

CHICAGO STORE

PEOPLE'S BARGAIN HOUSE.

THE PEOPLE'S APPRECIATION.

100,000 people have driven toward the Chicago Store. It is their appreciation which makes us successful. We are in the business of selling goods at the lowest possible prices. There is no store in the Willamette valley that is in a better position than this to sell to the people's wants. The Chicago Store—prices rock bottom.

ONE ON MR. SCOTT. The Journal has never received readable roasts about a public matter that it would not print. Here is one from Rev. Schell to the Oregonian that it, as usual, declined.

Rev. Schell, as a matter of ethics, cuts too deep, and tells too much truth for the Republican or Democratic organs at Portland, so The Salem Journal must print his best communications.

The Oregonian, in an editorial of September 2, 1902, is sharply criticizing President Roosevelt for advising the people in the following words: "When you play, play hard."

The editor of the Oregonian is relatively considered a quasi-genius in Oregon, yet every day the editorial page shows signs of great ignorance, and of unsound judgment. Many would pass for intelligent if they had sense enough to hold their tongues.

"When you play, play hard," means to do well whatsoever you do, to apply yourself when you play. It does not mean to put up a hard play. If the editor of the Oregonian had received a thorough education, and if he was an educator himself, he would approve of President Roosevelt. There is no hard worker who is not a hard player, there never was and never will be. President Roosevelt addressed himself to thrifty people, who work hard to live, who need recreation consisting in change of work, and not in idleness. The editors of the East work hard, they must print, and print intelligently for the people that support them, while the editor of the Oregonian finds it more remunerative by refusing to print matters of public interest than by printing them. Scheming is the Oregonian's hard work and hard play, but scheming is a counterfeit of either true work or true play.

Every man too lazy to work hard or play hard makes his living by scheming. "When you play, play hard" is not, never was and never will be the Oregonian's principle, for this reason the Oregonian has kept out of its field through hard scheming every competitor to save itself from hard work and hard play. But the editor of the Oregonian finds more pleasure in: "A hook of verse underneath the hough."

A loaf of bread, and jug of wine and thou Singing beside me in the wilderness, Oh! wilderness were Paradise now."

This might be all right for the editor of the Oregonian, but where does the rest of Oregon come in. You might become an Oregon senator, but never a senator for Oregon. Your idea is that Roosevelt should be president for himself, and not be president in words and deeds for others. To play hard and to work hard is honest, and to scheme hard is dishonest. When President Roosevelt speaks, he says something good and practical for the soul, and for the body of his hearers, something which is needed at the present moment, but when the editor of the Oregonian speaks, he invariably begins with: "This occasion reminds me of an old story," then comes a tale of some dead Oregon mossback. When President Roosevelt speaks he is not reminded by old tales, but he reminds his hearers of his own ideas, which are genuine, original, and optimistic, and which he acquired by hard work.

Any man who, like the editor of the Oregonian, begins a speech with a tale of old in invariably at the end of the string of knowledge. Knowledge is the result of hard work, and only a hard worker fully understands how to play hard.

To work hard and to play hard makes men efficient for any position or calling, even for United States senator. Scheming is the counterfeit of both work and play, and its effect is purely selfish and personal. The editor of the Oregonian, as he said, does not want to be senator "for Oregon," of course, but for himself, which explains all the scheming about it.

The Mitchell victory has fairly clipped the editor's ears, who then by a new scheme thought best to flatten also his hoofs and to grow a hairy tail, but a mule has never yet become a horse through outside disfigurements.

Salt Rheum You may call it eczema, tetter or skin eruptions. But no matter what you call it, this skin disease which comes in patches that burn, itch, discharge a watery matter, dry and scale, cures its resistance to the presence of humors in the system.

It will continue to exist, annoy, and perhaps agonize, as long as these humors remain. It is always radically and permanently cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla which expels all humors, and is positively unequalled for all cutaneous eruptions.

