BEN FRANKLIN

Was the inventor of the double or bi-focal spectacle lenses, which is now coming into such general use for those who have passed the meridian of life. We fit the bi-focal in all the many different styles. We have one special bi-focal arrangement that has never been excelled for glass ease, and comfort, and the preservation of eyesight. It comes nearer being the natural eye than anything in the way of a glass.

THREE STORES ENTERED

Two Transients Did Wholesale Business Saturday Night

Officers Lewis and Murphy Capture Them

Two suspicious looking characters, giving the names of Joe Murphy and Thomas Smith were arrested early Sunday morning by Officers Lewis and Murphy. The men proved to be very much wanted before the day had passed, for it developed that they had committed three burglaries in this city. They had entered J. P. Rogers saloon, Statesman's cigar store and Schantz's second-hand store, and helped themselves liberally at each place.

The men—and one of them is a mere boy, armed with a bootblacking outfit—were seen to come out of an alley in the business district about 4 o'clock Sunday morning by Officers Lewis and Murphy, who suspected something wrong. The officers started in the direction of the men, who began to run. The officers gave chase, and finally captured the fellows in a clump of bushes on the river bank, where they were trying to hide. A great amount of plunder was found upon the men at the police station, and, judging from the spoils, Schantz was the heaviest loser in the transaction. Among the stolen property that was identified was four watches, a compass, two revolvers and two razors belonging to Schantz, a quantity of cigars, cigarettes and tobacco from Statesman, and three bottles of liquor from J. P. Rogers.

Murphy and Smith were arraigned before Police Judge Judah at 2 o'clock this afternoon, charged with burglary. They were held to the circuit court in the sum of $250 each, and in default of the necessary bail, were committed to jail.

Does Manhood Fail?

It may sometimes, owing to nervous disorders, but it is hardly ever lost, except in extreme old age. What is called impotency or sexual neurasthenia is merely weakened power. Underneath the ashes the fire remains aglow. It requires careful, scientific treatment to fan it into a bright flame of life and energy. For these cases, which have been hitherto the despair of the physician, nothing equals the application of electricity, if by proper current and exact dosage, in combination with the scientific administration of specific medical remedies, which penetrate the secret ambush of disease, exterminating it root and branch forever. A rejuvenation follows its use. It produces results because it replenishes the vital tonicity requisite to the nervous system. According to Dr. Darrin's peculiar and scientific methods of administration, it is a powerful vitalizer, indicated in diseased conditions, due to all kinds of excesses.

Dr. Darrin gives free examination to all, and, when necessary, gives medicines in connection with electricity. The poor treated free from 10 to 11 daily, except medicine. Those willing to pay, 10 to 5; evenings, 7 to 8; Sun days, 10 to 3. Errors of youth, blood taint, gleet, impotency, varicocele, hydrocele and stricture a specialty. All curable chronic private diseases treated at $5 a week, or in that proportion of time, as the case may require. No cases published without permission of the patient. All business relations with Dr. Darrin strictly confidential. Letters of inquiry answered. Circular question blanks sent free. Dr. Darrin will remain at the Willamette Hotel until September 1st.

FAIR BOARD LOSES

Burnett Dismisses Denham Bondsmen Suit

Sureties on Bond Not Liable When Contract is Violated

Judge Burnett this morning handed down a decision dismissing the suit of the Oregon State Fair Board against J. C. Goodale and F. P. Talkington, of this city. This was an action brought by W. H. Wehrung, as president of the state fair board, against Messrs. Goodale and Talkington, bondsmen for R. T. Denham, to recover about $900 for expenses assumed in completing the contract for constructing some four buildings at the fair grounds, that Denham abandoned.

The substance of the decision is that the court having made advance payments upon the work before the contract had been fulfilled, which was in violation of the contract, the bondsmen are exonerated from the obligation of the bond.

As conclusions of law, the court finds: "If the defendants answering herein are liable on the bond mentioned and described in the pleadings herein, they are properly chargeable with the following sums of money, viz: "Amount expended by the board in completing work on Denham's contract, $2787.44.

"Amount paid by plaintiff to Booth-Kelly Lumber Co., $916.92. "Amount paid W. H. Wehrung, travel and services, $79.80. "Amount paid J. H. Settlemier, travel and services, $34.20. "Total, $3898.46.

"Less the portion of the contract price unpaid when Denham abandoned the work, $3122.25. "Balance $680.21.

"Although as between the plaintiffs and the original contractor, Denham, the construction of four buildings might be devisable, yet as between the plaintiffs and the defendants, Talkington and Goodale, their bond, on which this action is founded, constitutes an entire indivisible contract.

"The payments of $129.08 on the farm cottage and $299 on the machinery hall, at the time and in the manner set forth in the pleadings, constituted a violation of the terms of the contract, for the performance of which the defendants answering were sureties and operate to impair and lessen the indemnifying security of the sureties, and to release them from the obligation of the bond in the suit.

"The plaintiffs are not entitled to recover from the defendants answering herein.

The defendants, Talkington and Goodale, are entitled to recover judgment against the plaintiffs, dismissing this action and for costs and disbursements."

Carson & Adams, who appeared for the fair board, state that the case will be appealed to the supreme court. The bondsmen were represented by J. H. McNary and Brown & Wrightman.

MADE A POOR SELECTION

Camp Williams Is Hottest Place About Albany

Officers Have Fine Quarters—Enlisted Men Sweat

Some one is deserving of criticism for the selection of the site that is being used for encampment purposes by the O. N. G., at Albany. The citizens of Albany are not to be censured, or in any way blamed for the selection, since they had decided upon Hackleman's grove—a beautiful wooded tract, with ample parade grounds adjoining—as the most suitable site for the encampment. The selection of Camp Williams was made by the members of the military board, and the large, roomy and recently vacated orphan's home building, that is being used as headquarters by the brigade staff, is said to have more largely influenced the selection than the (un)adaptability of the grounds for military purposes. Camp Williams is probably 1 1/2 miles southeast of Albany, and is located along a county road where the dust is simply blinding and suffocating. In view of the camp location, the least the management could do would be to sprinkle the road, but water is apparently scarce at Albany, for the road to the camp does not receive such treatment. There is scarcely a tree or shrub visible on the grounds, which are very uneven, and not suited for drill work. The sun beats down upon the small canvas tents until the heat becomes oppressive. When the conditions of camp life at the encampment are known, it can be easily understood why no unfavorable comment has come from the guardsmen, when the announcement was made that the encampment would be curtailed to six days.

The crowds at Albany Sunday were enormous. The Lin county people did well to so nearly provide for the accommodation of the thousands, but many were compelled to go without their dinners. The only attraction for the visitors was the encampment, but, owing to the disagreeable trip that was required to reach the grounds, only a small portion of the crowds visited Camp Williams. "Ed" Arnold is still there, and continues to entertain the people with his complete Oregon Pacific and Oriental street carnival. Just before the excursion trains left Prof. Nelson made a balloon ascension and parachute jump that was a perfect success. Nelson is engaged by Arnold, and the Oregon state fair management has secured him for the fair this year.
