WEEKLY CROP BULLETIN

Oregon Section Climate and Crop Service

Good Crops Growing Weather for the Valley

U. S. Department of Agriculture climate and crop bulletin of the weather bureau, Oregon section, for the week ending Monday, July 28:

General Summary.

The past week has been rainless and with temperature averaging slightly above the normal. Only one or two days the winds were hot, and it is thought they caused some slight damage to spring grain. The harvesting of fall grain continues, and in Southern Oregon the work is well along. No threshing of consequence has yet been done, and it is too early to obtain much information regarding the yields. The grain heads are large and the berry is plump, but fears are entertained that in the Unatilla wheat section the yields will be disappointing. Elsewhere it is thought they will be up to expectations. The outlook is favorable for a heavy crop of oats.

Pastures have dried up fast during the week, but stock continues in good condition. In the coast counties, and in the plateau section of the state the hay crop turned out to be larger and better than expected.

Early potatoes are spotted with blight in some sections in the coast counties, but in general, both early and late potatoes are doing well. Hops, corn, sugar beets, field onions and gardens continue to make satisfactory advancement.

Italian prunes in many sections are reported a total failure. The apple crop promises to be a fair one, and so far the damage by codling moth has been much less than usual.

Willamette Valley.

Sidney, Marion county, E. S. Longacre—The weather has been very warm; corn, potatoes and vegetables are growing nicely; cherries are about gone, and the crop was abundant; the prime crop, both Italian and Petite, is good; apples are falling; some fall grain is in shock.

Alpha, Lane county, C. A. Potter—Weather warm; haying nearly done, crop better than expected and above the average; corn has good color and is making good growth. Pungel are getting in their destructive work on apple and pear trees in nearly all of Western Lane county.

Shedds, Linn county, A. Y. Smith—The past week has been dry and hot. Fall grain is mostly in shock. Corn and gardens are making a vigorous growth. Late potatoes are beginning to set, and a large crop may be expected.

Fishhawk, Columbia county, E. E. Hogberg—Weather fine for haying, which is nearly finished. Oats and wheat are very fine. Potatoes and gardens are doing well. Prunes will be short.