Hood's Sarsaparilla which expels all humors, and is positively unequalled for all cutaneous eruptions.

Do you call the attempt work or scheme?

There will be a great struggle between Mark Hanna and Teddy Roosevelt for the next presidential nomination. Who can doubt the result? With all his heroic qualities Roosevelt will be apt to be handicapped by his attitude on the trusts.

His attitude is no attitude at all, while Hanna will wait and find out what the trusts want, and then become their candidate. He will show to the labor organizations that the trusts increase wages, increase the profits of business, and make steadier employment.

All of Teddy's academic talk about publicity will land him nowhere. If the trusts produce prosperity, and if publicity would hamper the trusts, then there will be no interference with prosperity by publicity.

Hanna is expressing no opinions, and Teddy is accomplishing nothing. The old leader has defeated all efforts at legislation against the trusts indirectly. He has left the Republican party branded with a policy of inaction against the trusts, while the demagogue within the party are all denouncing the trusts, but cannot agree on any line of action.

When Hanna gets ready he will act, and say the trusts have produced prosperity, and must be let alone. Roosevelt says they must be interfered with, but has been unable to get the party to do anything.

When congress meets it will be the short session, and they can put in all their time on the appropriations. The trusts will escape.

In the great game of political bluff Mark Hanna holds the winning cards, and will down the invincible rough rider from the Western ranges.

The Republican party will be asked to go into a national campaign and make war on the very source of its success in 1904.

It will refuse and follow Mark instead of Teddy.

THE SOCIAL SIDE. There is a social injustice in paying any official enough to make him a rich man out of one term of office. It is a social injustice to continue a system of paying state officials performing a mere clerical function about five salaries.

There is only one way to stop this and keep the letter and spirit of the Republican platform, and that is to hold a special session of the legislature and pass a flat salary law.

Of course, there are all kinds of quibblers who say it can't be done, who don't want it done, who believe in the policy of inaction.

The Oregonian has never given a good reason why the flat salary law should not be enacted, although it is opposed to a special session.

Will it pardon us for asking just how much it will gain by defeating this reform, which it promised the people, to hold their votes for the Republican party?

Will it help the Oregonian or the Republican party or Mr. Scott personally to defeat the will of the people, and continue the present grafts?

There is a great social injustice in taking $50,000 out of the people unnecessarily, and scattering it among a little handful of political pets.

It is the social injustice of the matter that will cut deepest into the ranks of Republican voters if they are given to understand that the party deliberately decides to stand for the system which its own platform condemns.

HELP THE FLOWER SHOW. Salem kids who have fine asters, sweet peas and other fall flowers should read over the premium list of the state fair, and help out the exhibitors as much as possible.

If the lady of the house has not the time to make the exhibit an employe in the family can be got to look after an exhibit, and thus learn to take an interest in the fair, and make some money, too.

The flower show is usually left to the greenhouse proprietors, but should be patronized by hundreds of our best people, who grow choice flowers at their homes, and in their gardens.

The flower show could be made one of the most attractive features of the fair if our readers would get the idea into their heads that it was a duty, and also a profitable enterprise.

JOURNAL-K-RAYS. We can all have a smoke these days. If you are never tempted, you learn no power of resistance. If the state fair will only keep off the rains until after the 15th. No trouble to sell goods. The wise merchant works off the old stock.

An Arabian proverb says he who knows, and knows he knows is wise. The state fair will be a regular Mount Pelee of good things in action. The state fair wedding will be a social event. No one could be married under happier auspices. Do not kick about this weather or this world. It's the only world and the only weather we've got. If a monopoly like the water ditch cannot be made profitable and afford to pay taxes, for heaven's sake what can?

Young men and business men who have their all stacked on the future of this town should attend the Push Club meeting tonight.

MARK AND TEDDY.

When a fellow's wife kisses him nowadays he can't be sure whether it is to show her love or to find out what he has been taking.

