Dismissed in Favor of the Defendant in the Case

Consent in Building a Dyke a Bar to Damages

Judge Boise today dismissed the suit of Ruel Custer vs. Lee Brown & Sons. This was an action to recover damages, and suppress a nuisance that was alleged to be maintained by the defendant, in the form of a dyke. Custer charged that on this account, sawdust from the defendant's sawmill was distributed over plaintiff's land, destroying its fertility. It was an expensive case, the suit occupying three days, and costs amounting to not less than $200, are assessed to Mr. Custer.

In dismissing the suit, Judge Boise holds that when a person consents to the building of a dyke he cannot recover for damages that may result, neither is the builder of the alleged nuisance or obstruction liable for such damages.

The opinion of the court that the sawdust complained of, was mostly distributed on the premises of the plaintiff when the dyke broke, and he not having objected to the building of the dyke, cannot recover damages. The second levee was built by the defendant to prevent the Santiam river from changing its course, and but for this obstruction the river would have changed its channel, and passed through the land of the plaintiff, to his great damage. Since the levee is more likely a benefit than an injury to the plaintiff, the court holds that the plaintiff is not entitled to recover damages or to cause the discontinuance of the levee that is being constructed, for the reason that it is something in which the community and many citizens are interested. Because it secures the property of the plaintiff, and other persons, and serves the interests of the public, Judge Boise concludes that it is not right for the court to interfere with the building of the dyke, and finds for the defendant, dismissing the suit.

REAL ESTATE MOVES

In Spite of a Week of Misty Moisty Weather

Building Operations Proceeding Without Interruption

R. H. Leabo & Co. are remodeling their office in the Illinois block to make it more convenient and to accommodate their growing business.

Geo. C. Mourer and other citizens of the Lincoln Park neighborhood are co-operating to put down 1200 feet of three-foot sidewalk and crosswalks from Commercial and Lafelle streets east. That is the only walk leading across from Leslie church and the Lincoln school to Yew Park and South Twelfth street. The neighborhood is contributing cash, labor and material, and will have a good walk, whether they are taken into the city or not.

Incessant rain does not tend to stop the movement of real estate in a commercial way. During the past week a number of transfers have been made, the aggregate of the considerations being about $44,000, or considerably more than for the preceding week. Among the deeds recorded during the week with County Recorder Siegmund were the following:

AGAINST TOBACCO TRUST

Smokers Should Use Only Home-made Cigars

Cigar-makers Urge Workmen Combine Against It

The following circular, issued by the Cigar-makers' Union, is being extensively circulated among workmen:

"To the Retail and Wholesale Dealers in Cigars and Tobacco: When your interests, like our own, are assailed, and from the same source, may we not suggest a mutuality and union of action, to the end that self-preservation, the first law of nature, can be best served by us so doing? It seems unnecessary for us to say to you in the light of past history that the cigar trust—the American Tobacco Company—is a living fact, and that it seeks to control the entire cigar and tobacco business; nor to say that unless strenuous steps are taken by those whose interests are assailed, it will be successful. Briefly, let me say, the cigar trust employs nothing but cheap, unorganized, mostly female child labor. It does not recognize the union, nor does it pay union or fair wages. It seeks by the system of cheap labor to control the manufacture of cigars, and it will resort to the most unscrupulous, unbusiness-like methods, such as temporarily cutting prices, bribery, and the free and quiet use of money to control the manufactured product and the sale thereof. The object of the trust is to compel you to hand over your cigar business to the trust, and to become its hired man. To be complete master of the situation it must overcome all forces that will not bow in submission to its merciless dictation.

"Candidly we say to you we see no hope in an effort to preserve the trade and your individuality and business interests from the merciless grasp of this modern octopus, except to maintain the union, and we earnestly ask you to refuse to handle trust-made goods, and that you confine your field of operations in the cigar line to the exclusive use of union labeled goods, and as rapidly as your business interests will permit.

"The independent manufacturers, viz., the ones not in the trust, nor protected by the union, have no hope, and will be driven out of the business, into the trust or into the union for protection. Hence the transfer of your patronage to the independent non-union manufacturer is simply postponing the evil day.

