DO THE ELKS WEAR CORSETS?

Persons noticing the fine appearance of the order of Elks when on parade have involuntarily been led to exclaim: "Do the B. P. O. E. wear corsets?"

The order that meets in Salt Lake next month wears the belt in many other respects, and a great many persons have been led to suspect that their universally fine shape is due to stays of some kind.

What if they do? Many of the members are fine specimens of manhood, and if those inclined to flagstaff proportions do pad or use stiffening supports they do it to hold their own in the order. There is no harm in appearing to good advantage under any circumstances, and Elks make their members take an oath to look the nearest possible like a man ought to look.

It will never be known whether the Elks' ritual requires members to wear corsets, but it is certain that they are required to wear corset fitting uniforms when on parade. Every uniform is tailor-made and corset-fitted. One reason why so many people believe the Elks wear corsets is because so very few large and fleshy men belong to the order. It is claimed by some that it is not the corsets that keeps them out, but because they cannot be conveniently tossed in a blanket.

It will probably never be revealed whether they wear any kind of an abdominal support or not, because after a man becomes a member, not even his wife can get him to give away the secrets of the order. The order that is suspected of wearing corsets is about the only order that the sex who wear corsets cannot even get a side-door entrance into, yet no one uses the ladies so well as the Elks. The problem remains unsolved.

ABOUT WALKING.

A correspondent asks the editor of this paper for his opinion about walking. As the editor never walks when he can avoid it his opinion is not worth much.

This is not a walking age. The world no longer goes on foot very much, and when it does it doesn't go on a walk. Aside from a heavy draft horse, a yoke of oxen, or a mud turtle, nothing walks, not even a tramp.

Even laboring men in cities and school children walk but little. This is a busy age, and their time is worth too much. The editor of a daily paper worth reading cannot afford to take the time to walk even a step.

We once saw a college president walking along the street rubbering in all directions. Asked what he was doing, he said: "Sauntering, only sauntering."

Although holding a $3000 a year position in the busiest age of the world's history, this man had time to saunter, as he called it. In a year or two he flattened out completely. He didn't even walk. He sauntered.

The editor of this paper hasn't time to walk. He rides or runs. The objection to people running is that it attracts attention, and so few people run. People think a man who runs a great deal is crazy.

In Japan everybody rides, but the men who propel the jinrikisha, and they run. They run an average of five miles an hour, and they are the finest muscled men in Asia.

Running is the best exercise. It keeps a man limber. Women would be far more graceful if they would not forget to run. If they were told by the doctor to run, their lungs would expand, their blood circulate, they would throw away their unsightly dress.

The writer always runs when he can do so. There is so much to see in the world, so much to be done, so many people to talk with, so much of beauty to enjoy, and so much of goodness to appreciate, who would lose time by walking?

CITIZEN-SOLDIERS DISBANDED

Albany Democrat, Tells of the Closing Scenes

The annual encampment of the Oregon National Guard is now a thing of the past, and all that remains of the annual picnic, so far as the guardsmen are concerned, are the memories of the guard house and the extremely warm weather in which the encampment was established. The Salem company was only too glad to reach home.

Speaking of the closing scenes of the encampment, the Tuesday evening Albany Democrat makes the following comment:

"The annual encampment is a thing of the past. After a six days' experience it closed this afternoon. The first to leave the grounds were the three companies of the separate battalion of Eastern Oregon, who left on the 7 o'clock train. Among the members was Private McDonald with a broken leg. At 12:30 all the companies south of Albany, those from Eugene and Ashland, left for their homes, leaving the dust and sunshine on Camp Williams. The signal corps, a fine body of students of Corvallis, left for home on the C. & E. at 12:45. The others left by special train at 2 o'clock for the north. The Albany company was the last to leave the grounds, when doing so leaving the camp in a clean condition, with nothing but the roads and guard lines to show for the encampment, excepting the 120-foot flag pole, which will be brought to Albany and erected at this city.

"Most of the men reported a splendid time. There were some things, of course, to growl at. Some wanted less sunshine. They would have liked to have been in a grove with refreshing shade, some would have liked to have been away from country roads, etc. But, altogether, it was an experience they will long remember and many of them will cherish, forgetting the guard hours and other disagreeable experiences.

"Last evening the troops were again reviewed before a big crowd of visitors. Mayor Davis had the honor of riding in the carriage. The review and the dress parade, like those that had preceded it, were of an interesting character.

"A second drill was given this morning at 8:30 o'clock, lasting an hour and a half, by the 26th light artillery, of Vancouver, with field guns and caissons. It was a splendid exhibition of trained soldiers, and was witnessed by an immense crowd of people. The maneuvers, with the booming of the cannon, were very realistic. The artillery tomorrow morning will pass through Albany and cross the bridge for the West Side, returning home that way.

Company G, of this city, made an excellent showing in the markings made by Colonel Jackson, inspector general, one of the best posted military men on the coast. Company F, of Portland, was given the first place, with 173 out of a possible 200. Company C, of Portland, second place, with 166, and Company G, of this city, A, and C, of Eugene, and B, of Ashland, a tie for third place, with 160 points, indicating practically little difference between the best companies."

