greatest pleasure, surprise and astonishment as to the possibilities of the Oregon climate.

Salem people should provide a weekly band concert in the open air for these summer evenings, at least once a week. There is a band stand on Marion square and on Willson avenue, and the concerts could alternate. There should be weekly trolley parties out into the suburbs, to give all who do not go to the coast or mountains an evening excursion once a week.

Glory, hallelujah! Some streets are being sprinkled that were never sprinkled before. The Journal believes in municipal ownership of the sprinkling cart. The tax, if divided on all abutting property, would be ridiculously small, and if all the streets were sprinkled all the property on the street would be equally desirable for residence property. Now, with unsprinkled streets, property on the east side of the street catches the dust, and if the street is traveled much becomes undesirable. If sprinkled, enough will be added to the value of that property to pay for sprinkling for ten years. Besides it would employ some labor, and would improve health.

OREGON'S AGRICULTURE.
A census bulletin on agriculture in Oregon, just issued, shows that farms of the state, on June 1, 1900, numbered 32,327, and were valued at $122,327,514. Of this amount $19,190,694, or 15.6 per cent, represents the value of buildings, and $113,137,820, or 85.5 per cent, the value of land and improvements other than buildings.

The value of farm implements and machinery was $6,596,725, and of livestock, $32,917,084. These values, added to that of farms, give $172,761,287 as the total value of farm property.

The total value of farm products for 1899 was $38,090,969, of which $16,284,282, or 42.8 per cent represents the value of annual products, and $21,806,687, or 57.2 per cent, the value of crops, including the forest products cut or produced on farms. The gross farm income to Oregon in 1899 was $31,896,248.

Bright's Disease
Is Positively Curable.

Interview with the discoverer, N. W. Spaulding, president of the Spaulding San Company, San Francisco.

"I am inclined now to favor the special session. At first, I was opposed. Looking more thoroughly into it, I believe that the legislature should meet before the new terms of office begin, and place into effect the flat salary matter. All offices were pledged to it, and are, in a sense, bound by a contract or previous agreement to submit to the constitutional salary limitation."

"I favor the legislature taking up also the Lewis and Clark appropriation at the special session."

"As to the initiative and referendum, the referendum I believe to be excellent, but am in doubt as to the initiative."

Mr. Nottingham said: "I favor the special session, for the settlement of the flat salary question, and appropriating money for the Lewis and Clark fair."

"The people should know what their officers receive, and that they do not now know."

"As to the initiative and referendum, I have not given more than cursory attention to that, therefore have no particular expression to make on that subject."

PORTLAND MEN CHANGE

Are Now Favoring a Special Session

Want to Splice in a Fair Appropriation

Will Favor Flat Salaries and Direct Legislation

A change has come over the minds of the Portland politicians. A week ago all who were opposed to a special session of the legislature. Now they are rapidly swinging into line for one.

All the Portland papers have had interviews with Governor Geer and give him a great deal of complimentary space, when a short time ago most of them could say little good of him.

The papers are printing interviews with members of the legislature who were against a special session, and are now for it. Below we print views of two influential members, who have changed.

The Journal has not solicited any of the members personally for a special session, but has done its work so far through petitions of the people. The members are catching on.

It is the general belief that Governor Geer will call a special session of the legislature, to take up the matter of the flat salaries, the Lewis and Clark appropriation and to consider the initiative and referendum.

The drift is in that direction. Some who formerly opposed it, now believe that it should be called.

The Journal asked John Gill and C. W. Nottingham, members-elect of the legislature, for an expression of their views. Both favor the special session.

"I am inclined now to favor the special session. At first, I was opposed. Looking more thoroughly into it, I believe that the legislature should meet before the new terms of office begin, and place into effect the flat salary matter. All offices were pledged to it, and are, in a sense, bound by a contract or previous agreement to submit to the constitutional salary limitation."