"The Cigar-makers' International Union is here to stay; it is grounded on a foundation as solid as the rock adamant. It is not an experiment. It has stood the test of 40 years, and is stronger and more powerful than ever before. It cannot be disrupted, it will remain in this fight and will be successful in the end. You, however, can help us materially, and we can help you, and we are going to do so regardless of what your attitude toward us may be. Singly we can and will maintain a brave fight against the trust; jointly there is no question but that we will both be entirely successful in combating the unwarranted, unscrupulous effort of a gigantic octopus, the cigar trust, to seize the business and run it for its own private gain, regardless of the rights or business interests of those who have brought the business up to its present high and satisfactory standard.

"We ask you in the name of good, sound business policy, and the name of humanity, as well, to carefully consider the matter, to lend us your moral assistance, to purchase and handle nothing but union blue label cigars. In doing so you not only assist a worthy cause, but do what is of infinitely more vital importance to yourself—protect and preserve your own business interests."

JOURNAL BARGAIN DAY

Fixed for Nov. 22 and Already Being Improved Upon

The Journal bargain day last month, when all who paid a year in advance for the Daily Journal got a reduction of one dollar, is being duplicated for November 22d, when the bargain day will be repeated.

On October 25th about three hundred people ordered this paper in advance, and showed their faith in the publication by paying a year in advance. This month we hope to double that number, and wish to call attention to the fact that this reduction in price takes effect on that day and date only. The Journal by mail, or at the postoffice or Journal delivery, is $4.00 a year, 35 cents a month, or $1.00 for three months. By carrier $6.00 a year, or 50 cents a month. On November 22d only the mail rate is $3.00 a year and carrier rate $5.00 a year. By paying at the regular rate to November 22d you can order now, or any day before November 22d, at the reduced rate.

Wellington, N. J., Nov. 14.—Another raft from the ill-fated steamer Ellingmire, which was wrecked on Three Kings island November 7th, was picked up this morning by the gunboat Ponguin, with eight living and eight dead bodies on board. The survivors were in a pitiable condition. Four steamers are now searching for the other rafts. Forty persons were on the ill-fated steamer when she was wrecked.

Meyers Suit Settled.

The suit of Henry W. Meyers, demanding a settlement and accounting with the firm of Joseph Meyers & Sons, has been settled by the formation of a stock company, in which all the interests of all the parties are amicably adjusted, and all three sons become stockholders in the business, upon a basis mutually agreed upon. Henry W. Meyers resumed his place in the house today, and the firm will go forward in unimpaired strength as a commercial enterprise and in the full personnel of all its members. Joseph Meyers has proven himself one of the best business men in this community, and his sons are not surpassed among the younger generation of the Capital City. The father found they were chips off the old block when he got to dealing with them, and the boys found that he was a match for them all. The lawyers in the case, S. T. Richardson and Carson & Adams, also deserve credit for bringing about a settlement in a matter that might have been dragged through a costly and obstructive lawsuit. All's well that ends well, and all will join in congratulating them.

FUNERAL HELD TODAY

Remains of the late Orson P. Beardley Given Interment.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Orson P. Beardley, of Eola, were conducted at the home at 10 o'clock this morning by Rev. P. S. Knight. The pall bearers were: D. L. Greene, C. L. Weller, Henry Brophy and T. Brunk. Burial took place in the L. O. O. F. cemetery in this city.

Deceased had been seriously ill about two weeks, and during the latter days was unconscious, but suffered little. He was born in 1833, at McDonough, in Chenango county, New York. In his younger days deceased was a school teacher, in which profession he won superior rank, and after coming to Oregon in 1873, he pursued farming the greater part of the time. After living in Salem about seven years, the family removed to the present homestead at Eola, where they have since resided. Deceased was a member of no lodge or church organization, but gained much quiet enjoyment in pursuing the study of elevated subjects, in which he was interested. He leaves many warm friends to mourn the sorrow of the surviving

THE SYRACUSE CHILLED PLOW

Has longer handles than other makes, making it the easiest chilled plow on the market to handle. It has a longer, higher mouldboard than others. The share is attached by two bolts, instead of one, as in other plows. The landslide turns up at the heel, instead of ending squarely as do other chills, thus making it easy to draw backwards when necessary, so that even a boy can handle the plow under all conditions. The rear brace between handle and mouldboard is set far back, or adjusting parts, instead of drawing forward, thus lessening the common fault of plows.

It is a strictly new plow, with the good points of none other. It has been perfected by others that have failed in "letting the plow do the work."
