Dr. Wilson's Death Sentence Was Commuted

Captain Wild Found Guilty in Manila

Washington, July 28.—United States Consul McDonald, at Managua, Nicaragua, cabled the state department that as a courtesy to the United States and sympathy for the mother, President Seclaya will commute the death sentence of Dr. Russell Wilson, the young American doctor, who accompanied the filibustering expedition against Nicaragua, and was captured.

Washington, July 28.—The war department has received a record of the court-martial at Manila of Captain Frederick Wild, on a charge of misconduct to the prejudice of good order, through failure to prevent soldiers from firing their guns at a cock pit in Lincayuan. Wild was found guilty, and sentenced to be reprimanded. General Chaffee, in reviewing the record, held that the court was too lenient.

NEW TIME CARD

Beginning Aug. 1, R. F. D. Carriers Start at 12 m.

Change Will Solely Benefit Portland Newspapers

Orders have been received at the Salem postoffice, directing that on August 1st, and for the following 60 days, or until October 1st, the rural mail carriers shall start on their routes from the Salem postoffice at 12 o'clock noon, instead of 8 o'clock a. m., as at the present time. Postmaster Hirsch was asked the reason for making the change in the rural mail delivery service at this time, and he said no reason for the change had accompanied the order. Personally, he disclaimed any knowledge of any purpose that could be behind the move, and says it will work to the disadvantage of some of the carriers, who, under the new schedule will be unable to complete their routes before 9 o'clock in the evening. When asked if the change would not in all probability prove permanent, Mr. Hirsch said he did not understand that it would be continued for a longer period than October 1st, as specified in the order, since it was not considered practical to maintain the same schedule in the winter months.

To a man up a tree it would appear that the change can have but one purpose to serve, and that is that the Portland Oregonian may be delivered to its readers on the day it is published. So far as can be learned there has been no objection or complaint to the system as it was originally installed, and the change at this time is not demanded, and, to say the least, is altogether uncalled for. It is an injustice that the free rural delivery service from the Salem office must be adjusted to suit the convenience and selfish whims of a single newspaper publication.

Of course, the patrons of the routes have not been consulted. In fact, no one who has any interest has been consulted. It is for the benefit of the Daily Oregonian and the Portland department stores, but it cannot last. It is an injustice that should be protested against, and every patron of the routes should petition to have the service changed back to the old schedule. It is an outrage that should not be tolerated.

Unhappy Wives and Husbands

An English paper several years ago stated that in the year 1854 there were in London 1132 runaway wives, 2548 runaway husbands; 4175 married people legally divorced, 12,245 living in open warfare; 13,270 living in private misunderstandings; 53,349 living in mutual indifference; while only 3175 were regarded as happy; 127 nearly happy, and 13 perfectly happy.

An American philosopher, after studying the facts and circumstances of the case, has come to the conclusion that all this discord in families is the offspring of disease in some form or another, and in a great majority of cases disease may be entirely removed and husbands and wives made entirely happy. It has been done in innumerable instances, and what has been done heretofore may be repeated hereafter.

The following are a few cases where whole families have been made perfectly happy by removal of the disease which produced discord.

SET UPON BY DOGS

American Woman in France

Torn to Pieces by Hungry Brutes

Was In the Act of Feeding Them

New York, June 28.—Mme. Edmond Sempis, who, before her marriage, a year ago, was Miss Louise Rutherford, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has been set upon, says a Paris dispatch to the World, by two hunger-maddened Great Dane dogs, which had been secured to guard her husband's country house at Anceylake, and so terribly injured that she died two hours after the accident.

M. Sempis is a prominent business man in Paris. His horse is at Anceylake, an isolated spot. Following a recent attempt by burglars to enter the place, he purchased two powerful Great Danes as guards. The dogs proved so ferocious that they were confined in an iron enclosure during the daytime for the safety of the family. M. Sempis was advised to starve them, so, when food was given to them, they would remember kindly their benefactors. So they had nothing to eat for two days.

Mme. Sempis did not accompany her husband and their guests, who started for a drive. She noticed the dogs while she was walking in the yard, knowing that they had been without food, and determined to feed them, as they were apparently quiet. The instant Mme. Sempis entered the iron enclosure, the Great Danes leaped upon her like hungry tigers. They bore her to the ground, and, as she vainly sought to defend herself their teeth sank into her arms and body. Her struggles apparently maddened the animals the more.

The coachman heard the screams of Mme. Sempis. She begged the man to save her. He ran to the stable for a pitchfork. When he returned the Great Danes had fearfully torn their victim. The coachman fought the brutes into a corner, and kept them there until the cook summoned neighbors and carried Mme. Sempis from the enclosure in a dying condition.

A few minutes after M. Sempis and his guests returned she succumbed to her injuries, after exchanging a few words with her husband, who is nearly crazed by the terrible accident.

The 2-year-old daughter of William Blinn, of Oregon City, was severely burned Sunday by falling in a tub of boiling water. Her back and hips and lower limbs were severely scalded.

Ann Cousart and Jennie and Mamie Nelson, aged 10, 12 and 14 years, were killed by an engine on the Seaboard Air-Line, at Charlotte, N. C. They were walking across a trestle.

Youthful Stowaways Are Disappointed

New York, July 28.—Four boy stowaways arrived here today from Liverpool on the steamer Clive. Their ages range from 9 to 12 years. They hid themselves in a lifeboat, but were forced to show themselves on the fourth day out. They will be returned to Liverpool.

Important Mining Decision

San Francisco, July 28.—Judge Morrow, in the federal circuit court, this morning decided the case of the Pennsylvania Consolidated Mining Company vs. Grass Valley Mining Company in favor of plaintiff. The controversy was over mines in Grass Valley valued at $600,000. The verdict gives the former company the right to the mine vein, which is continuous from the surface, and the Pennsylvania the claim underneath the surface of Grass Valley, adjoining the claim.

Chief of Police Arrested

Minneapolis, Minn., July 28.—Chief of Police Ames returned to this city this morning after a mysterious absence of three weeks. He was immediately arrested on a charge of bribery, and arraigned. The case was set for next week. Ames has been already tried on one charge of bribery and acquitted.
