

ECZEMA is due to the retention in the system of Uric Acid or other inflammatory poisons which find their way into the blood, and are forced by the circulation through the glands and pores of the skin, causing it to burn like fire, and the incessant itching allows no rest night or day. Eczema appears in a great many different forms, beginning frequently as a mere redness of the skin, followed by little blisters or pimples, from which a clear or straw colored matter oozes, forming into sores, scales or scabs; this is weeping Eczema, commonly called Salt Rheum. These acid poisons sometimes dry up the natural oils and the skin becomes hard and dry, often cracking and bleeding and causing intense pain and fearful itching. This form of Eczema is known as Tetter, and oftenest attacks the hands and feet. Unsightly eruptions in the shape of pimples and blackheads break out upon the face, neck and shoulders as a result of polluted blood, and this humiliating disease is called Acne. Local remedies afford but scant relief. The blood and system being saturated with the poison, the disease cannot be reached with washes, salves, powders or other local applications. S. S. S. restores the deteriorated blood to its normal condition, stimulates the sluggish organs, and all the waste matter is eliminated through the proper channels. S. S. S. makes the blood rich and strong, and under its tonic and invigorating effects the general health improves, and the skin becomes soft and smooth again.

Friend Charles

You want to know the exact date when I start for New York. It will depend upon how fast I can dispose of my stock of goods. Since I sold my house and furniture I took a trip to San Francisco with my family, and returned temporarily alone. I was not trying hard to close out while they were repairing the bridge. Now they are about through so I will commence to offer my goods at prices so low that I will have no trouble in selling them, and should some articles go a little slow I will make a force sale in September, and finish at private sale in October, and the remainder I will forward to San Francisco and have them sold there; so you may look for me about the first of December.

UNCLE HEZEKIAH.

Uncle Hezekiah Tucks his napkin 'neath his collar— But he's given to the widows and the Orphans many a dollar;

Uncle Hezekiah Scoops up his pie with his knife— But he never cheated others to get money, in his life.

Uncle Hezekiah Isn't always dressed in fashion— But the hoarding up of money never was his ruling passion;

Uncle Hezekiah Would amuse the gay elite, But he never to gain riches crushed another 'neath his feet.

Uncle Hezekiah

Isn't what you'd call a scholar But I think he says his prayers with-out remembering the dollar;

Uncle Hezekiah Says "I've seen it" and "I done— But he never caused another to be heart sore just for fun.

Uncle Hezekiah Tries to get all that is due him— But he doesn't scheme so others shall keep paying tribute to him;

Uncle Hezekiah Not a "gentleman" nor great— But I don't believe St. Peter will detain him at the gate.

—S. E. Kaiser, in Chicago Record-Herald.

THE RACE FOR HONORS.

This state is full of politicians who are crazy to be senator, or to be holding some great office. But few of them are willing to think for a moment of something useful and beneficial for the taxpayer.

A greater honor could not come to any man than to be the means of making a change in our state government that would improve the condition of every citizen and make our government less of a millstone around each taxpayer's neck.

Yet there is hardly a politician in the state who would prefer to get some honor for himself to benefitting the whole community, of which he is one-half millionth part—fill his own sail and let the ship settle in the water.

The race for glory swells the head of the would-be statesman. He imagines vain things. His heart bursters with impatience at the inability of the masses to recognize his genius—for what? Inflating his own bladder of wind?

And nineteen-twentieths of them get high office at the cost of a good name, at the expense of family pride, get of fee they are not fitted for, lose their former station, which may have been respectable, and die poor.

It is more honorable to cultivate an acre of cow beans creditably than to squeeze yourself into some high office, and occupy prominence in the newspapers for awhile—like a ten-cent wash basin hung in front of a country store.

Harvesting in the West.

What is said to be the largest automobile in the world, and the largest combined harvester, as well, is now at work on a big ranch in Central California, where it is being used in cutting 40,000 acres of barley. The big machine consists of a traction engine, capable of handling seventy-five tons, and which takes the place of 50 horses, a header or mowing machine, which cuts a swath 36 feet, and a threshing machine, all complete. The threshing machine and header are run by a 30-horse-power engine, entirely separate from the traction machine, save that they both get steam from the same boiler.

The apparatus moves over the ground at different speeds, according to the thickness of the crop, while all the time the header and harrow are going at full speed whether the grain be thick or thin. The average speed made is three and a half miles an hour, and one hundred acres a day can be threshed by the machine.

The drive wheel of the monstrous traction engine are eight feet in diameter and have tires 48 inches wide, on which are ridges an inch and a half thick. Eight men are employed on the header. Half a minute after the header begins to work the threshed grain begins to fall into the sacks on the other side from where it is cut, while the straw falls into a cart behind. The header is carried away from the header by a draper, or moving belt, 48 inches wide. They are carried through a collander, which breaks the beards from the barley and shells it at the same time, then by a narrow belt through two cleaners and finally to a bin, from which it is sacked. The sacks are filled and set aside as fast as filled. When twelve sacks have been filled they are allowed to slide off the cart, on which they are stacked, to the ground. Likewise, when the straw cart is filled it is dumped.

This giant automobile is 60 feet long and half as wide, weighing over 100 tons. It uses oil as fuel, necessitating the use of four horses to haul oil and the water for the boiler as it travels around large areas.—Los Angeles Herald.

The Last Excursion.

The excursion season is rapidly drawing to a close, and in a short time the summer will be over. Recognizing these facts, and wishing to give the people one more chance before it is too late, the Corvallis & Eastern Railroad Co. have decided to run their last through excursion from Detroit, and all points west to Newport on Sunday, August 31, 1902, leaving Detroit at 4:30 a. m., arriving at Newport at 11:30 a. m., and returning leave Newport at 5:30 p. m., giving six hours of fun and pleasure on the most popular seaside resort in the Northwest.

The celebrated Chemawa band, from the U. S. Indian school, of 23 pieces, will meet the boat and discourse sweet music during the day; they will also play at the departure of the excursionists. Special arrangements have been made with Prof. Albert A. Shaw to give one of his famous exhibitions on the unicycle and bicycle, which, together with the surf bathing, boating and open air concerts, will be the grand finale of the season. This is positively the last excursion from Detroit, and the fare will be as follows: Detroit to Mill City, inclusive, $2.50; west of Mill City to Kingston, inclusive, $2.00; west of Kingston to Maxwell, inclusive, $1.75. Albany, Corvallis and Philomath, $1.50; west of Philomath to Chitwood, inclusive, $1; all points west of Chitwood, 75c. The last excursion, Sunday, August 31st.