Minor Mention Local Import

Metta Davis was granted a divorce from Frank P. Davis, and the custody of the minor children, by Circuit Judge Hoise Wednesday afternoon.

J. W. Shelton is plaintiff in a divorce suit against Mary M. Shelton, desertion being charged. The parties were married at Forest Grove in 1882. Richardson & Richardson are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Complaint is being made that Lee Mission cemetery is being despoiled of nearly all the flowers on many of the graves. This is particularly true in the lot where are buried the early pioneer missionaries of Oregon. It is bad enough to pilfer flowers from a door yard, but to steal flowers from a grave can only be considered a misdemeanor.

W. J. Skipton, of this city, experienced an unusual accident the other day. A few days ago he raised his arm to remove a lap robe when he felt a sharp pain in his arm, which became more or less helpless. He paid no more attention to the matter for a few days, but the afflicted member was not restored to its natural condition, and he consulted Dr. W. H. Byrd. An investigation disclosed that the tendon had been torn from the bone of the arm. The accident is considered the more remarkable since Mr. Skipton weighs over 200 pounds, and is one of the strongest men in this city.

Leona C. Shafer and Frank Silbovy today obtained a marriage license. Judge Hoise refused to grant a divorce in the suit of W. L. Hussaker vs. Mary Hussaker.

Mamie E. Gotherup has brought suit for divorce against Wm. Gotherup. The parties were married in this county in October, 1895. Plaintiff asks for the custody of the minor child, Rhuma. L. J. Adams and G. G. Hingham appear for Mrs. Gotherup.

EASTERN OREGON NOT IN IT

Salem Man Tells of Advantages Over All

A prominent Salem business man, who has just returned from a trip through Eastern Oregon, says that section of the state is a wonderful country—in fact it rivals Western Oregon. But, as is usually the case, this Salemite returns more pleased with the delightfully pleasant and moderate climate of the Willamette valley.

The Salem merchant spent most of his time in Union county, and reports that county of great agricultural value. He saw some of the finest fields of grain and hay meadows, yielding enormous crops, he ever witnessed. So, really, the people are most agreeable to meet, and a stranger always fares well at their hands. He also is convinced that Eastern Oregon is a splendid place for any ambitious and industrious young man, since the opportunities for money making and advancement are probably more numerous there than in the Willamette valley.

But while Eastern Oregon may have advantages, it also has disadvantages. Very little fruit can be raised, and the wind and heat during the summer months are so severe and excessive as to be almost unbearable. Another observation made by the local merchant is, that large capital is usually required to engage in business east of the mountains. At any rate a man with the same amount of capital that enables him to conduct a business here in the Willamette valley, would not be in much prominence in competition with the Eastern Oregon business man.

After summarizing all his observations and conclusions on the boom towns and propositions of the Inland Empire, our merchant concludes by saying that Salem is emphatically the best town in Oregon. We have more building and improvements than any of the fast towns. Our rents are more reasonable, and business conditions are better in every way. He says Salem has more varied resources and greater prosperity in store for the many. While Eastern Oregon is all right for a while for the "bonanza" farmer, with thousands of acres, and for the banker-merchant with his train loads of goods, the great multitude of customers are the lonely stock herders and farm hands, who work for comparatively small wages. At Salem a man of small means can go into business, and prosper with the rest of the community, in proportion to his industry, and there is also greater social as well as business equality. Verily, Salem is today the acknowledged peer of the best town on the Pacific coast.

Two Hospitals Said Diabetes.

Bright's Disease and Diabetes Are Positively Curable. People either cured or recovering from the above diseases are in every ward in this city. Mrs. C. C. Matthews, proprietor of the Clifton Hotel, 305 Powell street, is one of them, and makes this statement:

"325 Powell St., San Francisco, Nov. 21, 1901. For two years I suffered greatly from diabetes. Finally I had to go to one of the hospitals, getting into one of the city hospitals. Three physicians there confined my case as diabetes, and put me under treatment and strict diet, fasting to relief. I went home. I got steadily worse and went to another well-known city hospital. The physicians there said diabetes, and stated that they could prolong my life, but that I could never be well. I left the hospital after a few months completely broken down, the percentage of sugar being 10 per cent. It was at this juncture I heard of the Fulton Compound and sent for it. The second and third weeks I began to see water rapidly, and found that the artificial sweetener I had used with for over two years had left me. I am now an entirely different person, though still taking it to insure permanency. I have recommended it to a number, all getting favorable results. One was a warm friend and another is a Berkeley attorney who had Bright's Disease and is now perfectly restored. I dislike publicity, but feel that this thing ought to be known. Mrs. C. C. MATTHEWS.

Medical works agree that Bright's Disease and Diabetes are incurable, but 97 per cent. are positively recovering under the Fulton Compound. (Common forms of kidney complaint and rheumatism offer but short resistance. Price, $1 for Bright's Disease and $1.50 for the Diabetic Compound. John J. Fulton Co., 421 Montgomery street, San Francisco, sole compounders. Free tests made for patients. Descriptive pamphlet mailed free. C. C. Comfort, Sole Agent.