The hindmost father would hardly refuse an offer to exchange a baby for a well-bred ferret during teething time.

If the rich and those enjoying the best natural resources like our great water powers have got to be shielded from taxation, how can the ordinary citizen live?

Governor Fletcher came down from Jefferson this week to express his approval of The Journal's editorial on the housefly. He is an authority on that kind of literature.

Murderer Pardoned

Governor Geer on Tuesday afternoon issued a pardon to Wm. F. Beckmann, who was received at the state penitentiary in 1895, from Douglas county, under life sentence for the murder of his wife. The application for Beckmann's pardon had the endorsement of the sentencing judge, members of the jury that convicted him, and many of the prominent citizens of Douglas county. Beckmann went to Portland yesterday afternoon, and left today for Minnesota, and he expects to spend the remainder of his days. Beckmann is 72 years old, and by reason of his advanced age has been unable to perform any labor at the prison, and has been a care on the prison management for several years.

Oliver Beers Again Able to Be About Will Be Glad to Talk to His Friends

To the Editor: For several years I have had a pain in my back, with kidney, liver and stomach trouble. Dr. Harris has cured me. I will answer all questions at my farm on Mission Bottom, ten miles north of Salem. I commend Dr. Harris to all in poor health.

OLIVER BEERS. The above outspoken recommendation from a man so well known as Oliver Beers is one of the strongest reasons why people should look into the merits of Dr. Harris's cure. The doctor will be here until November 1st, and is visited by scores of sufferers at Hotel Willamette daily.

Work For It. Nothing that is of real worth can be achieved without courageous working. Man owes his growth chiefly to that active striving of the will, that counter with difficulty, which we call effort; and it is astonishing to find how often results apparently impracticable are thus made possible.

Going to a "hot-box" the California overland due in Salem at 11 o'clock a. m., did not reach this city until shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon. The increased travel caused by transporting hop pickers has made it almost impossible for this train to run on schedule time for the past ten days.

Good Health

Is doubtless the highest human good. It is especially so to women, to whom it means the preservation of beauty, happiness in the home, and the enjoyment of social duties. There can be no good health for a woman who suffers from womanly diseases. Her complexion falls. Her flesh loses its firmness. Her eyes are dull. Her hair becomes thin. Her flesh loses its firmness, no social enjoyment.

Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the diseases which destroy the health. It establishes regularity of the bowels, cures all agreeable drains, breaks inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It gives good health to women, which means tranquil nerves, a good appetite and sound sleep.

I was a great sufferer two years ago with female trouble and I wrote to you. Mrs. Mattie Hays of Trubottom, Michigan, writes: "I followed your directions, and now feel like a different person. I never expected to hear from you when I wrote to you. In three days after I commenced taking your medicine I began to feel better. I took twenty dollars' worth of the 'Favorite Prescription' and five dollars' worth at a time, and also four dollars' worth of Dr. Pierce's Tablets. I would not take one hundred dollars for the good medicine you gave me. I can't praise it enough. I wish all who suffer with such troubles would give Dr. Pierce's medicine a fair trial. I can work all day among anything, with where I please, and feel good. Thank you for your kind advice."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 1 cent stamp to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

I've often been a victim of force

Most of the people of this city undoubtedly have laughed during the last few days in unison with practically the entire English-speaking race. The cause of the merriment has been a poster, just put out by the "Force" Food Company, of which a picture is shown above.

The first time one sees this poster he thinks the bill-poster must have made a mistake in putting it up. The second time he sees it he is inclined to the belief that something must have been wrong with the bill-poster. After seeing it a number of times it begins to dawn upon him that perhaps it was done up in design. This last conjecture is the true one, for this poster has been put up in every city of over 2000 inhabitants in the United States, Canada, England and the rest of the United Kingdom. When you laugh at it, therefore, you may know that you are probably laughing with the greater part of the world.
